While embracing the best features of books of its kind, it contains an ele-reference to Religion. Special pains have been taken to supply this want by introducing words relating to such matters of Faith as enter into a child's life, believing them of more than ordinary importance.

APPROBATIONS TO BISHOP GILMOUR'S BIBLE HISTORY.

From HIS EMINENCE THE CARDINAL.

NEW YORK, April 13, 1871.

I cheerfully give my approbation and recommendation of your "Illustrated History of the Bible."

† JOHN, Archbishop of New York.

From HIS EMINENCE THE CARDINAL, ARCHBISHOP OF WESTMINSTER, ENGLAND.

ARCHBISHOP'S HOUSE, WESTMINSTER, S. W., May 19, 1874.

The Archbishop has received your "Illustrated Bible History," and thanks you much for it. He directs me to say that he strongly approves of it, and hopes that you will be able to continue publishing such good and useful books.

HENRY BAYLEY, Secretary.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, August 5, 1869.

The "Illustrated History of the Bible," Old and New Testaments, compiled by a priest of the diocese of Basel, translated into French by Rev. Dr. Bourquard, of Paris, approved by many bishops in Europe, and reproduced in many languages, is presented, with our approbation, to the reverend clergy, school-teachers, parents, and youths of this diocese, by all of whom we desire it to be extensively used and circulated. Never was the thorough and intelligent teaching of the Catechism more needed than at the present day, and the Catechism of Christian Doctrine can neither be well taught nor properly understood without the Catechism of the Bible.

This translation has been well made by Rev. Richard Gilmour, of the Archdiocese.

J. B. PURCELL, Archbishop of Cincinnati.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF OREGON CITY.

PORTLAND, OREGON, October 4, 1869.

I have received and examined your "Bible History," containing the most remarkable events of the Old and New Testaments. Its style is pure, its language elegant, its plan excellent, and so much the more pleasing to me, because it coincides and corresponds with that of the CATHOLIC LADDER, for teaching the history of religion from the beginning to the present time. That plan has the recommendation of St. Augustine, saying: "The true method of teaching religion is to begin with those words, 'IN THE BEGINNING GOD CREATED THE HEAVEN AND THE EARTH.' It is not necessary nor feasible to state all the particulars of the Old and New Testaments; but make an abridgment, and insist on what seem to you the most important points. In order to show the whole scope of religion, bear in mind that the Old Testament is a figure of the New; that the entire Mosaic religion, the Patriarchs, their lives, their covenants, their sacrifices, are so many figures of what we see; that the whole Jewish people and their government are but a GREAT PROPHET of Jesus Christ and of the Church." As this should be teaching only the LETTER of religion, the illustrious Bishop of Hippo insists on teaching also its SPIRIT, which consists in the LOVE OF GOD AND OUR NEIGHBOR, speaking thus: "Commencing your account from the creation of all things in a state of perfection, and bringing it down to the existing period of the Church, your sole aim will be to show that everything prior to the INCARNATION OF THE WORD tends to manifest the love of God in accomplishing this mystery. Jesus Christ himself, immolated for us, teaches us the immensity of God's love for us, in giving us his true and only Son." For all this your book is mine for teaching the CATHOLIC LADDER. I will recommend it all over the Archdiocese.

F. N. BLANCHET, Archbishop of Oregon City.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24, 1871.

We cordially add our approbation of the "Bible History," prepared by Rev Richard Gilmour, and published by your firm under the auspices of the Most Rev. Archbishop of Cincinnati, to that of the many venerable Prelates whose names appear on the edition sent for our perusal.

† JAMES F. WOOD, Bishop of Philadelphia.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, le 14 Octobre 1870.

La Petite Bible Illustrée, que l'on nous a communiquée, ayant été approuvée par divers Evêques d'un mérite éminent, comme un ouvrage extrêmement utile, nous sommes heureux d'en recommander la lecture à tous les fidèles confiés à nos soins et surtout aux enfants qui fréquentent les écoles de la ville et des campagnes.

† IGNATIUS, Evêque de Montréal.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF NEW ORLEANS.

NOUVELLE-ORLEANS, le 8 Octobre 1870.

Ayant examiné votre histoire de la Bible en français et l'ayant lue en anglais, je pense que cet ouvrage dans l'une comme dans l'autre langue est le meilleur livre dans ce genre que l'on puisse introduire dans les écoles catholiques.

NAPOLEON JOSEPH, Archevêque de la Nouvelle-Orléans.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF MILWAUKEE.

MILWAUKEE, June 14, 1875.

The Bible History published by you I really wish to have introduced in all the English schools of my diocese. Wherefore, you may use my name for its approbation.

JOHN M. HENNI, Archbishop of Milwaukee.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF BALTIMORE.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Dec. 11, 1871.

Father Gilmour's Bible History, published by you, is a work that richly merits, as I am sure it will receive, the liberal patronage of the Catholic schools and academies throughout the country. I am delighted with it.

JAMES GIBBONS, Vicar Apostolic, North Carolina.

From the MOST REV. COADJUTOR-ARCHBISHOP OF OREGON CITY.

VICTORIA, V. I., July 3, 1875.

As Bishop Gilmour's Bible History has the approbation of almost every Prelate of the Union, it is but right that I should be honored by having my name added to those of the distinguished Bishops.

CAROLUS JOANNES,
Bishop of Vancouver Island.

From the MOST REV. COADJUTOR-ARCHBISHOP OF MILWAUKEE.

LA CROSSE, September 26, 1869.

Your Illustrated Bible History is in fact what it claims to be, a valuable school-book, useful both for teacher and scholar. The purity and plainness of its style, the careful selection and arrangement of its lessons, the variety and beauty of its illustrations, as also the great number of references pointed out from the Old to the New Testament, make it very desirable to see this Bible History introduced in our Catholic schools.

MICHAEL HEISS, Bishop of La Crosse.

From the MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF CHICAGO.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 29, 1871.

I beg to thank you for your copy of Father Gilmour's Bible History. It is a most useful work, and I shall recommend it to the schools of the Diocese.

P. A. FEEHAN, Bishop of Nashville.

VANCOUVER, W. T., October 1, 1869.

I have examined the "Bible History," of which you sent me a copy. I consider it is well adapted to the wants of our schools. It is within the reach of the youngest pupil's understanding. The Director of the College says it is the best work of this kind for the schools he ever saw, and intends to introduce it soon into the classes. I will recommend the use of it in the schools of the Diocese.

A. M. A. BLANCHET, Bishop of Nesqualy.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF BROOKLYN.

BROOKLYN, July 7, 1873.

I take pleasure in recommending your "Illustrated Bible History." I hope it will be very extensively patronized.

JOHN LOUGHLIN,
Bishop of Brooklyn.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF BURLINGTON.

BURLINGTON, VT., June 10, 1875.

We use Bishop Gilmour's Bible History in our Perseverance Catechism in the Cathedral congregation; both our teachers and children are much pleased with it, and I cannot recommend it too much.

† LOUIS,

From the RIGHT REV. COADJUTOR-BISHOP OF CINCINNATI.

NATCHEZ, MISS., Dec. 26, 1871.

The "Bible History" of Rev. Richard Gilmour has been used in the Brothers' schools at Natchez almost ever since its first publication.

I have recommended it too as a useful book for a Class of Perseverance, for those who have made their First Holy Communion, and who know thoroughly their ordinary catechism.

It is very important that our young Catholics make themselves well acquainted with the Sacred History.

Growing irreverence for the Word of God is one of the characteristics of what is now called the progress of the age. Even those who claim to be especial friends of the Holy Bible expose it to daily ignominy in the Public Schools, and the denial of its veracity is openly avowed by some men who claim to be teachers of religion, while the synods and conventions of churches to which they belong dare not condemn the impiety which is taught to their children.

On the other hand, the Sacred Council of the Vatican, in its very first decree, vindicated the Sacred Scriptures against their enemies. This shows that the Holy Ghost regards hostility to the Written Word of God as one of the prominent evils of the day, and that a knowledge and esteem of that holy Word ought to be characteristics of all earnest children of the Faith.

Father Gilmour's Bible History is admirably adapted to promote this knowledge and esteem among our young people.

The making of such books in our own country is one of the encouraging signs of the times. And it is remarkable that precisely in Cincinnati, where the Catholics were so fiercely denounced as enemies of the Holy Bible, a hard-working Catholic Priest rested from his other labors by working at this one for the purpose of promoting both a familiar and a reverent knowledge of the Sacred Books.

I congratulate Rev. Father Gilmour on the work itself, and also on the style in which it has been published: cheap enough for the school-room—and beautiful enough for a Christmas present.

I hope the extensiveness and fruitfulness of its use will give him the consolation which he so much deserves.

WILLIAM HENRY ELDER,
Bishop of Natchez.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF ST. PAUL.

ST. PAUL, MINN., April 2, 1870.

I received the copy of the Bible History you did me the kindness to send me some time ago. I need hardly say I was pleased with it. This History supplies a want in our schools, and supplies it well. Upon my recommendation the History has been introduced into our schools in St. Paul, and I trust the example will be followed in all the schools of the Diocese.

THOMAS L. GRACE, Bishop of St. Paul.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF MOBILE.

MOBILE, October 14, 1869.

We have received, by your favor, the "Illustrated Bible History," prepared for the use of Catholic schools in the United States by Rev. Richard Gilmour, of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati, and published by you. Having examined it carefully, we consider it admirably adapted for use in the junior classes of our collegiate, conventual, and parochial schools; and we hereby most cordially recommend it to all Catholic teachers and scholars within our ecclesiastical jurisdiction.

JOHN QUINLAN, Bishop of Mobile.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF MARYSVILLE.

MARYSVILLE, CAL., January 17, 1872.

Your Bible History is an admirable and interesting compendium of the Bible. I only wish it were in my power to give it a wider circulation than it has already.

SPRINGFIELD HOUSE, LITTLE WOODHOUSE,

LEEDS, May, 15, 1874.

I have duly received your "Bible History," for which be pleased to accept my best thanks and my warmest congratulations upon your elegant and useful work, which I shall be glad to see in use in the schools of this Diocese.

† ROBERT CORNTHWAITE, Bishop of Beverley.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 25, 1869.

The Sisters of St. Mary's Academy of Little Rock have examined Rev. R. Gilmour's Bible History, and consider it to be a very useful text-book. They purpose introducing it into their schools at the commencement of next school year. I beg to add my recommendation to theirs.

EDWARD FITZGERALD, Bishop of Little Rock.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF LOUISVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, KY., January 2, 1872.

You would have had an earlier acknowledgment of the receipt of the Rev. R. Gilmour's "Illustrated Bible History," but that I wished to read it through carefully, and judge for myself. This I have done, and I take great pleasure in recommending it as one of the most admirable works of its kind ever published. Although intended for the young, older persons may read it with much profit, and I trust it may find its way not only into the schools, but also into every Catholic family of my diocese,

WILLIAM McCLOSKEY,

Bishop of Louisville.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF ERIE.

ERIE, PA., Nov. 20, 1871.

Accept my thanks for the copy you sent me of the "Bible History prepared by Rev. Richard Gilmour," and published by you. I have examined it with some care, and consider it admirably adapted for the use of Catholic schools. It reproduces in a manner most attractive to children the whole inspired record of God's dealings with mankind, while its illustrations are so striking and appropriate as to sustain the interest of the youthful reader and rivet his attention on the most important points in the sacred narrative. Although designed for children, it might be studied with advantage by persons of any age, and may then be very deservedly assigned a place in the home-library as in the school-room.

† T. MULLEN, Bishop of Erie.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF BUFFALO.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 21, 1871.

I have no hesitation in recommending Rev. R. Gilmour's Illustrated Bible History, already so highly and respectably recommended. As a compendium of Bible history, I deem it in every way a most desirable and useful book to be put into the hands of children.

† STEPHEN VINCENT,
Bishop of Buffalo.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF COVINGTON.

COVINGTON, Nov. 23, 1871.

You have deserved well of the parents and children of the United States by your beautiful edition of the excellent Bible History by Rev. Rich. Gilmour. Allow me to add my name to the long list of Bishops who by their approval bear witness to its excellence. I cordially recommend its introduction in all the schools of my Diocese.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF ALTON.

ALTON, ILL., March 19, 1870.

I have examined the Bible History for Catholic schools, by Rev. Richard Gilmour. I recommend it to the schools of our Diocese.

P. J. BALTES, Bishop of Alton.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF DETROIT.

We had the pleasure of examining the manuscript of the Bible History by Rev. Richard Gilmour; and since its publication by you we are delighted in seeing it honored with the approbation of three Archbishops and thirteen Bishops of the Catholic Church in the United States. We unite with them in recommending it to all who are interested or engaged in the instruction of youth, as in every respect among the best Bible Histories published for the use of Catholic schools in this country.

C. H. BORGESS,
C. and Adm. Bishop of Detroit.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF ALBANY.

ALBANY, Aug. 14, 1875.

I cheerfully unite with my brethren in the Episcopacy in their commendation of the Illustrated Bible History, prepared for the use of Catholic schools in the United States by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Gilmour, Bishop of Cleveland, and published by the house of Benziger Brothers, New York and Cincinnati. Its introduction into every school in the diocese of Albany would be hailed by me with great pleasure,

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF OGDENSBURG.

From the RIGHT REV. BISHOP OF ST. HYACINTH.

ST. HYACINTH, BISHOP'S PALACE, Oct. 16, 1875.

I very willingly give my approbation of the Bible History, and I earnestly hope that it meets with as favorable a reception amongst all Catholics, and more especially amongst the English speaking faithful of this Diocese.

CINCINNATI, August 10, 1869.

I find your Bible History exceedingly well adapted to the object for which it is designed, a school-book. The style is so purely English that it has not even the semblance of a translation. It is evident that the translator aimed to use Saxon words where it was possible. While his language is elegant, it is, at the same time, fitted to the comprehension of children. The moral reflections, the allusions to the mysteries of the New Testament, combined with the well-executed illustrations of the work, render the book a valuable acquisition both for teachers and for school-children. We will adopt it in our schools.

RRV. W. H. HILL, S. J., President of St. Xavier College.

ALTON, ILL., September 9, 1869.

We have received a copy of your Bible History, by Rev. R. Gilmour, and approve highly of it.

URSULINE SISTERS.

EVANSVILLE, IND., September 14, 1869.

We are highly delighted with the new Illustrated Bible History. We will introduce it in our German schools as an English reading-book. We consider it as a powerful aid to instil piety in the hearts of the children.

SISTERS OF PROVIDENCE,

CINCINNATI, September 15, 1869.

For conciseness, simplicity, and clearness of style, we like your Bible History, and hope gradually to introduce it into our schools.

SISTER DOMINICA.

P R E F A C E .

THE following "Illustrated Bible History" needs a word of explanation. It professes to be a translation of a Bible history published by the BENZIGER BROTHERS, and now extensively used in the schools of Europe, having been already translated into six different languages ; but there have been so many changes made, and the whole form of the book so altered, that, in some sense, it might be called new.

The original is, to a great extent, made up of quotations from the Scriptures. To some this might be considered a recommendation, as thereby familiarizing the young with the sacred text ; yet the language would be quaint, and the construction of the sentences awkward, in a book prepared for school reading ; hence, on the recommendation of those whose life-long experience in the training of youth gives their opinion weight, the work has been recast. However, the substance, and, as far as possible, the language, of the original, have been retained.

For the convenience of teachers the matter has been divided into paragraphs, and questions have been added to aid the pupil. Dates, and a list of the patriarchs, it is hoped, will be found a valuable addition.

In this Edition the old illustrations are, in great part, replaced by new ones, and several additional illustrations have been added. The work is also supplemented by a "Compendium of Church History," which, it is hoped, will increase the usefulness of the book.

Shortness in the chapters, pithiness in the sentences, and great condensation of matter, marked the original. These have been retained. The illustrations and press-work speak for themselves. The work is sent forth with considerable confidence in its merits.

HISTORY OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

FROM ADAM TO ABRAHAM.

CONTAINING 2083 YEARS.

A. M. 1.] 1.—The Creation of the World. [A. C. 4009.

1. IN the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. The earth was void and empty, and darkness was on the face of the deep. Then God said: "Let there be light!" and light was made. This was the work of the first day.

2. On the second day was created the firmament, with all its expansive beauty.

On the third day God gathered together the waters into one place, and commanded the dry land to appear; the waters He called sea, and the dry land earth. Thus were formed the fountains, the streams, and the rivers.

3. Then God commanded the earth to bring forth plants, and green trees, and flowers of many various forms and different colors.

On the fourth day were made the great lights that shine in the heavens, the sun, the moon, and the stars. On the fifth day the fish that are in the waters, and the birds that are in the air were created.

4. The sixth day God created all manner of living creatures that are upon the earth, each in its kind.

At last He said: "Let us make man to our own image and likeness, and let him have dominion over the whole earth." So God formed man out of the slime of the earth, and breathed into him an immortal soul, and called him Adam; that is, taken from the earth. God saw all the things that He had made, and they were good. So He rested on the seventh day, and blessed it.

5. As God created man on the sixth day of creation, so on Good-Friday, the sixth day of Holy Week, He redeemed him. And as the body of the first Adam was formed from the earth whilst it was yet pure and blessed, so was Jesus Christ, the second Adam, born of Mary, a Virgin, pure and without original sin.

2.—Happiness of Adam and Eve in Paradise.

1. The heavens and the earth being finished, God planted a garden, a terrestrial paradise, in which were all manner of trees and precious fruits. In the midst thereof He placed two trees, one the tree of life, the other the tree of knowledge of good and evil. God then told Adam

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 1.—What was done in the beginning? How was the earth created? What did God create on the first day? What on the second? What on the third? What were the waters called? What did the earth bring forth? What was created on the fourth day? On the fifth? And sixth? Why did God call the first man Adam? What did God do on the seventh day?

he might eat of the fruit of every tree in the garden, but, "of the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, he should not eat; for on the day he would eat, he should surely die."

2. Then God brought before Adam all the beasts of the earth that he might give to each its name. But for Adam there was not found a companion like to himself. And God said: "It is not good for man to be alone, let us make a helpmate like unto himself." So God cast a deep sleep upon Adam, and from his side took a rib, which He formed into a woman. When Adam awoke, God brought the woman to him, and he called her Eve, that is, the mother of all the living.

3. Whilst Adam and Eve were in Paradise, God treated them as a father does his children, and they were happy: at the same time the tree of life preserved them from sickness and death.—The tree of life was a figure of the Sacrament of the Altar; of which it is written, "He who is fed by it, shall live forever."

3.—The Angels and the Fall of our First Parents.

1. Besides the visible, God also created an invisible world, namely His angels. At first they were good and perfectly happy; but in time they became dazzled with their own perfections, and, yielding to pride, revolted against God. Michael, and the other angels that remained faithful, fought against them, vanquished and overthrew them, together with their leader, Lucifer, who is also called Satan.

2. But Satan, fallen and lost, began to contrast his misery with man's happiness, and, raging with anger and envy, resolved to seduce man from his obedience to God. For this end he made use of the serpent.

3. One day, while Eve was looking at the forbidden

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 2.—What was placed in Paradise? What are the names of the trees? What was to happen if Adam eat the fruit? What were brought before Adam? What was not found? Of what was the woman formed? What does Eve mean? What is said of Paradise? And of the tree of life?

tree, the serpent, coming near, asked her why she did not eat of its fruit. Eve answered, God had forbidden them to touch it, lest they should die. But the serpent artfully replied, they would not die ; on the contrary, their eyes would be opened, and they would be as gods, knowing good and evil. Eve looked again upon the tree ; her curiosity was excited : the more she looked, the more the forbidden fruit appeared enticing. At length she stretched forth her hand, plucked the fruit, eat and gave to Adam, who also eat. This was their first sin.

4. Immediately their eyes were opened, but far otherwise than they had expected. Covered with shame, they sewed together fig-leaves and made garments for themselves, and, trembling, hid among the trees. From one tree came ruin ; from another, the tree of the cross, came redemption and victory over sin and the devil.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 3.—What was created ? At first, what were they ? How did they fall ? What is said of Satan ? How did he tempt Eve ? Did he succeed ? What happened to Adam and Eve ? What is said of the tree and the cross ?

4.—The Punishment of Sin and the Promise of a Redeemer.

1. In the evening God came into the garden and called Adam, who, trembling with fear, approached and acknowledged that he had eaten the forbidden fruit, but threw the blame on the woman. She, in turn, blamed the serpent.

2. Then God cursed the serpent, condemning him to crawl upon the ground and to eat dust all the days of his life: besides, He said, enmity should exist between the serpent and the woman, but in the end the woman would crush his head.

3. Then God told the woman she should bring forth her children in sorrow, and, for her disobedience, be subject to her husband. To the man He said: "Cursed is the earth in thy work: thorns and thistles shall it bring forth to thee; and in the sweat of thy brow thou shalt eat thy bread, until thou return to the earth from whence thou camest : for dust thou art and unto dust thou shalt return."

4. Then God made garments of skins, and, clothing Adam and Eve in them, drove them out of Paradise. At the entrance of the garden an angel, with a fiery sword, was placed to guard against their return.

5.—Cain and Abel.

[A. C. 3872.

1. Adam and Eve had many children; of these, the eldest were Cain and his brother Abel. Cain was a husbandman, and wicked; but Abel, a shepherd, was just and good. Both offered sacrifice to God—Abel, a lamb; Cain, of the fruits of the earth. God, who knew the secrets of their hearts, looked with favor on the sacrifice of Abel, but turned away His face from the sacrifice of Cain.

2. When Cain saw this, his mind was filled with anger and jealousy against his brother. His countenance fell; and though God chid him in kindness, telling him if he did well he would be rewarded equally with Abel, yet Cain would not be appeased.

3. So, nourishing his anger and giving way to his spite, Cain one day asked Abel to go with him into the fields. There he rose up against his brother and slew him. As soon as the blood of the innocent Abel stained the ground, God cried out to Cain: "Where is thy brother?" but Cain, hardened in his crime, answered he did not know; nor was he his brother's keeper.

4. But God, from whom nothing can be hid, told Cain that Abel's blood cried to Him for vengeance, and, because he had dared to touch his brother, he should be a fugitive and a vagabond on the face of the earth. When Cain heard this sentence of God, he gave way to despair, saying: "My sin is too great to be pardoned." So God set a mark upon him, and he went forth, a wanderer and a fugitive upon the face of the earth.

1. The descendants of Adam were divided into two classes—the good and the bad. To console Adam for the death of Abel, God gave him the pious Seth. Seth's posterity were known as the children of God, while the descendants of Cain were very wicked.

2. By degrees mankind became corrupt, Noe alone remaining just. God bade Noe build an Ark, for in a hundred years He would destroy by a deluge every living creature on the face of the earth. The following are the dimensions and construction of the Ark : Its length, three hundred cubits ; its breadth, fifty ; and its height, thirty cubits. In the upper part was a window, and in the side a door.

3. For a hundred years Noe labored on the construction of the Ark. During this time he preached penance to the wicked, and warned them of the evils that were to come ; but they heeded him not. Then God commanded him to go into the Ark and to take with him his wife, and his three sons and their wives ; moreover to take with him of every animal two of a sort, and food sufficient.

4. After seven days the deluge came. The fountains of the great deep were broken up, and the flood-gates of heaven were opened, but the Ark floated peacefully upon the waters. Overwhelmed with despair, men began to climb the trees, and in vain to ascend the hills. The waters continued to increase, until they had risen fifteen cubits above the tops of the highest mountains.

5. Thus perished every living thing that then moved upon the earth : from man to the beasts of the earth ; from the birds in the air to the reptiles on the ground. Noe and all that were in the Ark alone remained.

Noe is a figure of Jesus Christ, as the Ark is a figure of the Catholic Church.

tains began to appear, and in the seventh month the Ark rested on the top of Mount Ararat, in Armenia.

2. Noe, eager to learn if the waters had subsided, opened the window of the Ark and sent forth a raven, which did not return ; then he sent forth a dove, which, not finding where her foot might rest, returned to the Ark. After seven days, Noe again sent forth the dove, which returned in the evening, carrying in its beak an olive branch. By this, Noe knew that the waters were abated upon the earth. At the command of God, Noe and his wife, and his sons and his sons' wives, and every living creature that was with them, went forth from the Ark, after having been shut up in it for a whole year.

3. Filled with gratitude, Noe built an altar, and, taking of the animals that were pure, offered sacrifice to the Lord. God was pleased with him for this, and set his rainbow in the heavens. Then God blessed Noe and his sons, and said to them : " Behold, I will establish my covenant with you and with your posterity. There shall be no more a deluge to destroy all flesh. While the earth exists, seed-time and harvest, summer and winter, day and night shall not cease. And the arc that I have placed in the clouds shall be the sign of my covenant with you."

4. The impenitent sinner is like the raven that returned not to the Ark, while the dove is like the faithful soul that finds its rest only in Jesus Christ and his Church.

8.—The Sons of Noe.

1. Noe had three sons—Sem, Cham, and Japhet. Together with them he tilled the ground and planted the vine. When the vintage came, not knowing the strength of wine, he drank too freely, and, becoming drunk, lay in his tent. Cham, finding him in this condition, laughed, and, going, told his brothers what he had seen.

2. But they, filled with reverence, and moved with filial love, took a cloak, and, putting it upon their shoulders, turned away their eyes, and, going backward, covered their father. When Noe awoke, and learned what had taken place—"Cursed be Cham," said he, "but blessed be Sem and Japhet."

The Tower of Babel.

3. Soon the descendants of Noe began so to multiply that they could no longer dwell together in the same place. In their pride, before separating, they resolved to build a city and a tower that would reach to heaven. But God easily confounded them in their foolish project. On a sudden their language was confused, and they could not understand one another. Before this there had been but

4. The posterity of Sem was spread over the greater part of Asia. From him are descended the Israelites, the chosen people of God. The descendants of Cham went to Africa, while the children of Japhet passed over to Europe.

By this it will be seen to what an advanced age the early Patriarchs lived. Adam lived 930 years : Lamech, Noe's father, was born in the year 874; so Noe's father lived 56 years with Adam, and Noe himself lived 128 years with Thare, Abraham's father. Thus, from Abraham to Adam there were but three persons, and from Abraham to Moses it was very easy to hand down traditions. Hence, there was no difficulty in Moses writing about the creation and the early history of the world as we find it related in the Bible.

AGE II.

FROM THE CALL OF ABRAHAM TO MOSES.

CONTAINING 430 YEARS

A. M. 2083.]

[A. C. 1917.

1. At Haran, in the midst of a wicked world, there lived a Chaldee named Abraham, a most upright man. God chose him, that through him the knowledge of the true God and the hope in the promised Redeemer might be preserved among men. For this reason, the Lord commanded Abraham to leave his country and his kins-folks, and go into a strange land. God moreover promised that Abraham should be the father of a great people, and that in him all nations should be blessed.

2. Abraham obeyed, and, with Sarah his wife, and Lot his nephew, together with his servants and flocks, came into Chanaan, a land flowing with milk and honey. Here the Lord appeared to Abraham, and promised to give him and his posterity that land. In gratitude, Abraham built an altar and offered sacrifice to the Lord.

10.—The Virtues of Abraham.

1. His love of peace.—In time, because of the scarcity of pasture, quarrels arose between the herdsmen of Abraham and the herdsmen of his nephew Lot ; so Abraham, who loved peace rather than gain, thought it better that he and Lot should part. He gave Lot the choice to go either to the right or to the left. Lot chose the country about the Jordan, and dwelt in Sodom, while Abraham remained at Hebron.

2. His disinterestedness.—Not long after this there came into that country strange kings, who pillaged the cities of Sodom and Gomorrha, took Lot captive, and carried off with them all his substance. When Abraham heard this sad news, he gathered together three hundred of his servants, and, pursuing, defeated those kings, delivered Lot, and, recovering all his substance, led him back to his own country.

3. It was on this occasion Abraham was met by Melchisedech, King of Salem, and priest of the Most High, who, offering sacrifice of bread and wine, blessed Abraham. At the same time, the King of Sodom offered Abraham all the booty that had been taken, only to restore the captives, but Abraham would take nothing.

4. In this victory over the foreign kings, we have a type of Christ's victory over the powers of hell. The sacrifice of Melchisedech in bread and wine was a symbol of the Sacrifice of the Mass, which is also offered under the appearance of bread and wine.

5. Abraham's faith.—One night God led Abraham to the door of his tent, and said to him: "Lift up your eyes to heaven, and count the stars if you can; thus shall your posterity be multiplied upon the earth."

6. God again appeared to him, and confirmed his former promise, adding that He would make a covenant with him. In return, God required Abraham to serve Him faithfully. To confirm this covenant between them, God promised Abraham a son, whose name should be called Isaac. Abraham believed the word of the Lord, and his faith, confirmed by his works, was imputed to him. It was on this occasion that God prescribed the ceremony of circumcision.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 10.—How did Abraham show his love for peace? What is said of Lot? Where did he go? Where did Abraham remain? What is said about Sodom and Gomorrah? Who was taken captive? What did Abraham do? Whom did he meet when returning? What is said of Melchisedech's sacrifice? What did God promise Abraham? What did God make with him? Who was Isaac? What did God prescribe?

11.—Abraham's Hospitality.

1. During the extreme heat of the day, three strangers approached Abraham's tent. As soon as he saw them, bowing himself to the ground, he said to the most distinguished of them : "My lord, pass not by the door of my tent : stop and rest under the shade of the tree, and I will set before you a little bread, that you may refresh yourself."

2. Then Sarah hastened to make flour-cakes upon the hearth, whilst Abraham chose a tender calf from the flock, and, hastening, gave it to the servants to dress and boil ; then he took milk and butter, and the calf and the cakes, and set them before the strangers, while he stood by to serve them.

3. When they had eaten, he, who appeared chief among the strangers, told Abraham that in a year he would return, and, by that time, Sarah his wife would have a son. When Abraham heard this, he knew that it was God himself, accompanied by two angels, whom he had entertained.

4. Abraham's love of his neighbor.—When the three strangers departed, Abraham accompanied them some distance on their journey to Sodom. On the way, the Lord told Abraham of the iniquity of Sodom and Gomorrrha, and how He was about to destroy the two wicked cities. When Abraham heard this, full of charity for his erring neighbors, he besought the Lord not to destroy the just with the unjust.

5. Pleading, he besought the Lord to spare the sinful cities of the plain, if there could be found in them fifty just. And when the Lord yielded to his prayer, he yet again and again urged, until the Lord agreed, if ten just could be found, not to destroy Sodom. But ten just could not be found ; therefore, on the following morning, came the punishment as terrible in its severity as it was strange in its novelty.

6. The Lord having left the two angels, they came to Lot, in Sodom. On the morrow they led Lot, his wife, and his two daughters forth from the place; then the Lord rained down fire and brimstone on the unfortunate cities, destroying them with all their inhabitants. But Lot's wife, forgetting the command of the angels, looked back, and, for her curiosity, was, on the spot, turned into a pillar of salt. The country round about was turned into a sulphurous lake—now known as the Dead Sea—which will ever remain a monument of the wrath of God for the sins of men.

12.—Abraham's Spirit of Self-sacrifice.

1. As had been foretold, the year after the destruction of Sodom, Isaac was born. His father loved him most tenderly, because he had been born to him in his old age. One night God, that he might try him, commanded Abraham to take his beloved Isaac and to go up into Mount Moria, and there to sacrifice him.

2. Without a word, Abraham rose, and cutting wood placed it on an ass, and, taking with him his son and two servants, went forth as the Lord had commanded him. On the third day, seeing in the distance the place whither he had been commanded to go, he ordered the servants to rest while he and Isaac would go up the mountain.

3. Then Abraham put the wood on Isaac's shoulders and they went on together.

On the way, Isaac remarked that they had the fire and the wood with them, but they had no victim for the sacrifice. But his father assured him God would provide a victim. When they were come to the place God had showed them, Abraham built an altar, and, placing the wood upon it, bound Isaac and laid him also upon it; then he took the sword to sacrifice his much-loved son.

4. Just as Abraham was about to strike, an angel touched his hand and told him not to harm the boy; that the Lord was satisfied, since, for His sake, he had not spared his only-begotten son. Abraham lifted up his eyes and saw behind him a ram sticking among the bushes: taking it, he offered it instead of his son.

5. The angel spoke again to Abraham, telling him the Lord would bless him for this offering he had made; that his posterity would be as numerous as the sand of the sea ; and that from him would be born ONE in whom all nations would be blessed.

[A. C. 1852.]

1. When Abraham had grown old, he became anxious to choose for his son a wife, who feared God. Therefore, calling his faithful servant Eliezer, he sent him into Mesopotamia, that, amongst his own friends and kinsfolk, he might seek for a wife for Isaac. Eliezer took ten camels, and, loading them with his master's goods, departed for the city of Haran, where Abraham's brother, Nachor, lived.

2. When Eliezer approached the city, he made the camels lie down by the wells, where the women were wont to draw water ; then he prayed thus to the Lord : " O Lord, this day come to my help and have mercy upon my master Abraham ! Soon the young women of this city will come forth to draw water ; grant, therefore, that the maid who shall say to me, ' Drink, and I will give thy camels also to drink,' may be, O Lord, the same whom thou hast provided for thy servant, Isaac ! "

3. Scarce had he finished, when there came from the city a young woman, named Rebecca, as modest as she was beautiful. On her shoulders she carried a pitcher. When she had filled it, Eliezer said to her, " Give me to drink." She answered, " Drink," and kindly offered him her pitcher. Then she said, " I will also draw water for your camels."

4. When the servant heard this, he stood awhile in silent amazement, watching till she had given the camels to drink ; then he gave her ear-rings and golden bracelets, and asked whose daughter she was, and whether there was room in her father's house for him to lodge. In answer, she told him she was the daughter of Bathuel, the son of Nachor, and, moreover, there was room at her father's, together with plenty of straw and hay. When Eliezer heard this, he adored God, who had brought his journey to so successful an end.

5. He then went to Bathuel's house, but would neither eat nor drink till he had delivered his message. When they all heard for what he had come, and what had happened, Laban, Rebecca's brother; as also Bathuel, her father, said: "God had directed all these events, and that he should take Rebecca with him."

6. Then Eliezer again adored God, and, bringing forth vessels of silver and gold, and rich garments, gave them to Rebecca. He also gave presents to her mother and her brothers. A banquet was prepared; they eat, drank, and made merry. In the morning, Rebecca's parents and her brothers blessed her, and she left her father's home to become the wife of Isaac.

Abraham lived to the advanced age of a hundred and seventy-five years. God blessed him in all his works, and he died full of grace and virtues.

[A. C. 1332.

1. For twenty years Isaac and Rebecca lived together before God blessed them with children. They prayed to the Lord, and He gave them two sons—Esau, the first born, and Jacob, the second. Esau was red and hairy, and rough in his manners; but Jacob was smooth, and of a gentle disposition. Esau became a hunter and a husbandman, while Jacob was a shepherd.

2. Isaac loved the bold and courageous Esau, and eat with delight the game which he brought from the chase ; but Rebecca loved rather the smooth and gentle Jacob, because God had told her he would yet rule his elder brother.

3. One day, Jacob had prepared a dish of lentil pottage, when Esau, who was returning from the chase, met him, and asked him for it. But Jacob refused, unless Esau would sell him his birthright. So Esau, thinking lightly of the matter, sold his birthright for a mess of pottage.

This transfer of Esau's birthright to Jacob was symbolical of the Jews, who, in the time of Christ, rejected the Gospel, and their rights were transferred to the Gentiles, who were chosen in their stead.

4. When Isaac had grown old, and his eyes were dim, he one day called Esau to his bedside, and told him to go into the fields, and, when he had taken some game, to make him a savory dish, that he might bless him before he died. Rebecca overheard this conversation ; as soon as Esau had gone out she called Jacob, and bade him hasten and bring two kids, that she might prepare a dish for his father, that carrying it in, he might get his father's blessing instead of Esau.

5. At first Jacob objected, lest his father would discover the fraud, and thus, instead of a blessing, he would receive a curse. But Rebecca overcame his objection, and, clothing him in the skin of a kid, sent him to his father.

Isaac doubted, but calling Jacob to him, and touching him, he said : "The voice is the voice of Jacob, but the hands are the hands of Esau." So he eat, and blessed Jacob.

6. Scarce had Jacob gone out, when Esau entered with what he had caught in the chase. When Esau heard what had been done, he became very angry, accusing Jacob of having first robbed him of his birthright, and now of his father's blessing. From that day, Esau hated Jacob, and threatened his life. Rebecca, seeing this, persuaded Jacob to go and stay for awhile at Haran, with her brother Laban, until Esau's anger would be appeased. Jacob consented, and immediately started on his journey.

with Laban.

1. Night overtook Jacob on his journey. Wearied, he took a stone and placed it under his head whilst he slept. In his sleep, he saw a ladder, whose foot rested upon the earth and its top reached up to Heaven. He saw, besides, angels ascending and descending upon it, whilst the Lord leaned on its top. The Lord spoke to him and promised to give him, and his posterity after him, the land on which he then slept.

2. When Jacob awoke, he took the stone on which he had slept and set it up for a title; then he poured oil upon it and called the place Bethel, that is, the house of God. Bethel is a figure of the Church, where Jesus Christ Himself dwells, and in which the angels, more effectually than by this mysterious ladder, carry our prayers to God and bring again His graces to us.

3. Jacob continued his journey, and came to a well around which three flocks of sheep were lying. He asked the shepherds if they knew Laban. They said they did, and pointed to Rachel, his daughter, who was driving her flocks also to the well. When Jacob saw her, he hastened to take away the stone that covered the well, and helped her to give drink to her flocks. He then told her who he was.

4. When Rachel heard that he was her cousin, she ran home to tell her father, who came in haste to meet Jacob, and, embracing him, led him into his house. Jacob remained twenty years with Laban, tending his flocks. In many ways, Laban strove to lessen Jacob's wages; but as often as he strove to injure Jacob, God blessed him, until Jacob became immensely rich. In time, Jacob married Rachel, and also her sister, Lea.

1. Owing to Jacob's great wealth, Laban became extremely jealous of him. At the command of God, Jacob gathered together all his servants, and his flocks of sheep, and of goats, and of camels, and of asses, and went into his own country. When he arrived at the banks of the Jordan, a river that marks the limits of Chanaan, he began to fear the former anger of Esau. He then sent messengers to make peace with him; but, without giving an answer, Esau came to meet his brother, accompanied by four hundred men.

2. When Jacob heard this, he was much alarmed, and prayed God to deliver him out of his brother's hands. During the night, an angel appeared to him and wrestled with him till the morning. Before the angel left him, he changed his name from Jacob to Israel, that is to say, strong against God.

3. This contest of the angel with Jacob is a lively figure of the Church. Pagan emperors, heresiarchs, and, above all, hell, have made constant war against her: but as Jacob was not overcome by the angel, neither has the Church been overcome, nor shall she be to the end of time.

4. In the morning, Jacob saw Esau coming towards him. He hastened to divide his children, and his servants, and his flocks, into two companies; then, advancing to meet Esau, bowed himself seven times before him. The brothers embraced and wept for joy; Jacob's children, also advancing, bowed themselves before Esau.

5. After a short delay the brothers parted, and Jacob pursued his journey: penetrated with a lively sense of the divine protection, he came into the land of Chanaan. When his old father saw him, he was much rejoiced, and gave God thanks that his son had returned. Isaac died at the advanced age of a hundred and eighty years, and was buried by his sons, Esau and Jacob.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 16.—How did Laban act towards Jacob? What did Jacob gather together? What happened at the Jordan? With whom did Jacob wrestle? What does Israel mean? How is Jacob's contest a figure of the Church? How did Esau and Jacob meet? How old was Isaac when he died?

17.—Joseph in his Father's House.

1. Jacob had twelve sons, of whom Joseph was the best. His father loved him above all his brothers; and when they saw the coat of many colors, which his father made for him, they were filled with rage and envy. One day, while they were tending their flocks, his brothers committed a grievous fault. Joseph told his father, and by this only the more were his brothers enraged against him.

2. On another occasion, Joseph told his brothers a dream he had had. He appeared, he said, to be binding sheaves with them in the field, when suddenly his sheaf rose up, and theirs, standing round about, bowed down to his. His brothers asked him, "If he wished to be their king?" So they only hated him the more.

3. Joseph had another dream, in which the sun and the moon and eleven stars seemed to worship him. This time his father asked him: "Whether he expected that he and his mother and his brothers should worship him?" But then, reflecting upon the whole matter, Jacob thought God might have great things in store for his son.

18.—Joseph Sold into Egypt.

1. Some time after this, Jacob sent Joseph to see his brothers, who were feeding their flocks at Sichem, that he might bring him back word how they were. But when the brothers saw Joseph coming to them, they determined to kill him and cast him into a pit that was near by. When Ruben, the eldest brother, heard this cruelty of his brothers, he persuaded them to let him down alive into an empty cistern that was there. This he did hoping he might rescue the boy out of their hands.

2. As soon as Joseph arrived, he was stripped of his coat of many colors and cast into the empty cistern. Whilst his brothers were eating, they saw some Ismaelite merchants passing on their way to Egypt, their camels carrying their merchandise. Then Juda advised his brothers not to kill Joseph—for he was their brother—and it would be better to sell him ; so they drew him out of the cistern and sold him to the Ismaelites for twenty pieces of silver.

3. Ruben was absent when Joseph was sold, and, returning shortly after, sought the boy, and, not finding him, went, in much trouble, to the others to know what they had done with him ; but they were indifferent to his inquiries.

Then the brothers killed a kid, and, dipping Joseph's coat in its blood, sent it to their father, pretending they had found it. Jacob knew the coat at once, and concluded a wild beast had killed his son. Rending his garments, and, putting on sackcloth, he would not be comforted.

4. In many respects, Joseph's life was a picture of the life of Jesus Christ. Joseph was hated by his brothers because of his great virtues; Jesus was hated for his doctrines and the prophecies that foretold his greatness. Joseph was betrayed, sold, and calumniated; so was Christ. Joseph triumphed in the end; so did Jesus Christ. Joseph was made governor over Egypt; Jesus is King of Heaven and earth. Joseph saved his brothers; Jesus Christ redeemed and saved mankind.

A. M. 2287.]

19.—Joseph in the House of Putiphar.

[A. C. 1713.]

1. When the Ismaelites came into Egypt, they sold Joseph to Putiphar, the chief officer in Pharaoh's army. God was with Joseph, so that whatever he undertook succeeded. Soon he was placed in charge of Putiphar's house.

2. After some time, Putiphar's wife strove to persuade him to commit a grievous sin, but he would not. However, she continued to press her wishes, until one day, when she was more pressing than usual, Joseph fled, leaving his cloak in her hands.

3. Finding she could not succeed, her love was turned into hatred, and, seeing Joseph's cloak in her hands, resolved to ruin the innocent young man. Then, with well-affected horror, she began to cry out against Joseph; and when Putiphar came home, repeated her falsehoods and calumnies. Her husband believed her story, and, seeing the cloak, became very angry, and cast Joseph into prison.

20.—Joseph in Prison.

1. Joseph soon found favor with the keeper of the prison. Here, as before with Putiphar's house, Joseph was placed in charge of the other prisoners. Two of Pharaoh's officers, the cup-bearer and chief baker, were also cast into prison.

2. On the same night they had each a dream that made them very sad. In the morning, Joseph noticed their sorrow, and, asking why, they told him of their dreams, and that no one could interpret them. Joseph bade them tell them to him.

3. The cup-bearer said : "I saw before me three branches of a vine, which, by degrees, grew and blossomed, and at length brought forth grapes. I took the grapes and pressed them into the king's cup, and gave him to drink." When Joseph heard this, he answered : "The three branches are yet three days, when the king will restore you to your former dignity, and you shall present the cup as heretofore. Remember me, and speak to the king for me, for, though cast into prison, I am innocent."

4. Then the chief baker said : "I carried on my head three baskets of meal. In the uppermost were all kinds of pastry, of which the birds came and eat." Joseph answered : "The three baskets are three days, when the king shall cut off your head, and hang your body on a gibbet, where the birds shall eat your flesh."

5. Three days after, every thing happened as Joseph had foretold : the king restored the cup-bearer, and he presented the cup as before, but the baker he hanged on a gibbet. The cup-bearer, however, in his prosperity, forgot Joseph.

1. After two years, Pharaoh had a dream. He seemed to stand on the bank of the Nile, while seven fat kine came up and fed in the marshes; then there came up seven other kine, lean and ill-favored, that devoured the fat kine. After this the king awoke.

2. Pharaoh slept again, and dreamt another dream: he saw seven ears of corn, full and fair, growing upon one stalk; then he saw seven other ears grow up, thin and blasted, and these eat up the first. So, Pharaoh awoke. In the morning, the king sent for all the wise men and soothsayers of Egypt, to whom he related his dreams, but no one could interpret them.

3. Then the cup-bearer remembered Joseph, and told the king how, in prison, Joseph had interpreted both his and the chief baker's dream. Immediately Joseph was sent for. When the king related his dreams to him, Joseph told the king their interpretation depended not on him but on God.

4. "This," said Joseph, "is the interpretation of your dreams: The seven fat kine and the seven full ears are seven years of plenty; the seven lean kine and the seven blasted ears are seven years of famine, which will follow and eat up all the abundance of the seven years of plenty. The famine shall be in all the land. Let, therefore, the king choose a wise man, and make him ruler over Egypt; and let him, during the years of abundance, gather the crops into public granaries, that there may be food against the seven years of famine."

5. This counsel pleased Pharaoh, and, admiring the wisdom and prudence that appeared in Joseph, he chose him. Then he took the ring from his own finger and put it upon Joseph's, and, putting upon him a silken robe, and round his neck a chain of gold, made him go up into his second chariot, while a herald went before, crying aloud: "Let all the people bow their knee before Joseph, who is made governor of Egypt." Pharaoh also changed Joseph's name, and called him "Savior of the world." Joseph was then thirty years of age.

A. M. 2296.] 22.—Joseph's Brethren go into Egypt. [A. C. 1704.]

1. During the seven years of plenty, Joseph stored up great quantities of wheat. As he had foretold, the famine came, and the people demanded bread from the king; but he sent them to Joseph, who opened the granaries and gave out wheat.

2. The famine passed also into the land of Chanaan. Jacob, hearing there was wheat in Egypt, sent ten of his sons thither, that they might buy; but Benjamin, the youngest, he kept at home, lest any harm should befall him on the way. In time the brothers arrived in Egypt, and, coming to Joseph, humbly bowed themselves before him. He knew them, but they did not know him.

3. Joseph began to charge them with being spies, but they declared their innocence, and how they had come only to buy wheat. They also told him that, originally, they were twelve brothers; that the youngest was at home with their father, but the other was not living. Joseph, that he might further try them, threatened to cast one of them into prison, until the others should return and bring their younger brother, that he might see if they were men of truth or no.

4. When the brothers saw themselves so harshly treated, they began to speak one to the other, not thinking that Joseph understood what they said, as he had spoken to them only through an interpreter. In their trouble, they remembered how they had treated him, and acknowledged that their present treatment was a just punishment for their former cruelty to their younger brother. When Joseph heard this, going out, he wept.

5. Then Simon was cast into prison, while the sacks of the others were filled with corn, and their money put secretly in each man's sack; provisions were also given them for the journey. When all was ready, the brothers loaded their asses, and went their way.

6. Coming to their father, they told him all that had happened: and, emptying their sacks, each found the price of his corn. Great fear came upon them. When Jacob heard what had happened, he began to lament his sad lot—how they would rob him of his children; Joseph was not, Simon was a prisoner, and now they would take Benjamin away.

23.—Benjamin goes down to Egypt.

1. When their wheat was all eaten, Jacob ordered his sons to go again into Egypt; but Juda said it was useless, unless they took Benjamin with them. After considering the matter well, Jacob at length consented. Taking with them Benjamin, and double money, they started again.

2. When they arrived in Egypt, and Joseph saw Benjamin, he commanded his steward to bring them into the palace, that they might dine with him. The steward did as he was ordered. They, seeing what was done, became frightened, and began to think it was because of the money they had found in their sacks; but the steward told them to fear not, and, going, brought Simon to them.

3. When Joseph came in to see them, they bowed-down before him, and presented the gifts they had brought. He saluted them kindly, and asked for their father; if he yet lived, and if he were well. Having answered him, he turned to Benjamin, and, blessing him, went out and, for joy, wept.

4. Washing his face, he returned and ordered dinner. When he seated them each in the order of his age, they wondered exceedingly. To each he gave a share, but Benjamin's was five times larger than that of any other. So they eat and drank and made merry with Joseph.

24.—Joseph's Silver Cup.

1. Joseph would again prove his brothers, to see if they were as jealous and hard-hearted toward Benjamin as they had been to himself ; so, when the feast was ended, he bade his steward fill their sacks with corn, to put each man's money back into his sack, and his own silver cup into the sack of the youngest. The order was obeyed, and in the morning they departed.

2. But scarce were they gone, when Joseph sent his steward after them, charging them with returning evil for good, in having stolen his master's silver cup. When the sons of Jacob heard the accusation, they were overwhelmed with fear, and declared that with whomsoever the cup would be found, he should die. Hastening, they opened their sacks, and the cup was found in Benjamin's. Confounded, they gazed on each other, and, rending their garments, returned to Joseph.

3. They cast themselves at his feet, and Juda, in their name, said they had no excuse to make ; that they were thus justly punished for their sins ; and that hereafter they would be his slaves. Joseph, however, declared that only he with whom the cup had been found should be his slave ; the others would be free to go.

4. When Juda heard this, he drew near to Joseph and told him how much it had cost their father to let Benjamin go, how he had pledged himself for the return of the boy; and how, if they returned without Benjamin, he feared it would kill their aged father; then Juda offered himself to be slave, instead of his younger brother Benjamin.

5. Joseph could no longer restrain himself, but, bursting into tears, said to his brothers: "I am Joseph." They could not answer him, so great was their fear; but he spoke kindly to them, assuring them that all they had done to him had been directed by God. Then he asked how his father was, and commanded his brothers to hasten and tell him of his son's glory; to come down to Egypt, for there were yet five years of famine.

When Pharaoh heard the news, he promised to give Jacob of the fat of Egypt. Then Joseph dismissed his brothers, sending with them chariots and provisions, costly robes and silver.

A. M. 2298.] 25.—Jacob goes down to Egypt. [A. C. 1702.]

1. When Joseph's brothers came to their father and told him the news—how his son yet lived, and was governor of Egypt—Jacob awoke as from a dream. At first he could not believe what he heard, but when he saw the chariots of the king, and received the rich presents sent by his son, his spirits revived, and he was satisfied, now that Joseph lived, to go down to Egypt, that he might see him before he died.

2. Jacob gathered together all his possessions and, accompanied by his sons, and their wives, and their children—in all, to the number of seventy—began his journey. When he came to the borders of the land of Chanaan, the Lord appeared to him and told him to fear nothing, for He would go down with him, and would yet make of him a great nation, and in time would bring him back again.

3. Juda went on before to tell Joseph that his father was coming. Joseph hastened to meet his father, and, seeing him, fell upon his neck, and wept. “Now I die in peace,” said Jacob, “since I see your face.”

In the same manner spoke the aged Simeon, seventeen hundred years afterwards, when, in the temple of Jerusalem, he saw the true Joseph, Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world.

4. When Joseph presented his father to the king, he asked him his age. The old man said : “I am a hundred and thirty years of age ; yet I am not as old as my fathers.”

Joseph gave his father and his brethren possessions in Gessen, because there was there great abundance of grass for their flocks.

A. M. 2315.] 26.—The Death of Jacob and Joseph. [A. C. 1685.]

1. Seventeen years after his arrival in Egypt, Jacob fell sick. When Joseph heard this, he took his two sons, Ephraim and Manasses, and hastened to visit his father. When Jacob saw the two boys, he blessed them.

2. Then he called together his sons, and told them God would yet lead them back to their own country : but he charged them to bury him in the land of Chanaan. Then he blessed them, foretelling what would happen in the latter days.

To Juda he gave the greatest blessing, saying : “ You shall rule over your enemies ; the sons of your father shall bow down to you, and the scepter shall not pass from Juda till He cometh that is to be sent, ‘ the Expectation of Nations. ’ ”

3. This celebrated prophecy, that so clearly marked the time when the Messiah would come, was accomplished when Herod, the first stranger, ruled over Judea. In him the scepter passed from Juda.

4. When Jacob was dead, Joseph threw himself on his father’s face, weeping and kissing him. Then he ordered the physicians to embalm the body, and when, according to the custom of the Egyptians, he had mourned for seventy days, he, with his brothers and an immense multitude, carried the body into the land of Chanaan. Thus was Jacob buried at Hebron.

When he saw his end drawing near, he called his brothers to him, and told them they would have trouble after his death : to fear nothing, however, as God would surely lead them back to the land he had promised to their forefathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Then, having charged them to take his bones up with them, he died, and his body was embalmed and laid in a coffin.

27.—The Patience of Job.

1. Contemporary with the Patriarchs, there lived in Arabia a man named Job. He had seven sons and three daughters ; for possessions he had seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred asses, besides many servants. He was much esteemed on account of his great wealth, but much more so for his piety.

2. On a certain day God said to Satan : "Have you considered my servant Job, how there is none like to him on the whole earth?" Satan replied that it was easy for Job to serve God, that he was rich and blessed in all his actions ; but, however, "Touch him," said Satan, "and he will curse you and abandon you." God gave Satan permission, only not to touch his person.

3. Soon after this, while the sons and daughters of Job were eating and drinking together in the house of their eldest brother, there came a messenger to Job to tell him how the Sabeans had taken his oxen and his asses, and slain his servants. The messenger had hardly finished, when there came another, telling how fire had fallen from heaven and consumed his sheep and his shepherds. There came still a third, saying the Caldeans had taken his camels and slain his servants. And while he was yet speaking, there came a fourth with the sad news that the house, in which his children were feasting, had been blown down by a wind, and all were killed.

4. When Job heard these things, rising up, he rent his garments, and, falling down, adored God. "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away," said he; "blessed be the name of the Lord." So Job sinned not, and God rejoiced in his servant.

5. Satan again appeared before the Lord and said, if God would but touch Job's person, He would see Job would curse Him. God put Job in Satan's power. Then Satan struck Job with a grievous ulcer, so that he was covered with sores from the crown of his head to the sole of his foot. Job scraped his sores with a potsherd.

6. Job's wife seeing this, came and upbraided him for his folly. But Job answered: "If we have received good from the hand of God, why will we not receive evil?" So again Job sinned not.

7. When Job's friends heard what had befallen him, three of them came to condole with him. Seeing him, they wept, and, sitting down, for seven days and seven nights no one spoke, for they saw how great was his grief.

8. At length Job opened his mouth and began to lament his sufferings; but his friends only reproached him with his faults. Job would not confess that he was guilty, but stoutly maintained his innocence and his confidence in God.

9. This confidence was not misplaced, for Job was delivered from his afflictions, and had possessions twice as great as before. Again, he had seven sons and three daughters, and after this lived a hundred and forty years, and saw his children's children to the fourth generation. He died an old man, full of joy and happiness.

10. Job is a figure of Jesus Christ, who, bruised from the top of his head to the sole of his foot, and scorned as a man covered with iniquities, complained not. We see also in Job's case how far sometimes God permits the devil to exercise his powers.

the Israelites had become, began to fear them ; so they oppressed the children of Jacob, put heavy burdens upon them, and finally ordered the Egyptian midwives to cast into the Nile all the male children that would be born among the Hebrews.

2. One of the Hebrew women bore a son, whom she loved most tenderly. For three months she hid him ; but, finding it impossible to conceal him any longer, she made a basket of bulrushes, and, smearing it with pitch, laid the child in it, and placed the basket among the sedges by the bank of the river. Then she sent his sister to watch what would come to pass.

3. By the direction of God, Pharaoh's daughter came down to the river to wash herself, and, seeing the basket, sent her maid to bring it. When she opened it and saw the child, she knew it belonged to one of the Hebrew women. The sister approaching, Pharaoh's daughter sent her to bring a nurse. She ran and brought the mother. Pharaoh's daughter gave her the child to nurse, and, when he was grown up, adopted him, calling him Moses, that is, saved from the waters.

4. Moses was a figure of Jesus Christ. Moses was saved from the river; Jesus, from Herod. Moses, when young, was wise in words and powerful in deeds; so also Christ, who, at the age of twelve, was the wonder of priest and doctors. Moses divided the waters of the sea; Christ calmed the winds and the storms. Moses led the way to the promised land; Christ is the way to heaven.

5. Moses, amid great miracles, gave the Old Law to the Jews; Christ, with the most stupendous miracles, gave the New Law to the world. Moses abolished idolatry among the Jews; Christ, in the world. Moses gave civil liberty to the Jews; Christ, spiritual liberty to mankind.

6. Moses fasted forty days on the mountain; Christ fasted forty days in the desert. Moses descended from the mountain with his face transfigured; Christ was transfigured on the mountain. In the desert, Moses fed the people with manna; Christ feeds the world with His own body and blood. Moses confirmed the Old Law with the blood of bullocks; Christ sealed the New Law with His own blood.

1. When Moses attained his fortieth year, he resolved to share the miseries of his people. By his vigorous defense of the Hebrews against the cruelty of the Egyptians, he incurred the displeasure of the king, who resolved to put him to death; but Moses fled to Madian, in Arabia, where he lived for forty years, tending the flocks of his father-in-law, Jethro, a priest of that country.

2. One day, when Moses had led his flock to the mountain of Horeb, God appeared to him in the midst of a burning bush. Moses was much astonished that the bush was not consumed, and approached to see what it could mean; but God commanded him to stand still and take off his shoes, for the place was holy. At the voice of God, Moses fell on his face.

3. Then God told him how He had seen the afflictions of the Hebrews, and that He was about to deliver them : besides, He had chosen him to lead the people out of Egypt. At first, Moses objected, alleging his weakness and slowness of speech ; but God promised to be with him, and gave him Aaron, his brother, as spokesman.

4. Then Moses returned to Egypt and Aaron with him, and, assembling the people of Israel, Aaron spoke to them all the Lord had commanded. When Moses had wrought miracles before the people, they believed and adored God.

1. Moses and Aaron were both about eighty years of age when they first presented themselves before Pharaoh, and commanded him to let the Israelites go into the desert to sacrifice to the Lord. But Pharaoh refused, and commanded the Israelites to be oppressed more and more. Their tasks were also increased.

2. Again Moses and Aaron presented themselves before Pharaoh. At the command of God, Aaron cast his rod before the king, and immediately it was changed into a serpent. Pharaoh only the more hardened his heart and would not let the people go. Then God sent ten plagues upon Pharaoh and his people.

3. For the first, Aaron struck the Nile with his rod, and its waters were changed into blood, and corrupted. After seven days, he again stretched his hand over the waters of Egypt, and there came up frogs that covered the whole land. Then, in turn, the dust of the earth was turned into flies and insects, that tormented both man and beast.

4. In quick succession, there followed a murrain amongst the cattle, and boils and swellings upon man and beast. For the seventh plague, God sent thunder, and hail, and lightning, running along the ground. After this was added the plague of locusts to eat up what the hail had spared; and, at last, impenetrable darkness covered the land.

But Pharaoh hardened his heart and would not let the people go as the Lord commanded; so God struck him with a tenth plague more terrible than all the rest.

A. M. 2513.] 31.—The Death of the First-born— [A. C. 1487.

The Paschal Lamb—The Departure from Egypt.

1. Before God sent his tenth plague, He wished to prepare the Israelites for it. Each family was therefore commanded by Moses and Aaron to prepare a lamb without blemish, and, on the fourteenth day of the month, to sacrifice it, and to sprinkle their door-posts with its blood. They were further required to roast the lamb at the fire, and whilst, with unleavened bread and wild lettuce, they eat its flesh, to stand with their loins girt, and staves in their hands. The Israelites did all they were commanded.

2. About the middle of the night, the angel of the Lord struck all the first-born of Egypt, even from the first-born of Pharaoh to the humblest of the land: no family escaped. But the angel, seeing the blood on the door-posts of the Israelites, spared them.

3. When Pharaoh saw this, he rose up and, calling Moses and Aaron, commanded them to go forth and to take the Israelites with them. The Egyptians also pressed them to go, fearing lest all would die. The Israelites went forth from Egypt, two hundred and fifteen years after Jacob had gone thither, to the number of six hundred thousand men, besides women and children. They carried with them the bones of Joseph.

4. The Paschal Lamb was a figure of Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, who was offered on the cross. By his blood we also are marked and delivered from eternal death. The deliverance of the Israelites from the bondage of Egypt is also a figure of man's delivery from the bondage of sin and hell.

A. M. 2513.] 32.—The Passage of the Red Sea. [A. C. 1487.

1. God became the guide of the Israelites, leading them on their way by a cloud in the day, and a pillar of fire in the night. In a few days they came to the Red Sea. Meanwhile Pharaoh repented that he had let the Israelites go, and resolved to gather together his horses and chariots and pursue them. When the Israelites saw the Egyptians behind them, and the sea before them, they were seized with great fear. But Moses encouraged them, and assured them the Lord would fight for them.

2. The cloud that had gone before the Israelites now went behind them, and became a wall of separation between the Egyptians and the Israelites. On the side of the former it was dark, but on the side of the latter it shone with a clear light. Thus the two armies were separated during the night. By command of God, Moses stretched forth his rod over the sea, and the waters were divided, rising as a wall to the right and to the left.

3. During the night the Israelites passed through on dry land. In the morning the Egyptians also followed, but, at the command of God, Moses again stretched forth his rod over the sea, and the waters returned to their place—Pharao and his whole army, his chariots and his horsemen, were swallowed up, so that not a single person escaped.

4. The cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night were a figure of Jesus Christ. He is the light, in which those who walk will not perish. The Red Sea is also a figure of Baptism, since we must all receive it, if we will enter heaven.

33.—The Quails, the Manna, and the Water in the Desert.

1. When the Israelites came into the desert they could find no bread ; then they began to murmur against Moses, and to wish for the flesh-pots of Egypt. God promised them flesh to the full, and, in the morning, bread. In the evening there came into the camp an immense number of quails, which were easily caught, and in the morning the desert was covered with small white seeds that appeared like hoar-frost. When the Israelites saw this, they cried out MAN-HU ! that is, What is this?

2. Then Moses told them it was the bread which the Lord had sent them. They were commanded to gather as much as each one needed. The people did so, and found the taste thereof like fine flour mixed with honey.

3. For forty years God fed the Israelites with this bread, which was afterwards called Manna. It fell no more after they came into the land of Chanaan. This manna was preëminently a figure of the Sacrament of the Altar, in which Jesus Christ gives himself under the appearance of bread and wine.

4. Some time after this there was a scarcity of water, and the Israelites began again to murmur. God told Moses to take his rod, and to go to Mount Horeb and strike the rock. He did so, and immediately there came forth water in such abundance that the people quenched their thirst and were satisfied.

34.—The Ten Commandments.

1. Three months after their departure from Egypt, the Israelites came to Mount Sinai. God called Moses, and he went up into the mountain. Here the Lord spoke to him, and bade him remind the people of all He had already done for them, and how He would continue to protect them if they would be faithful to Him, and that He would make them a chosen people. When Moses descended from the mountain and told the people all the words of the Lord, they cried out: "We will do all the Lord hath spoken."

2. Then God commanded the people to purify themselves to-morrow and the next day, and to be ready for the third. On the morning of the third day it began to thunder and lighten; a thick cloud covered the mountain. The top of Mount Sinai was on fire, and it shook to its base. Then came the sound of a trumpet, that grew louder and louder, until the people trembled with an exceeding great fear.

3. When Moses had led the people to the foot of the mountain, the Lord spoke thus :

- I. I am the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not have strange gods before Me.
- II. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain.
- III. Remember thou keep holy the Sabbath day.
- IV. Honor thy father and thy mother.

- VI. Thou shalt not commit adultery.
- VII. Thou shalt not steal.

- IX. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife.
- X. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods.

4. When the people, who were camped round about the mountain, heard these things, trembling with fear and full of reverence, they promised to do all the Lord commanded them. Moses built an altar and offered sacrifice to the Lord. He took also of the blood of the victims and sprinkled it upon the people, as a sign of the covenant the Lord had that day made with them.

5. As the covenant of the Old Law was established on Mount Sinai, so was the covenant of the New Law sealed on Calvary. There God showed His power; here, His mercy. Both covenants were sealed with blood: at Sinai with the blood of bullocks; on Calvary with the blood of Jesus Christ.

35.—The Golden Calf.

1. After this, Moses again went up into the mountain, and for forty days and forty nights remained conversing with God. The Lord gave him two tables of stone, on which were written the ten commandments. While Moses delayed on the mountain, the people began to murmur, and came to Aaron and demanded that he would make for them gods like to those of the Egyptians. Not thinking they would comply with his command, he said to them: "Bring me the golden ear-rings of your wives and daughters."

2. Contrary to his expectations, they brought them, and, being a weak man, he had not courage to resist their wicked wish; so he cast them into a furnace and made a golden calf, and built an altar. Then the Israelites gathered together and offered sacrifice, and, eating and drinking, rose up to play, after the manner of the Pagans.

3. When Moses came down from the mountain and saw these abominations, he was exceeding angry, and, throwing down the tables on which the ten commandments were written, broke them. Seizing upon the golden calf, he burned it, and beat it into powder. Then he commanded the sons of Levi to unsheath their swords; to march through the camp and return, and to put to death all whom they met. There were slain on that day about twenty-three thousand men.

4. Moses again returned to the Lord on the mountain, and prayed for the pardon of the people. The Lord heard his prayer. Moses hewed two tables of stone like the first, and God again wrote on them the ten commandments.

5. When Moses had finished speaking with the Lord, he descended from the mountain, carrying with him the two tables of the Law. His face had become horned, and shone as the rays of the sun. When the Israelites saw this, they dared not look upon him; so Moses was forced to put a veil on his face when he spoke to the people.

related to the public worship, which, with extreme care, Moses established according as God commanded him.

2. The Tabernacle. — Moses began by constructing a tent, whose supports were made of setim-wood, and were so framed that they could easily be taken apart. The length of the tent was thirty cubits, and the height ten, and the breadth ten. The supports were overlaid with gold, and the whole was covered with most precious hangings. Within, hung a veil of magnificent tapestry, which divided the Tabernacle into two parts—the smaller, called the Holy of Holies; the larger, the Sanctuary.

3. Within the Holy of Holies was placed the Ark of the Covenant, a small box made of the most precious wood, overlaid with gold and surmounted by two cherubim. In the Ark were placed the two tables of the Law.

Within the Sanctuary were kept three objects consecrated to the worship of God: the Table of Show-bread, on which were placed twelve loaves of bread, made of the finest flour; the Golden Candlestick, that, with its seven lights, shone during the entire night ; and, lastly, the Altar of Perfumes, on which was burned the finest incense.

4. Besides this, Moses constructed around the Tabernacle a grand portico which inclosed two other sacred objects : the Altar of Holocausts and the Great Brazen Basin, in which the priests were commanded to purify themselves before they performed any sacred function.

5. This Ark was a figure of the Tabernacle in Catholic churches ; the Holy of Holies, of the Altar on which is offered the sacrifice of the New Law ; the Sanctuary corresponded to the place the priests occupy ; and the portico represented the body of the Church, where the people now worship.

6. The sacrifices of the Old Law were either bloody, in which were offered heifers, and sheep, and goats, and doves ; or unbloody, in which were offered cakes, and unleavened bread, and wine.

The bloody sacrifices prefigured the bloody sacrifice of Christ upon the cross ; the unbloody were a type of the sacrifice of the Mass.

7. The Religious Feasts were : 1st. The Pasch, on which the Israelites eat the flesh of a Lamb, and for seven days unleavened bread, in remembrance of their deliverance out of Egypt : 2d. The feast of Pentecost, celebrated seven weeks after the Pasch, in remembrance of the Law received on Mount Sinai. At this feast were also offered the first fruits. 3d. The feast of Tabernacles, in memory of their long sojourn in the desert. During this feast the Israelites were required to live in tents made from the branches of trees. 4th. The feast of Expiation, on which the priest sacrificed a heifer for his own sins and a goat for the sins of the people. Then he entered into the Holy of Holies, carrying with him the golden censer and the blood of the victim : with the former he incensed the ark, with the latter he sprinkled the pavement.

8. The Ministers of Divine Worship were, 1st. The High Priest. To this office Moses consecrated Aaron, anointing him, and clothing him with the various vestments of his office. 2d. The Priests proper, who were the sons of Aaron, and whose office it was to offer sacrifice. 3d. The Levites, who were of the tribe of Levi, and who were charged with the lower offices within the tabernacle.

men, among whom were Josue and Caleb, to go into the land of promise. After forty days, they returned, carrying with them specimens of the fruits of the country. Amongst these was an enormous bunch of grapes borne on the shoulders of two men, besides apples, and pomegranates, and figs. The land, indeed, said they, overflowed with abundance, but the inhabitants were giants.

2. Then the people wept, and again murmured against Moses and Aaron, wishing they had died in Egypt or in the desert. In vain did Josue and Caleb speak of the richness of the country and the weakness of the people. The multitude, led on by the others, would not listen, but cried out the more to return to Egypt.

3. When the murmur was at its height, the glory of God was seen over the ark of the covenant. Then the Lord said to Moses He would destroy the Israelites, for they were an incredulous people. The Lord even offered to make Moses ruler over a greater nation; but Moses, the meekest of men, only prayed the more that the Lord would pardon them.

4. At his prayer the Lord again pardoned the people; yet, as a punishment for their sin, He declared that not one of them, that had attained his twentieth year, should enter the promised land, Josue and Caleb excepted. Their children would enter, but for forty years should the people wander in the desert—a year for every day spent in exploring the country.

5. This history of the Jews is similar to what happened in the time of Jesus Christ. The Jews would not understand the spiritual kingdom promised by Christ ; hence they rejected Him. On the cross He begged his Father to forgive them ; but, as a punishment for their sin in having rejected Him, they are to-day wanderers on the earth, and will be to the end of time.

1. Some time after the events related in the preceding chapter, two hundred and fifty Levites, led on by Core, Dathan, and Abiron, revolted against Moses and Aaron, denying their authority. On the following day, the Lord commanded the people to go out from the tents of these wicked men ; not to touch any thing belonging to them, lest they also would be involved in their sin. While the people were looking on to see what would come to pass, the earth opened under the feet of the three leaders and swallowed them down, with their tents and all their substance. Then a fire came out from the Lord and consumed the two hundred and fifty Levites. Moses and Aaron were that day vindicated.

2. In modern times we often see similar revolts against the priests of God. Ambitious and wicked men wish to rule the Church ; but, like Core and his companions, they will ever receive a just punishment for their pride and presumption.

the Brazen Serpent.

1. Water again failed, and the people began to murmur. Then the Lord commanded Moses to take his rod and strike the rock. Moses, for a moment, doubted; then struck the rock, when water gushed forth in great abundance. This momentary doubt greatly displeased

God, and he declared that Moses, because he had not believed, should not lead the people into the promised land.

2. Shortly after, the people rebelled again, and, murmuring, complained they had neither food nor water. When God saw this, He sent among them fiery serpents, whose sting burned like fire. Many died amid the most cruel torments. When the people saw this, they came to Moses, acknowledging their sin, and begging him to pray to the Lord that He would take the serpents from amongst them.

3. Moses prayed, when the Lord commanded him to make a brazen serpent and to set it up for a sign. He did so, and as many as looked upon it were healed.

4. This serpent prefigured our Savior nailed to the cross; for as the Israelites were cured by looking upon the serpent, so are all, who, with faith, look up to Christ, cured of the wounds of sin caused by the bite of the infernal serpent.

40.—The Death of Moses.

1. When, according to the course of nature, the time came that Moses must die, the Lord commanded him, in the presence of the people, to put his hand upon Josue, that they might have no cause to disobey him. Then Moses told the people he was about to die; that he would not pass over the Jordan with them, nor enter the promised land.

2. He then reminded them of all the Lord had done for them: how He had nourished them in the desert, and how He had watched over them; then he commanded the people to keep the commandments, to love the Lord, and to hearken to His voice. He also foretold them, in a spirit of prophecy, that the Lord would in time raise up a PROPHET like to him, whom they should hear. He spoke of Christ.

3. When Moses had finished speaking, he went up to the top of Mount Nebo, from which the Lord showed him the land of Chanaan. When Moses saw it, he rejoiced; and, full of gratitude and thanks to God, died at the ripe old age of a hundred and twenty years. The Lord buried him in the valley of Phogor, but the spot no

1. After the death of Moses, the Lord commanded Josue to pass over the Jordan. The priests took the ark of the covenant and marched before, the people followed. When they were come to the banks of the Jordan, and the priests had touched the water with the soles of their feet, the waters above stood still, while the waters below ran down, leaving a dry passage for the people to pass over.

2. When all had passed, the waters returned to their usual course. The people encamped near Jericho, where they celebrated the feast of the Pasch.

Jericho was a large and populous city, well fortified with walls. For six succeeding days the Israelites went round about it. On the seventh, the priests carried with them the ark of the covenant, while seven priests sounded the trumpets of Jubilee; and the people shouted with a great cry. All this was done by the command of God. At the sound of the trumpets and the shout of the people, the walls fell flat to the ground, and the Israelites entered and took the city.

3. In time, Josue conquered all the country, and, by lot, divided it among the twelve tribes of Israel. Each tribe bore the name and was descended from one of the twelve sons of Jacob. Thus, after their long wanderings, had the Israelites arrived in the land of promise.

42.—The Judges.

1. Surely the Israelites owed a deep debt of gratitude to the Lord for the rich and magnificent country He had given them; but they were an ungrateful people, and were easily led astray by their pagan neighbors. Shortly after their arrival in the promised land, they fell into idolatry. In punishment for their crime, the Lord delivered them into the hands of their enemies. Servitude taught them repentance and their dependence upon God. Having humbled themselves before Him, He sent pious men, called judges, selected from among the people, to deliver them and to rule them.

2. Their repentance was but of short duration; at the death of each judge they returned to their sins and idolatry. For four hundred years, this faithless and thankless people were in turn changing from God to the worship of idols—relapsing and repenting. The twelve judges sent during this time were : Othniel, Aod, Samgar, Barac, Gedeon, Tholar, Jaïr, Jephthe, Abesan, Ahialon, Abdon, Samson, Heli, and Samuel.

3. Amongst these, Samson was one of the most remarkable. So great was his strength that, on one occasion, by the mere power of his hands, he tore a furious lion into pieces. On another, he slew a thousand men with the jaw-bone of an ass. After this, while asleep, he was made prisoner by the Philistines, and bound with seven cords ; but, when he awoke, he broke them like burned flax.

4. During his life, Samson waged a continual war upon the Philistines : at one time carrying away the gates of their city ; at another, burning their crops. At length he was made prisoner, and his eyes put out. While the Philistines were feasting and making merry over their victory, Samson was brought out to make sport for them. Wearied, he leaned against the pillars that supported the house in which the Philistines were assembled ; then the Spirit of God came upon him, and, his strength returning, he shook the pillars, and the house fell, killing himself and three thousand of his enemies.

The pious and humble Gedeon, who fought against the Madianites, was also very renowned.

43.—The Pious Ruth.

[A. C. 1292.]

1. During the time of the Judges, a certain man of Bethlehem went, with his wife and his two sons, into the land of Moab. His name was Elimelech, and his wife's name, Noemi. His sons married women of Moab. In time, Elimelech and his two sons died. Oppressed with grief, Noemi returned to Bethlehem, and her two daughters-in-law resolved to accompany her.

2. When they had come some distance on the way, Noemi strove to persuade her daughters-in-law to return to their own country. Orpha yielded, but Ruth would not; so Ruth came to Bethlehem with Noemi. They returned at the harvest time, and, being poor, Ruth went into the fields to glean the ears of corn left by the reapers.

3. Led by the hand of God, she went to glean in the fields of Boöz, a man of great wealth, and a relation of Elimelech. During the day, Boöz came into the fields to see the reapers. When he saw Ruth and heard with what courage she had followed Noemi, and with what fidelity she served her, he spoke kindly to her, and told her to remain with his servants and to follow his reapers; besides, when she was thirsty, to go to the vessels and drink. Boöz, moreover, commanded the reapers to let fall, now and then, handfuls of corn, that she might gather them without shame.

4. Some time after this Boöz married Ruth. The Lord blessed them and gave them a son, named Obed. He was the father of Isai, the father of David. From this family our Savior, Jesus Christ, descended.

The Moabites were not Jews, but strangers and enemies; hence our Savior, in descending from Ruth, a Moabite, wished to show that He was the Savior not of the Jews alone, but of all mankind.

44.—The Sons of Heli.

[A. C. 1152.]

1. Whilst Heli the high priest was judge in Israel, there lived a pious couple named Alcana and his wife Anna. Anna had no children, for which she grieved very much. On a certain day she came to the tabernacle of the Lord at Silo, where, weeping and praying, she said : “O Lord, God of hosts ! if thou wilt give me a son, I will consecrate him to Thee.” God heard her prayer, and gave her a son, whom she called Samuel.

2. When Samuel was three years old, his mother took him to Heli the high priest, at Silo. Here she consecrated him to God ; and Samuel served the Lord in the tabernacle, and grew in favor with God and man.

3. Samuel and John the Baptist are much alike in their histories. Both were a gift for the prayers of their parents ; both were early consecrated to God ; and both preached penance to the people. Samuel was the last judge and the immediate precursor of the great King David ; John the Baptist was the last of the prophets and the precursor of Jesus Christ, the Eternal King. Samuel anointed David ; John baptized Jesus.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 43.—Who went to Moab ? Who returned to Bethlehem ? Who accompanied her ? Where did Ruth go ? Who met her ? What did Boöz say ? Who married Ruth ? Who was Obed ? Isai ? David ? From whom is Jesus Christ descended ?

4. Heli had two wicked sons — Ophni and Phinees. When the people came to Silo to sacrifice to the Lord, the two young men were wont to come and by violence take the flesh of the sacrifice. They committed also other abominations in the sanctuary. Heli reproveth them but mildly. He did not chastise them as he should have done.

5. One night, while Heli slept within the inclosure of the sanctuary, and Samuel near him, the Lord called Samuel. He, thinking it was Heli, rose and went to him; but Heli told him he had not called him, and bade him go and sleep. This was repeated three times, when Heli understood it was the Lord who called. Then he bade Samuel answer Him and listen to what He would say. Samuel did so.

6. On the morrow, Heli called Samuel, who told him all the Lord had said; how the Lord would punish him and his two sons: the father, because he had not punished his sons, and the sons for their wickedness. When Heli heard this, he bowed before the will of God.

7. Some time after this there arose a bloody war between the Philistines and the Israelites. Of the latter, thirty thousand were slain, and among the dead were the sons of Heli. The ark, that had been carried into the battle, was taken. When Heli heard this terrible news, he fell from the stool on which he was sitting, and, breaking his neck, died.

8. The Philistines carried the ark into the temple of their god, Dagon. But the Lord afflicted them in many ways : their God was thrown down, their fields were over-run with mice, their cities were devastated by pestilence, until the Philistines were glad to send back the ark to Israel.

9. Samuel succeeded Heli in the office of judge. He assembled the people and pointed out their sins. He also promised them, if they would repent, the Lord would deliver them out of the hands of the Philistines. The people fasted and confessed their sins. God gave them the victory, and for many years peace reigned over the land.

[A. C. 1091.

1. When Samuel had grown old, he appointed his sons judges over Israel ; but they walked not in the fear of the Lord. Then the people asked for a king. When Samuel heard this he was very angry, because he wished that God alone should be King of Israel. God, however, yielded, and Samuel anointed Saul king. He was a beautiful and valiant youth, from the tribe of Benjamin, and stood head and shoulders above any other man in Israel.

2. In the beginning of his reign, the Lord was with Saul, and gave him the victory over his enemies. On one occasion he unfortunately disobeyed God.

He was commanded to cut off the Amalimites, and to spare nothing ; but, in the pride of his power, he spared the best of the flocks, and, on his return, built triumphal arches to celebrate his victory. For this he was cut off from the throne of Israel, and his posterity forbidden to succeed him.

What is said of Heli and his sons ? What is said of Samuel ? How did Heli die ? How did his sons die ? What happened to the Philistines ? Who succeeded Heli ? What did Samuel promise ? What reigned over the land ?

3. Saul was a figure of the Jewish Church. Chosen by God, at first she surpassed all others in her knowledge of God and the graces with which she was endowed. But, little by little, she fell. She forgot her obedience, her humility, her charity, and, in the pride of her insolence, trusted alone in her sacrifices. She also rejected the Christian Church, chosen to succeed her. Saul persecuted David; so did the Jews persecute Jesus Christ. David wept for the death of Saul; so did Jesus Christ weep over Jerusalem.

[A. C. 1066.

1. At the command of God, Samuel went to Bethlehem, to the house of Isai. When he arrived, David, the youngest of the sons of Isai, was in the fields tending his father's flocks. Samuel sent for him, and, taking a horn of oil, anointed him. As the Spirit of God came upon David, it departed from Saul.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 45.—What did the people ask for? Who was anointed king? What is said of Saul? How did he reign in the beginning? For what was Saul cut off from the throne of Israel? How was Saul a figure of the Jewish Church?

2. Saul became subject to fits of melancholy, and an evil spirit haunted him. On such occasions David was brought in to play upon his harp and soothe the troubled mind of the king. Thus David was introduced into Saul's house. Moreover, Saul made David his armor-bearer, not knowing that he had been consecrated king. As often as David played, Saul was soothed.

[A. C. 1058.

1. A new war broke out between the Philistines and the Israelites. The Philistines were encamped on one mountain, the Israelites on another directly opposite—a narrow valley lying between them. A giant, named Goliath, advanced from the camp of the Philistines. His height was six cubits and a span; he had on his head a brazen helmet, and was clothed in a heavy coat of mail. The staff of his spear was like a weaver's beam.

2. Thus arrayed, Goliath defied the armies of Israel, asking that a man be sent to fight him. For forty days this giant presented himself,—to the shame of Saul and the terror of the Israelites, for no man dared to meet him.

David came to the camp to see how it fared with his brothers. When he saw Goliath, and heard his taunts, his blood boiled within him, and, coming to Saul, he said: "I will fight this Philistine."

3. At first Saul refused, but, on the representations of David, at length yielded. Then Saul clothed David in his own armor; but, unaccustomed to it, David put it off, and, choosing five smooth stones from the brook, took his sling and went forth to meet Goliath.

4. When the giant saw him, he despised him, asking if he thought he was a dog. But David feared not; he went forth in the might and the power of God. When the two champions drew near to each other, David chose one of the stones that he carried with him, and, casting it with his sling, struck the Philistine on the forehead with such force, that he fell with his face to the ground. Then David ran and, drawing the sword of Goliath from its sheath, cut off his head.

5. When the Philistines saw their champion was slain, they fled ; but the Israelites, shouting and pursuing, killed many of them, and pillaged their camp.

This victory of David over Goliath was a figure of Christ's victory over the devil. As Goliath for forty days insulted the armies of Israel, so did the devil for four thousand years war against God's kingdom on earth ; and as David conquered Goliath with a staff and five smooth stones, so did Jesus Christ conquer the devil by His Cross and His five wounds.

1. When Saul and the army returned from their victory over the Philistines, the women of Israel came forth from the different cities playing and singing: "Saul hath killed his thousands, but David his tens of thousands." When Saul heard this he became exceedingly angry, and one day strove to strike David with his lance; but David escaped.

2. Shortly after this, Saul offered his daughter Michol in marriage to David, on condition that he would kill two hundred Philistines. Saul hoped, that the Philistines would kill David. But David killed the Philistines, and was only the more loved by the people. When Saul saw this, his hatred increased, and he became more decided on David's death.

3. In proportion as Saul hated David, did Jonathan, the king's son, love him. David and Jonathan made with each other a covenant of peace. They often spoke to each other of Saul's hatred. Jonathan reasoned with his father, and spoke of what David had done against the Philistines. For the moment Saul was appeased.

4. For the fourth time David went to war with the Philistines. His victory only aroused anew the anger and jealousy of Saul, who strove to strike him with his javelin, but David escaped for the second time. Again Jonathan pleaded for his friend: Saul's anger would not be appeased, and in his rage he even drew his sword to kill his own son.

5. When Jonathan saw this, he went to David, and told him what had happened, and advised him to flee. Weeping, Jonathan sent David away, but bade him never forget the covenant they had made, nor what they had sworn to the Lord.

it not. David's men would have killed Saul, but David would not allow them, contenting himself with cutting off the hem of Saul's robe.

2. On another occasion Saul pursued David into the desert of Hachila. While Saul and his general, Abner, together with the whole army were asleep, David and Abisai entered the camp. Abisai would have run Saul through with his spear, but David forbade him. David, however, took the spear that was at the king's head.

3. When they were gone some distance from the camp, David cried to the king, and he awoke. When Saul saw, by the loss of his spear, how he had been in David's power, and how, for the second time, David had spared him, he repented, and returned with his army, while David went his way.

4. War again broke out between the Philistines and the Israelites. Saul assembled an army and went forth to meet the enemy. In the battle Saul was mortally wounded, and, fearing he might fall into the hands of the Philistines, fell on his own sword, and died. By his sinful death, David was freed from danger, but he rejoiced not; he only saw the virtues and good qualities of the king. In this same battle Jonathan was also killed. When David heard of his friend's death, he wept bitterly, calling him brother, and comparing his love for him to the love of a mother for her child.

1. After Saul's death David was chosen king of Israel. He established his residence at Jerusalem, and, by the number of his armies and the brilliancy of his victories, was very renowned amongst the neighboring nations. He had twelve generals, each with an army of twenty-four thousand men under him, and, over all, Abner was placed general-in-chief.

2. During his long and turbulent reign David carried on many wars. In turn, he subdued the Philistines, the Moabites, the Syrians, the Edomites, and the Ammonites. By his victories, immense treasures of gold and great quantities of booty were brought to Jerusalem. When David died, he left a kingdom that extended from Egypt to the Euphrates. In every respect this was the most brilliant period in the history of Israel, as well for its victories abroad as for the wisdom of its legislation at home.

3. David paid much attention to the administration of justice. He chose wise men for his counselors and upright men to rule the people. He also appointed honest men to guard the royal treasures and manage the crown lands. Order was everywhere.

4. David, moreover, strove, as well by his own example as by his influence, to cultivate and spread the worship of the true God among his subjects. On Mount Sion he built a magnificent tent in which to place the ark of the covenant. When all things were ready, the ark was carried thither with great pomp and show. In the procession were all the princes of the people, clad in purple robes, while the priests wore their richest vestments. Three thousand armed men served as a guard of honor, whilst the people attended in countless numbers.

5. Those who marched before, and those who immediately surrounded the ark, played upon lutes and harps, and on cymbals and trumpets. David himself walked before the priests, playing on his harp, while, at every few steps, a bull and heifer were offered in sacrifice to the Lord.

6. After this, David divided the priests into twenty-four classes, and each, in its turn, was commanded to serve before the Lord. From amongst the Levites were chosen four thousand singers, whose duty it was to chant, day by day, the praises of God, and to play on all manner of musical instruments.

of Absolom.

1. David committed two grievous crimes : first, he persuaded Bethsabee to sin with him, and then, to hide her shame, caused Urias, her husband, to be murdered. But the Lord sent the prophet Nathan to him, who fearlessly reproached him with his crimes. David humbly acknowledged his faults and confessed his sins against the Lord. At the sight of his humiliation, God pardoned him, but, as a punishment, sent him many trials.

2. Of these, the most severe was the revolt of his son Absolom, the most beautiful man in Israel. Absolom began by flattering the people and pandering to their prejudices. When he thought himself strong enough, he openly revolted. From all sides the people ran to his standard. When David heard this, he left Jerusalem, and, passing over the brook Cedron, went barefooted and his head uncovered, up the Mount of Olives, weeping on the way.

3. A man from the house of Saul, named Semei, met David as he fled, and, throwing stones at him, cursed him, calling him a man of blood. Abisai, one of David's servants, wished to kill Semei, but David forbade him, hoping God might perhaps turn his curses into blessings.

4. In the meantime Absalom pursued his father beyond the Jordan; the two armies met, and Absalom was defeated. While he fled, mounted on a mule, Absalom passed under a large oak-tree, in the branches of which his hair became entangled, and, the mule passing on, he was left hanging by the hair. When Joab, one of the king's generals, heard this, he ran and thrust three spears into the ungrateful heart of Absalom. He threw the body into a deep pit, and cast upon it a great heap of stones.

5. When David heard of his son's death, he was greatly afflicted, and, weeping, cried out: "My son Absolom, would to God I had died in your stead, Absolom, my son Absolom." After this, David returned to Jerusalem, accompanied by his army and a great multitude of people, who came forth to meet him.

6. David is a figure of Jesus Christ—in his family residence, Bethlehem; in the obscurity of his youth; in his victory over Goliath; in his sorrow when he passed over the brook Cedron; by his ascent of the Mount of Olives; in his generosity to his persecutors; and, finally, in his triumphal entry into Jerusalem.

7. As David had to contend against two enemies, Saul and Absolom, so have two enemies risen against Christ and his Church—the first, Judaism, which the Church replaced; the second, heresy, which has so often risen against the Catholic Church, and, by flattering the passions of men, succeeded in blinding the multitude, and leading them astray.

52.—The Last Days of David.

[A. C. 1014.]

1. David reigned over Israel from his thirtieth to seventieth year. When he saw his end approaching, he called together the princes and principal men of the nation, and told them how he had intended to build a temple to the Lord; how he had gathered together gold and silver, brass and iron, and wood and stone, but that God had forbidden him, as he was a man of blood and of many wars. God, however, would allow his son Solomon to build the temple.

2. Then David gave Solomon minute directions as to its construction, and warned him that it was not a house for man he was building, but a dwelling-place for the Lord. David, besides, told Solomon never to forsake the Lord, but to serve him with a docile heart; and, further,

David died, and was buried on Mount Sion, and Solomon, his son, succeeded him.

A. M. 2989.] 53.—The Wisdom of Solomon. [A. C. 1011.

1. In the beginning of his reign Solomon loved the Lord, and walked in his father's footsteps. One night the Lord appeared to him, and bade him ask what he would. Solomon asked for wisdom, that he might rule with justice. When the Lord heard this, He was much pleased, and gave Solomon not only the wisdom he had asked for, but also riches, and honors, and a long life.

2. Besides, God gave him a true knowledge of all things in nature, so that he understood the admirable order of creation, the power of the elements, the course of the seasons, the position of the stars, the instincts of animals, and the thoughts of men, together with a knowledge of the diversity of plants, and the medicinal virtues of their roots. All nature was open to his mind, whence it came to pass that the wise men of the world, and the princes of nations, stood in admiration at the wisdom of Solomon.

3. One day two women came to him demanding judgment in their case. The first said: "This woman and myself live together in one house. We have each had a child. During the night her son died. When she discovered this, she rose, whilst I slept, and took my son from my side, and laid her dead son in his place. In the morning I saw the dead child, but, on a closer examination, I discovered it was not mine."

4. In answer to this, the other said: "Surely, your son is dead, and mine lives." But the first answered, "It is not so." Thus the two women disputed before the king. Then Solomon ordered a sword to be brought and the living child to be divided, and half to be given to one, and half to the other. When the mother of the child heard this, she was filled with dismay, and overwhelmed with agony. Torn with a mother's love for her child, she cried out to the king: "My lord, give her the child alive; do not kill it." But the other said: "Let it be divided."

5. Then Solomon ordered the living child to be given to the first: "for," said he, "she is the mother." Soon this judgment was known in all the land of Israel, and the people were filled with admiration for Solomon, because they saw the Spirit of God was in him.

1. In the fourth year of his reign, Solomon began to build on Mount Moria, in Jerusalem, a temple to the Lord. During its construction, seventy thousand men were employed to cut and bring the wood that was needed, while eighty thousand more were engaged in quarrying and dressing the stone. Besides these, thirty-six hundred overseers were needed to see that all was done according as it had been planned. Ten thousand Israelites were sent to cut down cedars and pine-trees on the mountains of Libanus.

2. The building itself was of vast and magnificent proportions. Its length was sixty cubits, its height thirty, and its breadth twenty cubits. Besides this, there were added porticoes, that ran round the main building, and also courts for the use of the priests and the people. The interior was lined with cedar, and ornamented with carvings representing cherubim, palm-trees, and all kinds of flowers. Every thing needed in the temple for the worship of God was of the purest gold, among which are enumerated ten tables, a large number of candlesticks, and a hundred chalices.

3. At the end of seven years the temple was finished, when the princes and ancients of the people assembled together, and carried the ark from Mount Sion to the sanctuary prepared for it. The people walked before, while the Levites played upon cymbals and harps, and a hundred priests sounded their trumpets, and all the multitude sang: "Praise to the Lord, because He is good; and His mercy endureth forever." On the way, an innumerable number of oxen and sheep were offered in sacrifice.

4. When the ark was placed within the sanctuary, a cloud filled the temple, and the multitude fell upon their knees. Solomon, lifting up his hands towards heaven, said: "Lord, the God of Israel! nothing can be compared to Thee; nor can the heavens contain Thee, much less this house: nevertheless I have built it, that here Thou mayest listen to the prayers of the people, and mayest be merciful to them."

5. Whilst Solomon was yet praying and the people were round about adoring, fire came down from heaven and consumed the sacrifices. God again appeared to Solomon, and told him his prayer was heard; and this temple he had built should ever be a place where the prayers of those who came to offer their vows would be heard.

His End.

1. For the first twenty years of his reign, Solomon walked in the footsteps of his father David. His name and his greatness were known throughout the world. Nations paid him tribute, and his vessels whitened the seas from India to Spain, carrying gold, and ebony, and precious stones to his capital.

2. In this general prosperity many cities were built through the land, and Jerusalem rose to the highest splendor and magnificence. Solomon built a palace of untold wealth; his throne was of ivory, overlaid with gold, while within the palace hung fifty massive bucklers of the same precious metal.

3. The vessels, the chalices, the utensils, and every thing necessary for the service of the Lord, were of the purest gold. The people lived in peace, and neighboring nations sought his friendship. Even the Queen of Saba, dazzled by the splendor of his fame, came to visit him, that she might for herself see his magnificence and prove his wisdom. These were the days of Israel's glory.

4. But Solomon did not end his reign as he began it. When he grew old, he was led away from God by the blandishments of pagan women; his heart became corrupted, and he fell into idolatry; nay, to please his women, he built a temple for their idols. When the Lord saw this, he became exceedingly angry, and told Solomon that, for his sins, the kingdom would be divided and given to another: "yet," said the Lord, "for the love I bore thy father David, I will leave two tribes to thy son."

5. Hurried on by his passion, and blinded by his sins, Solomon fell from his greatness. He oppressed his subjects, and scandalized his people, until discontent and revolt showed themselves everywhere. Amid general gloom, Solomon, the wisest of men, died—a sad example of the weakness and fickleness of man, and the vanity of life.

lowing the advice of the young men, Roboam said to the people, on the third day: "My father put a heavy yoke upon you ; I will make it heavier. My father beat you with whips ; I will chastise you with scorpions."

2. When the people heard this, they became very angry, and stoned Aduran, the king's messenger, and, choosing Jeroboam, one of Solomon's servants, made him king over ten tribes. The two tribes of Juda and Benjamin adhered to Roboam.

Thus, according as God had foretold Solomon, were the Jewish people divided into two kingdoms—Israel and Juda. Jerusalem remained the capital of Juda, while Samaria, at a later period, became the capital of Israel.

3. This sinful separation of the ten tribes from their harsh, yet lawful king, is a figure of so many who, by heresy and sin, separate themselves from the Catholic Church, God's true representative upon earth.

Jerusalem represented truth ; Samaria, heresy. At the former was the temple, where alone sacrifice pleasing to God could be offered. There, was the ark of the covenant, and there alone, was the priesthood that God had established.

4. The separated tribes, from which was formed the Kingdom of Israel, were by far more numerous than the two that remained faithful. This mattered not. As with heresy, so with them ; in a few years they entirely disappeared from history, leaving but a name behind them.

5. To the two tribes God showed mercy, for from them came the Savior of the world. So shall it be with the Catholic Church : she has seen the rise and fall of all forms of heresies, many of which, for a time, seemed to threaten her existence ; but they have passed away, while she remains, as she will remain, to the end.

AGE V. DECLINE OF THE PEOPLE OF ISRAEL.

FROM ROBOAM TO JESUS CHRIST.

THE KINGDOM OF ISRAEL TO ITS DESTRUCTION BY THE KINGS OF ASSYRIA.

57.—A General View.

1. Soon after their separation from the Kingdom of Juda, the people of Israel fell into idolatry. It happened thus ; Jeroboam said to himself : “If my people go up to Jerusalem to offer sacrifice, as the law commands, they will soon return to Roboam and abandon me.” So he made two calves of gold, and, setting them up, said to the people : “Go not up to Jerusalem, for your gods are here.” The people obeyed him, and adored the idols.

2. During his whole reign, Roboam made war upon Jeroboam ; nor was peace ever permanently established between the two kingdoms. So bitter became the strife, that frequently the stranger and the pagan were called in to help the weaker side.

For two hundred and fifty-three years, Israel, whose capital was at Samaria, maintained a separate existence. During this time, Israel had nineteen kings, most of whom came to the throne by violence, or by the murder of their predecessors. Disorder, vice, idolatry, reigned supreme.

3. To punish the kings and correct the people, and that He might leave them no shadow of excuse for their wickedness, God, from time to time, raised up saintly men, called Prophets. These prophets preached and wrought miracles, both in the kingdom of Israel and in the kingdom of Juda.

4. God did every thing to save his chosen people : at one time humbling them by the hands of their enemies, at another cheering them on with the promises of the Redeemer. But they were a perverse and stiff-necked people, nor would they obey. Hence, God could say to them, in all justice : “ O Israel ! thy destruction is from thyself.”

A. M. 3092.] 58.—God Sends the Prophet Elias. [A. C. 908.

1. Achab was one of the most wicked of all the kings that ruled over Israel. In concert with his pagan wife, Jezabel, he built a temple to the god Baal. He appointed four hundred and fifty priests to serve this false god, whilst at the same time he put to death all the priests of the true God he could find in his kingdom.

2. When God saw the wickedness of this king, He sent Elias the prophet to him to tell him no rain should fall in Israel. When Achab heard this, he became exceedingly angry, and secretly sought to put Elias to death.

But God bade the prophet go to the torrent of Carith, where the ravens would feed him.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 57.—How did the people of Israel fall into idolatry? What did Roboam do against Jeroboam? How long did the kingdom of Israel last? What was its character? Who were the prophets? What did they do?

3. Elias did as he was commanded, and night and morning the ravens brought him bread and flesh, and he drank from the torrent. In time, the torrent also dried up, when the Lord told Elias to go to Serepta, in the land of the Sidonians, where a widow would feed him.

4. Elias went, and, as he was entering the city, he met the widow, from whom he asked a little water to drink. When she went to bring it, Elias called after her to bring him also a little morsel of bread. But she answered: "I have but a handful of meal and a little oil in a cruse. I am gathering a few sticks wherewith to cook it for myself and my son, that we may eat it and die."

5. Elias bade her fear not, but to make a cake for him, and then to make one for herself and son: "For her meal would not fail, nor her oil diminish, until rain would fall upon the earth." The woman did as he commanded her, and her meal failed not, nor did her oil diminish.

6. Some time afterwards the widow's son died, and, at the prayer of Elias, the child was restored to life. When the woman saw what was done, she said to Elias: "Now I know you are a man of God."

A. M. 3096.] 59.—Elias and the Priests of Baal. [A. C. 904.]

1. For three years and six months no rain fell in Israel. Again Elias presented himself to Achab, who, with much anger, chid him for the distress that was then in the country. But Elias answered him that he had not plunged Israel into its present trouble, but the king himself by his sins and his idolatries.

2. Then Elias bade the king assemble all Israel upon Mount Carmel, and also the four hundred and fifty priests of Baal. Achab did so, and went himself to the mountain. When they were all assembled, Elias made the following proposition : "I am alone," said he ; "the priests of Baal are four hundred and fifty : let two bullocks be given us ; let them choose one, and I will choose the other ; let them kill their bullock, and I will kill mine ; and let each of us lay our bullock upon wood, but put no fire under it : then let them call upon their gods, and I will call upon my God ; and let the God that shall answer by fire, be God." The proposition pleased the people.

3. The priests of Baal prepared themselves with great solemnity, and, when they had dressed their bullock, laid it on the altar. From morning till noon they called upon Baal, but he heard them not.

Then Elias began to laugh at them, bidding them : "Cry louder ; perhaps Baal was asleep ; or may be entertaining himself with a friend ; or perhaps he might be on a journey, and away from home." They continued to cry all the louder, but no Baal spoke.

4. Elias built an altar also, and, dressing his bullock, laid it on it. He dug a trench round about the altar, and filled it with water ; he also poured water on the wood. Then he called upon the Lord to show His power, that the people might be converted.

5. While Elias was yet praying, fire came down from heaven and consumed the holocaust, as also the wood and the stones of the altar ; nay, the very water in the trench. When the people saw this, they fell on their faces and cried out : “The Lord, He is God ; the Lord, He is the true God.”

Then the priests of Baal were slain, and shortly after rain fell in great abundance.

60.—The Vineyard of Naboth.

1. A man, named Naboth, had a vineyard near the palace of King Achab. The king wished to buy it, but Naboth would not sell it ; so Achab became very angry. When Jezabel, the queen, heard what had happened, she sent for false witnesses, who accused Naboth “of having blasphemed against God and the king.” Naboth was stoned to death, and Achab took the vineyard.

2. By the command of God, Elias came to Achab, and told him, because he had done this wicked thing and unjustly taken the vineyard of Naboth, the dogs would lick his blood and eat the flesh of Jezabel.

This prophecy was fulfilled to the letter. Three years after, Achab was mortally wounded in battle, and the dogs licked his blood ; and some time after that, during the reign of Jehu, Jezabel, by the king’s orders, was thrown from a window, and trampled to death under the horses’ feet. When, some hours afterwards, her friends came to seek for the body, it was found torn to pieces by the dogs.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 59.—For how long did no rain fall ? What proposal did Elias make ? How did the priests of Baal act ? What did Elias do ? What was the result ?

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 60.—What is said of Naboth’s vineyard ? How did Achab get it ? What did Elias tell Achab ? How was this prophecy fulfilled ?

61.—The Prophet Eliseus.

1. By God's command, Elias chose Eliseus for his successor. When the time drew near that Elias should go to God, he strove to escape from Eliseus, but he could not. And while they were walking together, Elias was parted from Eliseus by a fiery chariot, and carried up into heaven by a whirlwind. The mantle of Elias fell upon Eliseus, and he was filled with the spirit and miraculous powers of his master.

2. One day Eliseus was insulted by some rude boys, who mockingly called him "Bald-head." The prophet threatened them in the name of the Lord, and, at the same instant, two bears came from the woods and tore forty of these wicked boys to pieces.

3. On another occasion, Naaman, a distinguished Syrian general, came to Eliseus to be cured of leprosy. When he came to the house where Eliseus was, the prophet sent him word by his servant to go and wash seven times in the Jordan and he would be clean. Naaman became exceedingly angry, because he thought he had been slighted by the prophet.

4. However, at the earnest advice of his servants, Naaman went, and, bathing seven times in the Jordan, was cured. When Naaman saw what was done, he returned to Eliseus, and acknowledged there was no God but the God of Israel. Then he besought the prophet to take a gift, but he would not.

5. When Naaman was gone, Giezi, Eliseus' servant, ran after him, and told him that two sons of the prophet's had just called upon his master, and he had been sent for a talent of silver and two changes of garments. Naaman gave him two talents of silver and Giezi returned to his master.

6. When Eliseus saw him, he asked: "Where he had been." But Giezi denied he had been anywhere. Eliseus became indignant at the lie, and said to him: "My spirit was with you when the man turned back from his chariot to meet you. Even now you have the silver and garments that were given you. As a punishment for your sin, the leprosy of Naaman shall stick to you forever." And Giezi went out a leper, white as snow.

7. After working many miracles, Eliseus died, and was buried. Some time after his death, a man died, and his friends came to bury him near the grave of Eliseus. But, suddenly a band of robbers coming upon them, they threw the dead man into the grave where the body of Eliseus lay. Scarce had the dead man touched the bones of Eliseus when he came to life and stood upon his feet.

This fact proves that even among the Jews God wrought miracles by the relics of His saints.

62.—Jonas the Prophet.

[A. C. 803.

1. After the death of Eliseus, God chose Jonas for His prophet. One day God bade him go to Ninive and preach penance, for the sins of the people had become very great.

Ninive was the capital of Assyria, and Jonas wished it to perish. Hence he fled to the sea, and embarked aboard a vessel going to Tharsis, thinking he would thus flee from the Lord.

2. When the ship had pushed out from the land, God sent a violent storm, so that the vessel was in danger of being lost. They cast lots to see who was the cause of the evil, and the lot fell upon Jonas. Then he told them what he had done, and advised them to cast him into the sea. The sailors cast him overboard, and immediately the sea became calm.

3. The Lord had prepared a great fish—a whale—which swallowed up Jonas. For three days and three nights the prophet was in the whale's belly. Then he prayed to the Lord for help. God heard him, and, on the third day, the fish vomited him out on dry land.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 61.—Who succeeded Elias? How did Elias go up to heaven? What fell upon Eliseus? What happened the rude boys? Tell the story of Naaman. What happened to Giezl? What happened to the dead man?

4. Jonas was a figure of Jesus Christ. Jonas was cast into the sea, that, by the loss of one, the crew might be saved. By the sacrifice of Christ the world was redeemed. Jonas was three days in the whale's belly; Christ was three days in the tomb.

5. God said to Jonas a second time: "Go into Ninive and cry, 'Yet forty days, and Ninive shall be destroyed.'" When the people heard these words, they believed in God, and, fasting, clothed themselves in sackcloth and ashes. Even the king shared in the general penance, and, by proclamation, commanded every one to abandon his sins, that perhaps God would spare the city. When God saw the sincerity of their repentance, He heard the prayer of the people, and did not destroy the city.

6. Jonas, fearing he might be considered a false prophet, was displeased, and, going, built for himself a booth outside the walls of the city. During the night the Lord caused an ivy to grow up, that it might shade the prophet from the heat of the sun. Jonas was much pleased; but in the following night God prepared a worm to strike the ivy, and it withered.

7. Then there came a hot, burning wind, while the rays of the sun beat upon the head of the prophet. Scorched by the heat, discouraged and dejected, Jonas wished to die. But the Lord said to him: "You are grieved and dejected for the loss of a miserable ivy that you neither planted nor made to grow: should I not spare Ninive, a great city, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand men?"

wicked. She set God at defiance, and despised His prophets, until, weary with her crimes, He resolved on her destruction.

2. Suddenly and unexpectedly, Salmanasar, King of Assyria, came with a powerful army, and laid siege to Samaria, the capital of Israel. After three years, he took the city, and led the greater portion of the inhabitants captives into Assyria, while those who remained became mixed with the neighboring nations.

3. The religion of the Samaritans was a compound of Judaism and paganism. The people of Judea hated the Samaritans, both because of their religion and because of their revolt. Hence, our Savior was called a Samaritan, because the Jews thought they could call a man no worse name.

Those who were led away into captivity never returned, but, becoming mixed with the people of Assyria and the surrounding nations, were lost to history, and perished as a people. Not a trace of the ten tribes remains to-day.

64.—The Old Tobias.

[A. C. 714.]

1. Among those who were led into captivity by Salmanasar, was a God-fearing man, named Tobias. From his youth he had avoided the society of the wicked, and kept the commandments. He spent much of his time in consoling his fellow-captives, and, by his charities, helping to relieve their wants. To feed the hungry, to clothe the naked, and in the night to bury the dead, was his usual care.

2. One day, wearied and exhausted with burying the dead, he returned to his house, and, lying down by the wall, fell asleep. Whilst he slept, the hot dung from a swallow's nest fell into his eyes, and he lost his sight.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 63.—Who destroyed Israel? How? What became of the people? What was the religion of the Samaritans? Why was Christ called a Samaritan?

Tobias bore his affliction without murmur, and strove to purify himself by his trials.

3. Tobias being rendered helpless by the loss of his sight, his wife

Anna went out every day to weave, that she might help to support him. One day she received, over and above her wages, a little kid. When Tobias heard it bleating, he began to fear lest it might have been gotten dishonestly; and not until he had been assured that it was a gift would he touch it.

65.—The Counsels of Tobias to his Son.

1. After Tobias had been proved in many tribulations, he thought he was going to die; so he called his son to him, that he might give him some advice.

“When I die,” said he, “fail not to bury me. Honor thy mother, nor forget what she suffered for thee. When she dies, bury her by my side. Fear God, and never sin; keep pride from your heart, and seek the counsel of the wise man.

2. “Do to another what you would wish him to do to you. Give alms according to your means: if you have much, give much; if little, give little: but give with a good heart. We are poor, it is true; but, if we fear God, and avoid sin, we will receive much.”

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 64.—What is said of Tobias? What did he do? How did Tobias lose his sight? What is said about the kid?

young Tobias went out to seek one, and he found a beautiful young man standing girded and ready for the road. It was the angel Raphael, but Tobias knew it not.

house, when the angel promised to lead the younger Tobias to Rages and back again. Tobias blessed them, and they departed.

3. At the end of the first day's journey they came to the River Tigris. When Tobias wished to wash his feet, a monstrous fish rose up to devour him. The angel bade him fear not, but seize the fish and draw it out. Tobias did so. Then, according to the directions of the angel, he took out the heart, and the gall, and the liver, and put them away to be used for medicine. They then roasted as much of the fish as they could eat; the rest they salted and took with them.

4. When they drew near to a certain city, the angel told Tobias that there lived there a man, named Raguel, a near relation; that, moreover, he had a daughter, named Sara, whom he must ask in marriage. When Raguel saw him, and heard who he was, he was exceedingly glad, and readily gave him his daughter. Tobias remained with his father-in-law during the rejoicings for his marriage, but Raphael went on to Rages and received the money for which they had come.

67.—The Return of Tobias.

1. When Tobias had been with Raguel for some time, he thought of returning home, lest his father might be uneasy at his delay. At first, Raguel strove to persuade him to remain; but when he saw the young man resolved to go, he divided his property, and gave him half as a marriage gift, and, blessing him and his daughter, dismissed them.

2. After they had come some distance on the way, Raphael and Tobias, leaving Sara, and the company to follow, went on before. By the advice of the angel, Tobias took with him the gall of the fish, which he had preserved.

Meanwhile the parents of Tobias became very anxious at the long delay of their son. His mother wept unceasingly, and every day went to the top of a neighboring hill, from which she could see a great way off.

3. At length she saw him in the distance, and recognized him at once. Then she ran back and told her husband that their son was coming. The old man, led by the hand, hastened to meet his son, and, kissing him, they both wept for joy. In the meantime the dog that had accompanied the younger Tobias on his journey ran on before, wagging his tail and jumping with delight.

4. When they had all thanked God for his mercies, Tobias anointed his father's eyes with the gall of the fish which he had brought with him, and immediately the old man recovered his sight. Falling on his knees, he praised God—as well because He had afflicted him with blindness, as now because He had cured him.

Seven days after this, Sara arrived, and, with her, the servants, the flocks, and the camels her father had given her, besides the money which Gabelus had paid. A great feast was made, and they gave themselves up to rejoicing.

5. When the days of the feast were finished, Tobias asked his father what reward they would give the young man that had accompanied him, or what recompense could be sufficient for all he had done for them. After consulting, they called the angel, and offered him half of all they possessed, but he refused. Then he bade them rejoice and give thanks to God for his mercies to them, to pray and to fast, and to fear not: “for,” said he, “I am Raphael, one of the angels that stand before God, and have been sent by the Lord to heal you.”

6. When they heard this, they were much troubled, and fell with their faces to the ground. But the angel said to them: “Fear not; it was God's will I should be with you; bless Him and sing His praise.” Then he disappeared, but they continued to praise God and to publish all His wonders. At a good old age they were both gathered to their fathers, full of grace before God and men.

PART SECOND.

THE KINGDOM OF JUDA FROM THE YEAR 975 TO THE BIRTH OF JESUS CHRIST.

A. M. 3025.] 68.—A Summary of the Principal [A. C. 975. Events.

1. From the death of King Roboam to the year 588 before Christ, eighteen princes of the house of David successively governed Juda. Some of them were men of wisdom, who, fearing God, listened to the prophets that were sent to them ; but many of them were wicked and perverse, who gave themselves up to idolatry and led the people into sin.

2. To punish these latter, in the year 606 God permitted Jerusalem to be taken by the Babylonians, and the principal men among the Jews to be led into captivity. Eighteen years afterwards—that is, in the year 588 before Christ—the entire population of Juda was carried into Babylon, and the kingdom of Juda destroyed.

3. For seventy years the Jews remained captives in Babylon, until they learned to humble themselves and acknowledge their sins. During their captivity their faith was strengthened by the words of the prophets, and by their piety they edified their conquerors, and spread amongst them a knowledge of the Redeemer.

4. At the end of seventy years—536 before Christ—God led the Jews back to their own country. They immediately rebuilt Jerusalem and the temple, and for two hundred years lived in peace and contentment.

After the death of Alexander the Great — 323 years before Christ — they were again persecuted by different nations, until Herod, a stranger, ascended the throne of David. Then, according to the prophecy of Jacob, the time was come when Christ should be born.

69.—The Kings of Juda from Roboam to Ezechias.

1. Abia, a brave but wicked prince, succeeded his father, Roboam, on the throne of Juda. In turn he was succeeded by Asa, who, in the beginning, ruled with justice, and by his many brilliant victories added to the glory of Juda, but at last ended in forgetting God.

2. Josaphat, who succeeded him, was better than any of his three predecessors. He abolished idolatry, and appointed God-fearing men to judge the people and teach them the law of God. For his piety, God gave him the victory over his enemies.

3. Josaphat was succeeded by his son Joram, a cruel and idolatrous prince, who, in turn, was succeeded by Ochozias, as wicked as his predecessor. Ochozias was succeeded by his wife, Athalia, who, for seven years, committed all kinds of abominations in Juda.

She murdered all the children of the royal family, Joas, the grandson of Ochozias, excepted, who was hidden by Joiada the high-priest. He afterwards ascended the throne, and, during the life-time of Joida, was a virtuous and pious prince, but, after the death of the high-priest, like so many of his predecessors, fell into idolatry.

4. Amasias, Ozias, and Joatham successively reigned in Juda. In some respects they were better than their predecessors; yet they often fell into idolatry..

Once Ozias wished to usurp the duties of the priesthood, and, entering into the temple, insisted upon burning incense before the Lord. The priests boldly resisted him, and ordered him to leave the sanctuary.

5. Ozias became exceedingly angry, and threatened to strike the priests with the censer he held in his hand. On the instant he was struck by the hand of God, and covered with a leprosy that never left him. Until the day of his death, Ozias remained a public example of how God punishes the presumption of a layman who assumes the duties of a priest.

A. M. 3301.] 70.—The Pious King Ezechias. [A. C. 699.

1. The noble and pious Ezechias ascended the throne of Juda after the death of Achaz, the wicked and idolatrous son of Joatham. Like David, he was a man according to God's own heart. He purified the temple and abolished idolatry, for which God blessed him, and Juda rose in power and influence.

2. During his reign, Sennacherib, the King of Assyria, laid siege to Jerusalem, but Ezechias feared not. While the Assyrians lay round about the city, Ezechias went to the temple and prayed to the Lord. He also sent the priests, clad in their robes of mourning, to Isaias the prophet, begging him also to pray in their behalf. The Lord heard his prayer, and in the night sent His angel into the camp of the Assyrians, and there were slain ere the morning a hundred and eighty thousand of the enemy. The rest perished in their flight.

3. About this time, Ezechias fell seriously ill, and the prophet Isaias came to him and warned him to arrange his affairs, for he was about to die. When the king heard this, he became greatly alarmed, and, turning his face to the temple, prayed earnestly to the Lord. His prayer was heard, and fifteen years were added to his life. His reign was one of the most glorious in the history of Juda.

71.—The Kings immediately preceding the Babylonish Captivity.

1. Manasses succeeded his father, Ezechias, on the throne of Juda. He was a wicked prince, and wantonly shed the blood of the innocent. He rebuilt the altars of the false gods which his father had destroyed ; and, influenced by his bad example, the people became more sinful than even the pagans. As a punishment for his crimes, God permitted this wicked king to fall into the hands of the Assyrians, who led him a captive to Babylon.

2. In his captivity he learned to acknowledge his faults, and to do penance for his sins. God took compassion on him, and brought him back to Jerusalem, where, in his latter days, he strove to repair the scandals of his early reign.

3. His son Ammon succeeded him, only to imitate him in his wickedness, but his grandson Josias, strove to follow the example of his latter days. During the reign of Josias, idolatry was rooted out and religion restored. That he might not see the evils that were about to come upon the kingdom of Juda, God took him to Himself, after a short reign of nine years.

4. He was succeeded by Joachaz, Joachim, and Sede-cias—all wicked princes—who led the people away from God, and, by their idolatries, brought about the captivity of Babylon. With but few exceptions, Juda was cursed with bad kings. Her history is sin, and its punishment, until, at length, she ended in crucifying Jesus Christ, and being cast off by God.

72.—The Prophets.

1. From the beginning of the reign of Roboam to the captivity of Sedecias, God raised up men gifted with special powers, and into whom he breathed his own Spirit. These were the Prophets, whom He sent to preach penance to the people, and to threaten kings with the judgments that awaited them if they continued to forget God.

2. The most renowned of the prophets who rose during the early history of Juda were Joel, Micheas, and Isaias. These prophets were generally poor men, but bold in the power of God ; nor did they fear to resist kings, or to cry out against their sins.

3. At their preaching, many repented, and for a while returned to God. For their fearless war against sin, and their open denunciations of both kings and people, some of them were put to death. Though dead, their words lived in the hearts of the just, among whom the true faith was preserved, and by whom the hopes and promises that had been made of the Redeemer that was to come were handed down to cheer the world.

73.—The Captivity of Babylon.

(FROM 606 TO 536 YEARS A. C.)

1. After the death of the pious King Josias, Nebuchodonosor, King of Babylon, came and besieged Jerusalem. When he had taken the city, he carried back with him to Babylon the principal men of the nation, together with a part of the sacred vessels of the temple. This happened in the year 606 before Christ, and was the beginning of what in history is known as the "Babylonian Captivity."

2. Three years after this, Nebuchodonosor returned to Jerusalem, and carried Jechonias, the king, back with him to Babylon. He also, on this occasion, carried with him into captivity a great part of the people, besides immense treasures. He left Sedecias to rule over the remnant of Juda.

3. Sedecias revolted, and Nebuchodonosor returned for the third time, and destroyed Jerusalem, and burned the gorgeous and magnificent temple of Solomon, carrying with him nearly the entire Jewish people. He put out the eyes of Sedecias, and, loading him with chains, carried him a captive to Babylon. This happened in the year 588 before Christ.

4. At this time lived Jeremias the prophet, who, long before, had warned the people of the destruction that was about to come upon them. Alone and in sorrow, he continued to weep over Jerusalem, and at times presented himself to the people with a chain round his neck, as a sign of the captivity that was near at hand. But his warnings were received with curses and persecutions.

5. When at length Jerusalem was destroyed, Jeremias remained to console the remnant of the nation that was left, and to weep amid the ruins of the once glorious city.

In his grand Lamentations, Jeremias cries out from the depth of his sorrow : " How sorrowful, alas ! are the ways that lead to Mount Moria ; there are now none to come to the feast. The gates of the city are destroyed ; the priests weep ; the virgins are without ornament. O you who pass by the way, see if there is sorrow like unto my sorrow ! Alas ! is this the city of magnificence, the perfect in beauty, the joy of the world ? "

6. During their captivity the Jews did penance for their sins and became sincerely converted to the Lord. Nebuchodonosor was kind and considerate to them ; but they wept and sighed to return to their country. "By the rivers of Babylon," cried they, "we sat and wept when we remembered Sion. On the branches of the willow-trees we hung up our harps; for how could we sing the songs of Sion in a strange land?"

A. M. 3410.] 74.—Daniel and the Three Young Men. [A. C. 590.

1. Amongst the captives at Babylon were several youths of the royal race. Amongst these were Daniel and his three companions, Azarias, Ananias, and Misael. By the command of king Nebuchodonosor, they were selected, as well for the beauty of their persons as for their intelligence, and orders were given to feed them daily from the royal table.

2. But by the Jewish law several kinds of meats were forbidden to be eaten. These young men fearing they would be required to eat of these forbidden meats, came to the chief eunuch of the king, and begged him to let them, for ten days, be fed on pulse, and to drink water only, and then if they were not fatter and fairer than those who were fed from the king's table, they would submit and eat what he wished.

3. The proposition pleased Malasar, the chief eunuch, and at the end of ten days their faces were fatter and fairer than those who had been fed from the king's table. From this time forward they were fed on pulse and water only.

4. God gave them, besides comeliness of person, great abundance of wisdom, so that when sometime afterward they were called before the king, none were found equal to them. Thus they were selected and placed in the service of Nebuchodonosor.

75.—Daniel saves Susanna.

1. Among the Jewish captives at Babylon was a man, named Joachim, as distinguished for his goodness as his wife, Susanna, was for her beauty and her virtue. Many of the Jews came to his house, for there two of the ancients were wont to administer justice.

2. Joachim had an orchard near his house, where his wife, Susanna, was accustomed to walk at mid-day. The two judges, who were wicked men, knew this, and one day concealed themselves in the orchard. According to custom, Susanna came in to walk, when they came to her and strove to persuade her to commit sin with them, but she refused. They then threatened to accuse her before the people.

3. When Susanna saw herself thus straitened on every side, she knew not what to do. "If I yield," said she, "I am ruined before God; and if I do not, I will not escape your hands. However, it is better to fall into your hands innocent, than to sin against God."

So she cried with a loud voice, and the old men cried also. When the people were come together, the two men accused Susanna.

4. On the morrow Susanna was cited before the tribunal. She came accompanied by her parents and friends, all weeping for the disgrace that had happened to them. The old men renewed their charge, and faith was placed in their words. Susanna was condemned to death, but she prayed to the Lord and He heard her.

5. When they were leading her forth to be stoned, Daniel, enlightened by the Spirit of God, cried out: "Let there be another trial; these men have borne false witness." The people, hearing this, returned in haste.

6. Then Daniel commanded the two old men to be separated one from the other. When this was done, Daniel asked the first, under what tree he had seen Susanna. He answered: "Under a mastic-tree." He was then put aside and the other asked, "Under what tree he had seen the woman." He answered: "Under a holm-tree."

7. When the people heard their contradictory stories, they saw how false had been their accusation against the virtuous Susanna, and praised God who thus preserved those who trusted in Him.

From that day, Daniel was great in the eyes of the people.

Fiery Furnace.

Misael, and Azarias excepted. Daniel was not present, or he also would have disobeyed. The Babylonians, seeing that the three young men would not adore the idol, accused them to the king.

2. When Nebuchodonosor saw that even he could not induce them to adore his statue, filled with fury, he ordered a furnace to be heated seven times more than usual, and the young men to be thrown into it. His order was immediately obeyed. However, the men who threw them in were burned to death.

3. An angel descended with the three young men, whilst God sent a soft, dewy air, that blew within the furnace like an evening breeze. Not a hair of their heads was singed, nor were their clothes touched by the fire.

4. When the king heard this wonder, he came and looked into the furnace himself. "Did we not," he asked, "cast three men, bound, into the fire? Behold! I see four loose, and unhurt; and the fourth is like the Son of God." Then the king cried out: "Servants of God, come forth."

5. They obeyed ; and when the king saw there was no sign of fire upon them, he thanked God, who had thus saved His servants, because they had preferred to die rather than sin. Nebuchodonosor also published a decree that no one should blaspheme against the God of the Jews. The young men were advanced to the highest dignities.

A. M. 3466.] 77.—Daniel and King Baltassar. [A. C. 534.]

1. After Nebuchodonosor's death, his grandson, Baltassar, reigned in Babylon. He made a great feast for his nobles and their wives. When they were all full of wine, the king ordered the golden vessels which his grandfather, Nebuchodonosor, had brought from the temple of Jerusalem, to be brought in, that he and his guests might drink from them. Whilst they were drinking, a hand appeared upon the wall, and wrote certain words.

2. When Baltassar saw this, he became greatly troubled, and, trembling with fear, sent for his soothsayers ; but no one could interpret the handwriting. Then Daniel was sent for.

He said : " These are the words : MANE, THECEL, PHARES ; and this is the interpretation : Mane—the days of thy kingdom are numbered, and it is at an end ; Thecel—thy merits are weighed in the balance, and thou art found wanting ; Phares—thy kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians."

3. That same night this prophecy was fulfilled. The Medes and the Persians, by turning the bed of the River Euphrates, entered Babylon during the night, and Baltassar was slain, and his kingdom divided. Darius the Mede succeeded to the kingdom of Babylon.

78.—Daniel and the Idol Bel.

1. Cyrus, King of Persia, soon made himself master of Babylon. He showed much attention to Daniel, and often invited him to his table. One day, Cyrus asked Daniel why he would not adore Bel, the god of the Babylonians. Daniel answered that he adored only the living God, by whom all things were created.

2. But the king said : “So is Bel a living god ; he eats daily a dozen measures of flour and forty sheep, and, besides, drinks six pitchers of wine.” But Daniel only laughed at him, and bade the king not be deceived : “for clay and brass could not eat.” Then Cyrus sent for the priests of Bel, and told them what Daniel had said.

3. The priests proposed that the king should himself place the meats before Bel, and seal the door of the temple, and if, on the morrow, they were not eaten, then they would willingly suffer death. This proposition pleased Cyrus.

4. When Cyrus had put the priests out of the temple, he set the meats before Bel. But Daniel, in the presence of the king, sifted fine ashes on the floor of the temple. They then closed the door, and sealed it with the king’s ring.

During the night, as was their custom, the priests entered the temple by a secret door, and, together with their wives and their children, eat up the sacrifices that were placed before the idol.

5. Early in the morning, Cyrus and Daniel came to the temple, and found the seals unbroken. When they entered, and the king saw the empty table, he cried out : “Great is Bel, and he can not be deceived.” But Daniel pointed to the footprints that were upon the pavement. Having examined the place a little closer, the secret door was found under the table on which the meats had been placed. When the king saw how he had been deceived, he killed the priests, and Daniel destroyed the god Bel, and burned his temple.

A. M. 3466.] 79.—Daniel in the Lions' Den. [A. C. 534.]

1. Besides the god Bel, the Babylonians also adored a great dragon. Cyrus said one day to Daniel : “ However, you can not say this is not a living god.” Daniel, without discussing the king’s words, proposed to kill the dragon without sword or club. When Cyrus consented, Daniel boiled pitch and fat together, into which he mixed hair. He then made balls of the mixture, and, putting them into the dragon’s mouth, the so-called god burst asunder.

2. When the Babylonians heard what had happened, they came, in great fury, and demanded that Daniel be delivered up to them. At first, Cyrus refused ; but at length yielded to the fury of the mob. Daniel was delivered to them, and they cast him into the lions’ den. On purpose, no food was given to the seven furious lions that were there confined, with the hope that Daniel would be the sooner devoured ; but Daniel remained unhurt.

3. After six days, Daniel was hungry. Now, at this time, there lived amid the ruins of Jerusalem a prophet, named Habecuc. He had boiled some pottage, and was carrying it to the reapers that were in the field.

While on the way, an angel appeared to him, and ordered him to carry the dinner he had in his hands to Daniel, who was then in the lions’ den. Habecuc answered : “ He had never been in Babylon, and did not know the den of which he spoke.” The angel took Habecuc by the hair of the head and, with the rapidity of lightning, carried him to Babylon, and placed him over the den where Daniel was.

4. When Daniel had eaten the dinner thus so miraculously sent him, he thanked God, who had not forgotten him in his distress. But the angel carried back Habecuc, and placed him where he had found him.

5. On the seventh day the king came to the lions' den, and found Daniel quietly sitting in the midst of the wild beasts. When Cyrus saw this, he was much astonished, and immediately caused Daniel to be drawn out, and his persecutors to be thrown in. Before these wicked men had fallen to the bottom of the den, they were torn to pieces, and devoured by the starved and angry lions. The king also published an edict, in which he commanded all to venerate and fear the God of Daniel, because He was the Savior working signs and wonders upon earth.

6. The young men in the furnace and Daniel in the lions' den were figures of Christ. Daniel came forth from the lions unhurt, Christ rose from the tomb glorious and immortal. Daniel remained with the Jews during their long captivity to console and cheer them, so does Christ remain with His Church to guard and protect her against her enemies.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 79.—How did Daniel kill the dragon? What was done to Daniel? Who brought food to Daniel? How was Daniel delivered? Who were figures of Christ? How?

A. M. 3468.] 80.—The Jews return from Captivity. [A. C. 532.]

1. When the seventy years of captivity foretold by the prophets were finished, God moved the heart of Artaxerxes, King of the Medes and Persians, with compassion for the captives. In the year 532 before Christ, Artaxerxes published an edict that the Jews might return to Jerusalem and rebuild the temple of the Lord.

2. Under the leadership of Zorobabel, a prince of the people, more than forty thousand Jews returned at this time. Artaxerxes was very kind to them, giving them money, and restoring the vessels of gold and silver Nebuchodonosor had taken away. When the people arrived at Jerusalem, they built an altar, until the temple could be finished. For twenty-one years they labored upon the new temple. When it was finished, and the old men came to see it, they wept and lamented, for its magnificence was not to be compared to the temple of Solomon.

3. Twenty years after Zorobabel had gone to Jerusalem, Esdras, a holy priest, gathered together many of the Jews that still remained in Babylon and led them back to their own country. Here, with the aid of his saintly friend, Nehemias, he strove to instruct the people in the law of God, and purify them from the abominations which they had contracted among their pagan masters.

4. Nehemias moreover urged the people to rebuild Jerusalem. With ready willingness they followed his example, and, from the high-priest to the least among them, each put his hand to the work.

When the Samaritans saw with what rapidity the city rose from its ashes, fearing for their own safety, they strove by plots and falsehoods to stop the work ; but they failed. So earnestly did every body work, that at the end of fifty-two days the walls of Jerusalem, and the gates, and the towers were finished. In time, the city also was built up.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 80.—Under whom did the Jews return? What did they build? What is said of the new temple? Who led many of the Jews back? What did Esdras and Nehemias do? What did the Samaritans strive to do?

81.—The Prophets after the Captivity.

1. During the long captivity of Babylon, the prophets, Jeremias, Daniel, and Ezechiel, instructed and sustained the Jews by their prophecies. After their return to Jerusalem, God raised up others to cheer and encourage His people. Amongst these latter were Aggeus and Zacharias, by whose prophecies, that the Messiah would one day enter this new temple, the people were strongly encouraged to push on the work. It was in this sense they said : “The glory of the second temple will be far greater than the glory of the first.”

2. The last of the prophets whom God raised up among the Jews, was Malachias who lived about four hundred years before Christ. He preached against the hypocrites of his day, and more especially against the priests. Malachias is remarkable for his celebrated prophecy : “That God would reject the sacrifices of the Old Law, and in their place institute a New Sacrifice, that would not cease from the rising to the setting of the sun.” This prophecy is fulfilled in the sacrifice of the Mass.

3. About the year 277 A. C., the Old Testament was translated from the Hebrew into Greek. This translation is known as the Septuagint. When this was done, Greek was spoken everywhere ; hence, by this translation a knowledge of the sacred Scriptures, and more particularly of the prophecies concerning the Messiah, was scattered among the pagan nations.

4. About the same time also, under the inspiration of God, a Jew, named Jesus, the son of Sirach, wrote a book of pious sentences. The object of the book was to teach men truth and lead them to God. This book is known as the book of Ecclesiasticus.

1. The great kindness shown by the kings of Persia to the Jews induced many of them to remain in Babylon. Amongst these was Esther.

During the reign of Assuerus, Esther lived with her uncle, Mardochai. By chance the king saw her, and, being much pleased with her, made her his queen.

2. Her uncle, Mardochai, became very uneasy, lest any thing would happen to his adopted daughter; hence, he stood daily before the king's palace. While Mardochai thus watched over the interest of his adopted child, he one day discovered a conspiracy, by which two officers intended to kill the king. Instantly he warned Esther, who told Assuerus. The officers were put to death, and the event put in the annals of the kingdom.

3. Some time after this, the king raised Aman to the highest dignities in the state. All the king's servants bent the knee before him, Mardochai excepted. When Aman noticed this, he became exceedingly angry, and resolved on the destruction of the obstinate Jew:

4. That he might the better accomplish his object, Aman pretended that the Jews were about to revolt, and succeeded in persuading the king to publish an edict, that all of them that were in his kingdom should on the same day be put to death, together with their wives and their children, and all their possessions be confiscated to the crown.

5. When Mardochai heard the news, he hastened to Esther and urged her to plead for her people. But there was a law forbidding any subject to present himself before the king, unless called. Esther resolved to brave the danger. She clothed herself in her most gorgeous apparel, and, begging God to bless her mission, presented herself to the king while he was sitting on his throne.

6. Esther threw herself at the king's feet, but fainted at sight of his angry look. When Assuerus saw the distress of his queen, he relented, and, descending from his throne, raised her up and supported her till she recovered. Then the king said to her : “ Fear not, Esther ; you shall not die. What do you wish ? ” The queen merely asked him to bring Aman with him, and come the following evening to the banquet she had prepared. The king promised to come.

7. During the night the king could not sleep, and, to amuse himself, ordered the annals of his reign to be read for him. When it came to the conspiracy which Mardochai had discovered, the king asked what reward Mardochai had received for what he had done. Being answered, “ None,” Assuerus sent for Aman, and asked : “ What ought to be done to the man whom the king wished to honor ? ”

8. Aman, thinking the king wished to honor himself, said : “ The man whom the king would honor should be clothed in the royal robes, and be placed on the king’s horse, and the first of the king’s princes should walk before him and cry aloud : ‘ Thus shall he be honored whom the king wishes to honor.’ ” The king then bade Aman go and do to Mardochai, the Jew, as he had counseled. Aman dared not disobey the king.

9. In the meantime the hour for the queen's feast came on, and Aman hastened to attend. During the feast, the king asked Esther what she wished, promising to give even to the half of his kingdom. The queen asked but for her life and the lives of her people. When the king heard how his confidence had been abused, and how, under false pretenses, the Jews were about to be destroyed, he became angry, and asked who had dared to do this thing. Esther answered, "Aman."

10. The king rose in great fury, and, calling together his eunuchs, asked what he would do. But one said: "Aman has prepared a gibbet fifty cubits high on which to hang Mardochai." Then the king said: "Hang Aman on it."

That very hour Aman was hung, and Mardochai invested with his dignity. The edict against the Jews was revoked, and many of the pagans were converted.

11. Queen Esther was a figure of the Blessed Virgin. Esther was alone exempted from the rigors of the Persian law; the Blessed Virgin was alone exempted from original sin. Esther saved her people; Mary gave a Savior to the world.

Mardochai was the faithful guardian of Esther; Joseph was the guardian of Jesus and Mary. Mardochai was placed in the highest office of state; Joseph holds one of the highest places in heaven.

83.—Judith.

1. When the Jews were reëstablished in their own country, God, in a most wonderful manner, again delivered them by the hands of a woman. Holofernes, an Assyrian general, advanced into Judea with a powerful army. He took many of the cities, and treated the inhabitants with extreme cruelty. At length he laid siege to Bethulia, and, cutting off the aqueduct by which the city was supplied with water, the inhabitants were soon reduced to the last extremity.

2. When they saw themselves in this condition, they agreed to surrender if, within five days, they received no help. There was within the city a young widow, named Judith, of great wealth and beauty. When she heard the resolution to which the leaders had come, she laid aside the garments of her widowhood, and, anointing herself, put on her richest ornaments.

3. Thus arrayed, she went, accompanied by her servant, to the Assyrian camp. God also added to her beauty. When Holofernes saw her, he received her most kindly, and gave orders to his servants to permit her to come and to go at her pleasure.

4. Four days after her arrival in the Assyrian camp, Holofernes gave a great banquet to the officers of his army. Late in the night, he threw himself upon his bed, and, being drunk, slept heavily. Judith drew near the bed on which Holofernes lay, and, praying to God to strengthen her arm, took the sword that hung at the top of the bed and cut off his head.

5. Then she put the head in a bag, and gave it to her servant, and, hastening from the Assyrian camp, came to Bethulia. When she had assembled the leaders and the people, she showed them the head of Holofernes, and bade them praise the Lord, who had protected her from sin, and, by her hands, killed their enemy.

6. The Jews, seeing how God had thus fought for them, hung the head of Holofernes from the walls of the city, and, going forth, attacked the Assyrians, who, without a leader, were easily overcome, and many of them slain.

Judith was much esteemed, not only by the inhabitants of her native city, but by all Judea ; and when she died, all the people wept.

84.—Eleazar the Martyr.

[A. C. 163.

1. In the year 333 before Christ, Alexander the Great put an end to the kingdom of Persia, which had ruled over the Jews since the time of Cyrus. After this, they fell into the power of the kings of Egypt, and finally under the power of the kings of Syria.

2. Among these latter, Antiochus was very cruel. He burned the sacred books, and forbade, under pain of death, any one to observe the Law. Many basely apostatized, while, on the other hand, many remained faithful, preferring death to sin.

3. Among these latter was the venerable Eleazar, an old man of ninety years of age, and much esteemed for his knowledge of the Law. Antiochus commanded him to eat the flesh of swine, threatening him with death if he refused. But his religion forbade him to obey, and the brave old man would rather die than offend God.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 83.—What is the history of Judith? Whose head did she cut off? What did the Jews do? What was done at the death of Judith?

4. His friends strove to persuade him to yield ; nay, even urged him to save his life by pretending to eat the forbidden flesh, though he did not. But Eleazar scorned deceit : “ I may deceive men,” said he, “ but I can not deceive God, and my example might lead others astray.” The old man suffered a cruel death, but truth triumphed in his sufferings.

A. M. 3837.] 85.—The Martyrdom of the Seven Machabees. [A. C. 163.]

1. Amongst others that were brought before Antiochus were the seven Machabees and their mother. When they were ordered to eat the forbidden flesh of the swine, they refused, and said they would rather die than break the laws of God.

2. When the king heard this, he became very angry, and ordered the seven brothers to be beaten with rods. But the heroic youths still refusing to obey, Antiochus commanded frying-pans and brazen cauldrons to be made hot. Then the executioners seized the eldest and cut out his tongue ; after this they tore off the skin from his head, and chopped off his hands and his feet, and at last threw him into the red-hot frying-pan. His mother and his brothers stood encouraging him and exhorting him to persevere.

3. When the first was dead, the second oldest was brought, and the skin of his head also pulled off. He, too, was asked if he would eat the forbidden meat ; but he boldly answered, “ No.” He was tormented as his brother had been. The third and the fourth, as also the fifth and the sixth, willingly offered themselves to the executioners, and died proclaiming their faith in God, and their hopes of eternal happiness.

4. The youngest still remained. The king hoped by kindness to win him over. He promised him honors and riches, even his own friendship, if he would renounce the Jewish religion ; but he would not yield. Then the king exhorted the mother to persuade her son to save his life, but she only the more encouraged her child to be a worthy successor of his six martyred brothers.

5. While his mother was yet speaking to him, he boldly cried out : “ I will not obey the king, nor will I break the law of God.” When the king heard this, he was greatly incensed, and ordered him to be more cruelly tormented than any of the rest. Last of all, the mother suffered death with the same heroic constancy that had marked the sufferings of her seven noble sons.

86.—Mathathias and Judas Machabeus.

[A. C. 162.]

1. During the reign of Antiochus, there lived in Judea a priest named Mathathias, who had five sons. When he saw the abominations that were committed against the Law, and the cruelties with which the people were oppressed, he resolved to free his country. Calling upon all those who would defend the Law of God to follow him, he fled with his sons and many others into the mountains.

2. At first he was content with overthrowing the idols and the altars of the pagan gods ; then, as his numbers increased, he began to make war on the enemies of his country.

After his death, the leadership fell upon his son Judas, who, because of his invincible courage, was called Machabeus. Bold as a lion, he met and vanquished the generals of Antiochus, one after another.

3. He also retook Jerusalem, and purified the temple. The altar was consecrated anew, amid the sounds of harps, and lutes, and cymbals ; the sacrifices were restored, and a great feast was appointed to celebrate his victories.

4. When Antiochus heard of the success of the Machabees, he became very angry. Gathering together an immense army, he resolved to lead it himself against Jerusalem, and forever destroy the place ; but God's judgments overtook him on the way.

One day he fell from his chariot and hurt himself very badly. His sores putrified, and worms began to crawl out of his wounds ; the flesh fell off from his bones, and the whole body sent forth a stench insupportable to himself, as well as all around him.

5. When Antiochus saw how grievously he suffered, he acknowledged the hand of God in his punishment, and, hoping to escape death, humbled himself and lamented his cruelty. He even promised to repair, as far as he could, the evils he had done. But his repentance was insincere, and God listened not to his prayer. He died amid the most cruel torments, leaving to the world a frightful example of the justice of God.

6. After his death, his son strove to reconquer Judea ; but the Machabees, trusting in God, assembled their followers, and went forth to battle. In the heat of the engagement, suddenly there came from heaven five men, whose armor shone as the sun, and whose horses were covered with golden harness. Two placed themselves on either side of Judas, whilst the other three hurled darts on the enemy : at the same time the lightning flashed in the faces of the Syrians. Stunned and confounded, many fell to the ground, whilst the others turned and fled. The enemy left twenty thousand infantry and six thousand cavalry dead upon the field.

7. After many victories, Judas established the independence of his country ; yet not without loss. Many of the Jews were killed ; but, on examining the bodies of the dead, there were found concealed under their coats offerings that had been stolen from the temples of the pagan idols. Then all knew the cause of their death.

8. When Judas saw why they had been punished, he did not despair, but, trusting in the power of prayer and the mercy of God, sent twelve thousand drachms of silver to Jerusalem, that sacrifices might be offered for them, saying: "It is a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead."

87.—From the Machabees to Jesus Christ.

1. After the death of the pious and heroic Judas, his brothers, one after another, were placed at the head of the nation. Under their wise guidance, many victories were won and peace established, and Judea began again to flourish. Unhappily, their successors did not walk in their footsteps, and gradually the inconstant Jews fell again into sin.

2. The nation, however, still recognized the one true God, and exteriorly observed the forms of the Law, but the hearts of the people were far from God.

Two sects rose up among them : one, the hypocritical Pharisees ; the other, the incredulous Sadducees. The former placed all perfection in the exterior observance of the law ; the latter denied much that was in the law, more particularly the resurrection of the dead.

3. Beyond Judea the world was buried in idolatry and abomination ; cruelty and oppression were everywhere, and mankind longed for the coming of the Messiah. There remained but one thing more—the fulfillment of the prophecy made by Jacob to his son Juda ; and this was not long delayed.

4. The successors of the Machabees lived in continual war, civil as well as foreign ; brother fought against brother ; murder and rapine replaced peace and honesty. As a last hope, the Romans were called in to arbitrate between the parties. Soon they filled the country with their armies ; the government was seized upon, and Herod, a stranger, appointed king of the Jews. Thus perished the kingdom of Judea ; the scepter had passed from the tribe of Juda ; the time was come when the Messiah, the Savior, OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST, should come to bless the world and save mankind, to whom be praise and benediction forever and ever.

HISTORY OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

PART FIRST.

THE HISTORY OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST.

1.—The Birth of John the Baptist Announced.

1. During the reign of King Herod, there lived in the mountains of Judea an aged priest, named Zachary, and his wife Elizabeth. Though just before God and otherwise happy, there was one drawback: they had no family. They had often asked for a son, but their prayers seemed unheard.

2. One day while Zachary, according to the custom of the priests, was burning incense within the sanctuary, suddenly an angel appeared at the right of the altar. Zachary was much frightened; but the angel bade him fear not. Then the angel told him his prayer had at length been heard, and his wife Elizabeth, in her old age, would bear him a son, and he should call his name John.

3. When Zachary heard this, he began to doubt, and to reason with himself, saying he was old, and his wife was old. In answer to his objections, the angel said to him: "Because you have doubted and have not believed my word, you shall be dumb till what I have announced to you come to pass." The angel disappeared, but Zachary was struck dumb from that moment.

2.—The Birth of Jesus Announced.

1. Six months after the events above related, the angel Gabriel was sent to Nazareth, a little town in Galilee, to a virgin, called Mary. Though of the royal family of David, she was very poor in this world's goods; but, in virtues, she was exceedingly rich. A short time before the angel appeared to her, she had been married to a poor carpenter, called Joseph, who, like herself, also belonged to the house of David.

2. While this humble virgin was deeply absorbed in prayer, suddenly the angel Gabriel entered her chamber, and said to her: "Hail, full of grace! the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou amongst women."

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 1. — What is said of Zachary and Elizabeth? What happened to Zachary at the altar?

3. When Mary heard these strange and, to her, startling words, she became exceedingly troubled, not knowing what they could mean. But the angel hastened to relieve her anxiety, by telling her that God had sent him to announce the coming of the Messiah, and that she had been chosen to be His mother. When Mary objected that she was a virgin, and knew not man, the angel bade her fear not: "for the Holy Ghost would come upon her, and the power of the Most High would overshadow her, and the Holy One that should be born of her should be called the Son of God."

4. To confirm his words, Gabriel told her that her cousin Elizabeth had also conceived. When Mary understood the great things God proposed to do in her, she no longer opposed the divine will, but gave her consent. The same moment she consented she became the Mother of God. In her was thus fulfilled the promise made in the garden of paradise; that the woman should crush the serpent's head. The Son of Mary has indeed conquered the devil.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 2.—Who came to Mary? Who was she? What is said of Mary? What did Gabriel say to her? How did Mary act? To confirm his words what did Gabriel tell Mary?

3.—Mary visits Elizabeth.

1. After the angel left her, Mary hastened to visit her cousin. When she entered the house, Elizabeth was suddenly filled with the Holy Ghost, and, in an ecstasy of joy, cried out: "Blessed art thou amongst women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb."

2. Mary was also carried away with the fullness of the grace that was within her, and burst forth into that magnificent canticle the Church daily sings, and is so well known as the Magnificat, viz. :

"My soul doth magnify the Lord, and my spirit hath rejoiced in God, my Savior; because He hath regarded the humility of His handmaid. Behold, from henceforth, all generations shall call me blessed." *

3. Mary remained about three months with Elizabeth ;

* For eighteen centuries has this prophecy been fulfilled in the Catholic Church, by the daily recital of the "Hail Mary!"

after this she returned to her own humble home, at Nazareth, where she gave herself up to prayer and to the duties of her house.

4.—The Birth of John the Baptist.

1. When the time was come, Elizabeth brought forth a son. It was customary among the Jews to give a name to the child at its circumcision. Now, when the neighbors gathered together to do for the child as the law required, they thought to call him by his father's name. But Elizabeth objected, and ordered him to be called John.

2. Some hesitating, they asked the father; but he, being dumb, took a pen and wrote, "John is the name." On the instant Zachary recovered his speech, and began to praise God, and to publish His works.

Fear came upon all when they saw and heard what had happened; and, wondering, they asked: "What would the child become, for the hand of God was with him?"

3. Soon the news of these wonders was spread through the mountains of Judea, and excited in some hopes, in others fears, according as each regarded it.

The child grew, and the Spirit of God was in him. At a tender age, John went into the desert, where he remained in prayer and penance, until God bade him come into Judea and preach to the people of Israel. It was of him the prophet Malachias said: "I will send my angel, who will prepare the way before me."

the deep mystery that surrounded her, resolved to put her away secretly. Whilst he was thus debating the matter with himself, the angel of the Lord appeared to him in sleep and told him to fear not, for Mary had become a mother by the overshadowing power of God; and, moreover, the angel bade him call the child, that would be born of her, JESUS—that is to say, Savior. Joseph did as he was commanded.

2. Soon after this, Augustus, the Roman Emperor, published an edict that the whole world should be enrolled. This enrollment first began in Judea, and every one was required to go to his family city, there to be enrolled. It was thus Joseph and Mary, being descendants of David, were forced to go to Bethlehem, the city of David.

3. When they arrived, the city was full of strangers, and they could find no place in the inns or among their friends, and so were forced to seek for shelter in a poor stable, near by the gates of the city. It was in this wretched place, that but poorly served as a shelter for the ox and the ass, that Jesus Christ, the Son of God, and the Master of all things, was born. With holy joy and tender care, Mary, the Virgin Mother, wrapped her child in swaddling clothes and laid Him in the manger.

4. The prophecy of Micheas was accomplished: “And thou, Bethlehem, art the least among the cities of Juda, but out of thee shall come the Ruler of Israel.”

6.—The Shepherds.

1. On the night Christ was born, a few shepherds were watching their flocks a short distance from Bethlehem. Suddenly an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and a bright light shone round about them. Great fear came upon them; but the angel bade them fear not, for he came to announce to them tidings of great joy. Then he told them that, in the neighboring city of Bethlehem, a child had just been born, who was Christ the Lord, and the Savior of the world; and, as a sign of the truth he told them, they would find the child wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger. While he was yet speaking, a great multitude of angels suddenly appeared and began to sing: "Glory to God in the highest, and peace on earth to men of good will."

2. When the angels disappeared, the shepherds hastened to go over to Bethlehem, where they found the child lying in the manger. Wondering, they told Mary and Joseph all they had heard, and having adored the infant King, returned, glorifying God.

Eight days after this, the child was circumcised and received the name of JESUS.

7.—The Kings from the East.

1. Some time after the birth of Christ, there came into Jerusalem three eastern kings, asking where they could find the new-born King of the Jews, for they had seen His star in the east, and were come to adore Him. When Herod, the king, heard this, he was very much troubled, as was also all Jerusalem. Then he called together the chief priests and doctors of the law and asked where Christ should be born. They promptly answered, at Bethlehem.

2. When Herod heard this, he called the three kings privately to him, and bade them go and search for the child, and, when they had found him, to come and tell him. So he dismissed them. They had scarcely left Jerusalem, when the star they had seen in the east again went before them, until it stood over where the child was. Entering, they found the infant Savior, and, falling down, adored Him. They then presented gifts of gold, and frankincense and myrrh.

3. In the night God warned them in a dream not to return to Herod, for he meditated mischief to the child. They, therefore, returned another way into their own country.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 6.—What is said of the shepherds? What sign was given the shepherds? Where did they find the child? When was Jesus circumcised?

We have also a star, that leads us to the heavenly Jerusalem, namely the grace of God, by which we are enlightened and led on to the truth taught us by the Church.

8.—Jesus Presented in the Temple.

1. Forty days after the birth of Jesus, Mary and Joseph carried the child to the temple, that they might present Him to the Lord. They also took with them the usual offering of the poor—two turtle doves—according as the Law prescribed.

2. At this time there was living at Jerusalem a man named Simeon. He was very pious, and the Holy Ghost had revealed to him that he should not die until he had seen the Savior. When Mary and Joseph entered the temple, Simeon, led by the Spirit, also entered. Seeing the child, he took Him in his arms, and cried out: "Now, O Lord, dismiss Thy servant in peace, because my eyes have seen Thy salvation."

3. After this, he blessed Mary and Joseph; but he warned her that a sword of sorrow should one day pierce her heart.

While Simeon was speaking, a prophetess, named Ann, entered the temple. She also took the child in her arms, and, praising God, went forth, publishing the news to all who were looking for the redemption of Israel.

9.—The Flight into Egypt.

1. Herod, seeing the Magi did not return to him, became very angry, and, resolving to destroy this new-born

King, ordered all the children in Bethlehem and the country round about to be put to death. He foolishly thought Jesus would surely be killed among the rest, little dreaming how easily God could shield Him.

2. Whilst Herod was preparing for the murder of the holy innocents, an angel appeared to Joseph in his sleep, and told him to take the child and its mother and flee into Egypt, and to remain there until told to return. Without a word of complaint, Joseph rose, and, taking the child and its mother, went into Egypt.

3. He had scarce gone, when Herod's messengers came to Bethlehem, and, tearing the children from their mother's arms, murdered them. Every house was filled with lamentation and sorrow, and the prophecy of Jere-mias was fulfilled: "Rachel bewailing her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not." As a punishment for his cruelty, Herod died, some years after, amid the most horrid torments.

4. Again the angel appeared to Joseph, and commanded him to return to Judea, because Herod was dead. Joseph rose, and, taking the child and Mary, returned, and dwelt in Nazareth. Thus it came to pass that Christ was called a Nazarene.

Jesus, the Savior of the World, was saved by a miracle; so was Moses, the Savior of the Israelites, saved by a miracle.

10.—The Child Jesus in the Temple. [A. C. 12.]

1. In accordance with the custom of the Jews, Mary and Joseph went up every year to Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of the Pasch. At the age of twelve years, Jesus also went up to Jerusalem with His parents. When the celebration was over, Mary and Joseph, together with their friends, returned to their homes ; but Jesus remained in Jerusalem.

2. Not finding the child in their own company, his parents thought he was with some of their friends, and so continued the journey. But, when at night they sought him, and could not find him, they were filled with much anxiety, and hastened back to Jerusalem.

3. After a search of three days, they found him in the temple, in the midst of the doctors, listening to them, and asking them questions. All were astonished at his wisdom and his answers.

His mother, approaching, asked him : “ Why he had acted thus towards them ? ” In a kindly manner, he told them he was there engaged about his Father’s business. In obedience to their wishes, he returned to Nazareth, and was subject to them. He also grew in age, and wisdom, and grace before God and men.

THE PUBLIC LIFE OF JESUS CHRIST.

11.—The Preaching of John the Baptist.

1. For thirty years Jesus lived in obscurity at Nazareth. When the time was come that He should begin His public life, He commanded John the Baptist to come forth from the desert, where, from his childhood, he had lived, and to preach to the people. John obeyed, and came into the country about the Jordan.

2. Soon the fame of John’s preaching was spread far and near, and great crowds from Jerusalem and Judea came to him by the banks of the Jordan. Here they saw a man of most austere manners, with a leathern girdle round his waist ; whose food was the wild locust, and whose cry was : “ Do penance, for the kingdom of God is at hand.” Many were baptized, confessing their sins.

3. When John saw the Pharisees and Sadducees amongst the multitudes that came to hear him, he cried out to them : “ Do penance, and trust not to your descent from Abraham, for the ax is about to be laid to the root of the tree.”

John the Baptist made a great impression on his hearers, and many thought he was the Messiah. But he said he was not ; on the contrary, he was but the voice of one crying in the wilderness.

12.—Jesus is Baptized and Tempted.

1. Jesus also came to John, at the Jordan, to be baptized. At first, John refused, saying he was not worthy to do so great an act. But when Christ bade him do it,

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 11.—How long did Jesus live at Nazareth? What is said of John the Baptist? What was his cry? What did John say of himself?

that thereby “they might fulfill all justice,” John yielded, and baptized Jesus. Immediately the heavens were opened, and the Holy Ghost descended in the form of a dove, and rested on Jesus, whilst a voice from heaven was heard, saying: “This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.”

2. After his baptism, Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert, there to be tempted by the devil. After He had fasted forty days and forty nights, the devil came to Him, and strove to persuade Him, as a proof of His divinity, to turn the stones into bread ; but Jesus would not.

3. Again the devil dared to tempt Him, by carrying Him to Jerusalem, where he placed Him on the pinnacle of the temple, telling Him to cast Himself down : “For if He were the Son of God, the angels would protect Him.” But Jesus said : “Tempt not the Lord thy God.”

4. A third time Satan came, and, carrying Jesus Christ up into a high mountain, showed Him all the kingdoms of the earth, promising to give them to Him, if He would fall down and adore him. But Jesus, with a holy anger, bade him "Begone, for the Lord only should be adored." Then Satan left Him, and angels came and ministered to Him.

In the deluge, water cleansed the world from its corruptions; in baptism, water cleanses the soul from its sin.

13.—Jesus the Lamb of God.

1. Some time after His baptism, Jesus came into the country where John was baptizing. When John saw Him, pointing to Him, he exclaimed: "Behold the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sins of the world. This is

He, of whom I have already spoken, when I said, 'There is one who will come after me, who is preferred before me;' and He is the Son of God, for at His baptism I saw the Holy Ghost descend from heaven in the form of a dove, and rest upon Him."

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 12.—What happened at the baptism of Jesus? What happened after His baptism? Describe Christ's temptations.

2. Under the Jewish religion, every day there was offered on the altar of holocausts a lamb to the Lord ; under the New Law Jesus Christ is this Lamb of Sacrifice, that was once offered on Calvary, and is now daily offered in the Sacrifice of the Mass.

14.—The First Disciples of Jesus Christ.

1. On the following day, as Jesus was walking on the banks of the Jordan, two of the disciples of John the Baptist, named Andrew and John, saw Him. They remained with Jesus during the day. Toward the evening, Andrew brought Simon, his brother, to Jesus. As soon as Jesus saw him, He said : “Thou art called Simon, son of Jona ; hereafter thou shalt be called Peter.”

2. The next day Jesus saw Philip, and said to him : “Follow me.” When Philip had listened for a while, he hastened to seek his brother Nathaniel. Finding him under a fig-tree, he told him that at last the Messiah was come, and Jesus of Nazareth was the person. At first Nathaniel was inclined to be incredulous, owing to the prejudice that existed against the Nazarenes, but at last he yielded, and went with his brother.

3. When Jesus saw him coming, He said : “Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no guile.” But Nathaniel’s astonishment knew no bounds when Jesus told him how Philip had found him under the fig-tree, and how He had known him long before. Filled with awe, Nathaniel bowed himself before Jesus, and acknowledged Him to be the Son of God. Nathaniel afterward became one of Christ’s disciples, under the name of Bartholomew.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 13. — Tell what John said when he saw Jesus the second time. What is said of the Lamb in the Old Law and what in the New ?

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 14. — Who were the first disciples of Christ ? What did Christ say to Peter ? What is said of Philip and Nathaniel ? By what name is Nathaniel also known ?

15.—The Marriage at Cana.

1. Three days after Jesus had called Philip and Nathaniel to follow Him, a marriage feast was celebrated at Cana of Galilee. Jesus and Mary were there, as also the newly-chosen disciples. During the feast the wine failed, when Mary, coming to Jesus, mentioned the fact to him. At first Jesus seemed inclined to do nothing to remove the embarrassment of the master of the house, but Mary, who knew the kindness of her son, came to the servants and bade them do whatever He told them.

2. There stood six stone pitchers, each containing from two to three measures. Now Jesus came to the servants and told them to fill them with water; then to draw out and carry to the chief steward. When the steward had tasted the water made wine, he was much astonished, and, calling the bridegroom, chid him for having kept the best wine to the end of the feast.

This was the first public miracle Jesus wrought, and those who saw it, not only were astonished, but believed Jesus was the Son of God.

3. It was at this feast of Cana that Jesus sanctified marriage, and raised it to the dignity of a sacrament. And this change of water into wine was emblematic of that still greater change in the Sacrifice of the Mass, where wine is changed into the blood of Jesus Christ.

THE FIRST YEAR OF CHRIST'S PUBLIC MINISTRY.

16.—Christ's Zeal for the Sanctity of the Temple. [A. D. 31]

1. About this time, Jesus went up to Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of the Pasch. Entering the temple, He found many who were there selling oxen, and sheep, and doves, while the money changers sat at their tables.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 15.—Who were at the marriage feast? What failed? How was the wine supplied? What was the first public miracle Jesus wrought? When was marriage instituted?

Animated with a holy zeal, He made a whip of cords and drove out those who thus profaned the house of God. No one dared to resist Him, and soon the place was empty.

2. The few who remained, asked by what authority he assumed to act as He had done. His only answer was: "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up." He meant His body, but the Jews thought He meant that grand and gorgeous temple, that had cost their forefathers forty-six years of labor, and an immense treasure of gold and silver.

3. During the celebration of this Paschal feast, Jesus wrought a great many miracles in and near Jerusalem. Many, when they saw His works and heard His words, were led to believe in Him.

17.—Nicodemus comes to see Jesus.

1. Whilst Jesus was at Jerusalem, celebrating this feast of the Pasch, Nicodemus, a member of the great Jewish Council, came to Him in the night-time and said: "Master, we know thou art a teacher from God, for no man can do what thou doest, if God were not with him."

2. After they had talked together for a while, Nicodemus asked what he must do to be saved. Jesus answered: "He must be born again of water and the Holy Ghost." When Nicodemus heard this he was much puzzled to understand what he had heard, but Christ only repeated His words, and added: "That God had sent His only-begotten Son into the world, that the world might be saved through Him."

3. It was at this interview that Christ taught the necessity of Baptism. The Catholic Church not only teaches this doctrine to-day, but insists that all her children shall be baptized. As the Israelites were saved from the slavery of Egypt, by passing through the Red Sea, so are Christians freed from the slavery of sin by the waters of baptism.

18.—Jesus at the Well of Jacob.

1. When the feast of the Pasch was over, Jesus passed through Judea, baptizing as He went. On His way to Nazareth, He came to a city called Sichar, in the country of Samaria. Being weary, He sat down near a well which formerly Jacob had dug, and which was much visited by the people, because it was near the gate. His disciples, leaving Him, went into the city to buy bread.

2. While Jesus was sitting by the well, a woman came to draw water. Jesus asked her for a drink. Now the Jews so hated the Samaritans that they would have preferred to die rather than ask a favor from them. So, when the woman heard the request, she was very much astonished, and asked how it came that He, who was a Jew, asked her for a drink.

3. Jesus said to her, if she knew who it was that asked her for a drink, may be she would ask Him for a drink,

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 17.—Who came to see Jesus? What did Nicodemus say to Jesus? What answer did Jesus give? What did Christ teach at this interview?

for He would give her living water. When she heard of living water, and how those who drank of it would not thirst again, she asked for it, that she might be saved the trouble of coming so often to draw water. Then Jesus revealed to her the secret sins of her life. Being struck at the Spirit of God, which she so clearly saw in Him, she said: "Sir, I see thou art a prophet."

4. The Samaritans had built a temple on Garizim, a mountain near the city of Sichar, where they were accustomed to offer sacrifice, as the Jews did at Jerusalem. The woman asked: "Who was right, the Jew or the Samaritan?" But Jesus said: "The time will come—nay, was come—when men would worship God neither on Mount Garizim, nor at Jerusalem."

5. Jesus also said to her that He was the Messiah. When she heard this, she left her water-pot, and, hastening into the city, told the inhabitants all that had happened. The Samaritans came to Jesus, and asked Him to remain with them. He stayed two days, teaching and instructing them, many believing in Him.

6. The water which Jesus gives is interior light to guide the soul, and grace to overcome the passions. Those who will truly serve God, must offer Him not the appearances of piety, but humility, faith, and charity. These are the fountains from which all true religion springs.

19.—Jesus Preaches at Nazareth.

1. After Jesus left Sichar, He returned to Nazareth, His native city. It was His custom to go frequently into the synagogue. One day, while many of the people were assembled, Jesus rose up to read. The book of Isaias was given Him, and, opening it, He read from the place where it is written: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; He hath anointed me, and sent me to preach the Gospel to the poor, and to heal the contrite of heart."

2. Having shut the book, He returned it to the doctors. All eyes were fixed upon Him, and wonder and doubt filled their minds when He began to show them what the prophets had said of the Messiah. But they were confounded, when He referred these prophecies to Himself, and clearly proved He was the Messiah.

3. "Is not this," said they, "the son of Joseph the carpenter?" In answer, Jesus said, "It was not wonderful that He was not believed, for a prophet had no honor in his own country; even," said he, "Elias was rejected by his own, and was forced to confer his favors upon the pagan widow of Serepta."

4. When the people heard this, they were filled with rage, for they saw He referred to them. They finally forbade Him to speak any more, and thrusting Him out, brought Him to the brow of the mountain on which the city was built, intending to cast Him down. But Jesus, when He saw Himself on the edge of the precipice, turned, and with a calm dignity, that utterly confounded and paralyzed His enemies, passed through their midst.

20.—The Miracle of Jesus at Capharnaum.

1. From Nazareth Jesus went to Capharnaum, where He taught on the Sabbath days. All were in admiration and astonishment at His doctrines, for He spoke as no man had ever spoken, and His words penetrated into the inmost recesses of their hearts.

2. One day, while He was speaking, a man, who was possessed by a devil, cried out: "Let us alone, what have we to do with thee? I know thou art the Holy One of God." But Jesus rebuked the devil, and drove him out of the man. When the people saw this, fear came upon them, and they knew not what to think.

3. Going out of the synagogue, Jesus entered the house of Simon and Andrew, his brother. Simon's mother-in-law was very sick. Her friends asked Jesus to do something for her. He approached the bed on which she lay, and, taking her by the hand, lifted her up. Immediately the fever left her, and, rising, she began to minister to Him and His disciples.

4. During the evening of this same day, the inhabitants of the city came to Peter's house, carrying with them the sick and those that were possessed. Jesus went to the door and cured the sick and drove out the devils. On the next day He went into Galilee, where he also cured the sick and the infirm.

5. Under the Jewish dispensation, the saints and the prophets also wrought miracles, but in the name of God, from whom they had their authority. Jesus, on the contrary, wrought His miracles in His own name, and by His own authority, thus distinguishing Himself from those who went before Him, and from those who came after Him.

21.—The Miraculous Draught of Fishes.

1. Jesus passed over from Capharnaum to Lake Genesareth. Here the multitude pressed to see Him and to hear His words. By the shore were two vessels; the nearest, Peter's. Into this Jesus entered, and requested Peter to push out a little from the land. Then He sat down and taught the multitude.

2. When Jesus had finished speaking, He told Peter to launch out into the deep and to let down his net. Peter answered, that he and his partners had been fishing all the night, but had caught nothing; yet, as He wished it, they would let down the net. Scarce had they done so when the net was filled with such a quantity of fish, that it was nearly breaking. They made signs to their partners to come and help them, and both ships were filled, so that they were almost sinking.

3. When Peter saw this, he fell at the feet of Jesus, and said : “ Depart from me, O Lord, for I am a sinful man.” But Jesus answered : “ Fear not, from henceforth thou shalt be taking men.” Having brought the ships to the shore, Peter and his companions left all and followed Jesus.

4. Jesus chose Peter’s ship from which to teach. In the Roman Catholic Church, of which Peter’s ship was a figure, Jesus Christ continues to teach through the Popes, who are the lawful successors of Peter.

The miraculous draught of fishes was also symbolic. The sea is the world, the net the Church. The fishers are the bishops and priests ; the fish are the faithful who voluntarily enter the Church, that thereby they may be saved.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 21.—What did Jesus do at Lake Genesareth ? What miracle did He work ? What is said of Peter’s ship ?

22.—The Paralytic.

1. One day, while Jesus taught in a certain house of Capharnaum, surrounded by the Pharisees and doctors, who had come from Galilee and the surrounding towns to hear Him, a man, sick of the palsy, was brought to the door. When those who carried the sick man found, because of the multitude, they could not reach Jesus, they went up on the roof of the house—which, according to the custom of the East, was flat, and had an opening in it—and let the sick man down into the midst of the crowd.

2. Jesus seeing their faith, said to the sick man: "Thy sins are forgiven." When the doctors and the Pharisees heard this, they said: "This man blasphemeth. Who can forgive sins, but God alone?" Jesus, who knew the thoughts of their hearts, asked them whether it was easier to forgive sins than to cure the man? "But, that you may know," said He, "that the Son of Man has power to forgive sins, I say to this sick man: Arise, take up thy bed and go into thy house." And the sick man rose, and took up his bed, and returned to his house, praising God.

3. All those who saw this palpable miracle, were confounded and astonished. They had heard Jesus say: "Thy sins are forgiven," and, in proof of His power to forgive sins, they had seen Him cure the man. Hence, it was not astonishing, that being unable to explain the mystery, they simply cried out: "We have seen wonderful things to-day."

23.—The Sermon on the Mountain.

1. Jesus, seeing a great multitude come to Him, went up into a mountain and sat down. His disciples came to QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 22.—What did Jesus say to the man sick of the palsy? What did the doctors say? What did Jesus do? What effect had this miracle on the multitude?

Him, and the multitude stood round about, on the sides of the mountain, listening in silence. Jesus thus began :

The Eight Beatitudes.

2. Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are the meek, for they shall possess the land.

Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted.

Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after justice, for they shall be filled.

3. Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.

Blessed are the clean of heart, for they shall see God.

Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God.

Blessed are they that suffer persecution for justice' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of God.

The Dignity and Duties of the Apostles.

4. After Jesus had spoken thus to the people, He turned to His Apostles, and told them they were the salt of the earth and the light of the world ; and that if the one lost its savor, or the other was put under a bushel, each was equally worthless.

The Duties of Christians.

5. Again turning to the people, Jesus said to them, that their “justice should be more than that of the Scribes and Pharisees ; neither should they kill, nor call another fool ; nor should they offer a gift to God, whilst they were in anger with their brother.” Besides these grand maxims of justice, He taught them to love their enemies, to do good to those that hated them, and to pray for those that persecuted and calumniated them.

The Sanctity of Marriage.

6. Having thus spoken of the general duties of Christians one to another, Jesus gave the following very clear and decided command concerning the nature and sanctity of marriage, to-wit, “Let no man put away his wife ; for what God has joined together, let no man put asunder.” Then He added that, in all their actions, they should have purity of intention, nor do any thing for the applause of men.

The Works of a Christian.

7. After this, Jesus spoke to the multitude of the vanities of life and the folly of laying up treasures on earth. He bade them rather lay up treasures in heaven, where neither the moth nor the rust could consume nor the thief steal. He also told them not to be anxious for the things of life, how they should be clothed, or what they should eat, for the birds neither sowed, nor did they gather into barns, and yet God fed them.

8. “Consider,” said He, “the lilies of the field : they labor not, neither do they spin, and yet Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed as one of them.” He added : “No man can serve two masters : you can not serve God and Mammon.”

The End of the Sermon.

9. Besides these and many other exhortations, Jesus said: "Swear not: let your words be yea, yea; no, no: do unto others as you wish them to do unto you: judge not, that you be not judged."

10. Then Jesus concluded with that beautiful similitude that has been so often quoted; that those who did as He had commanded "would be like a house built on a rock: the winds blew, and the floods came, but the house fell not; but those who kept not His words would be like a house built on the sands: when the winds blew, and the floods came, it fell."

11. When the people heard all these words, they were in admiration, not only at the doctrines they heard, but also with Jesus Himself, for He spoke to them not as the Scribes and Pharisees, but as one having authority.

24.—The Leper—The Centurion's Servant.

1. When Jesus came down from the mountain, a leper came to Him and, adoring, asked to be cleansed. Jesus stretched forth his hand and touched him, and immediately he was cleansed. Then he commanded the leper to go to the priest and offer the gift prescribed by Moses.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 23.—What was the first part of the sermon on the mountain? Repeat the eight beatitudes. What did Jesus say of the Apostles? What was said to Christians in general? What was said of marriage? What other lessons did Jesus give? What effect had Christ's words on the multitude?

2. Among the Jews, when a leper was cured, he was required to show himself to the priest, who, having examined him, declared him cleansed, and removed from him the restrictions imposed by the law of Moses. This declaration of the Jewish priest was a figure of the sacramental absolution of the Christian priest, who, absolving sinners, may be justly said to cleanse them from a spiritual leprosy.

3. Jesus came again into Capharnaum, where a Roman centurion approached Him, and told Him that his servant lay dangerously ill. Jesus offered to go and cure him; but the centurion said: "Lord, I am not worthy that Thou shouldst enter under my roof; say only the word, and my servant shall be healed."

4. When Jesus heard this, He declared He had not found such faith in Israel; nay, that many would come from the east and the west, and sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven, but the Jews themselves would be cast forth, because they would not believe.

5. Then He turned to the centurion and said: "As you have believed, so be it done;" and immediately the servant was cured.

The Jews did not receive Christianity as willingly as the Gentiles: in like manner, Joseph's brethren despised him, whilst the Egyptians admired him.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 24.—What is said of the leper? What was a custom among the Jews? What was it a figure of? What happened at Capharnaum?

25.—The Widow's Son of Naim.

1. Once when Jesus was entering the city of Naim, accompanied by His disciples and a great multitude, he met a funeral procession in which a widow's son was carried out to be buried. Jesus, seeing the great sorrow of the mother, and the many friends that were with her, came and said : " Weep not."

2. Then He approached the bier on which the dead man lay, and, touching the body, said, " Arise ;" and the young man rose up and began to speak. Jesus presented the son to the mother. When those who were present saw what was done, great fear came upon them, and they began to glorify God, because " a great prophet had arisen amongst them."

3. This miracle is symbolic of the future resurrection, when God will raise up all men from the grave. Even now it has its fulfillment in the Sacrament of Penance, where Jesus Christ, through His priests, raises up the sinner from the spiritual death of sin.

26.—Mary Magdalene.

1. A certain Pharisee, named Simon, invited Jesus to come and eat with him. Jesus went, and, while He was at table, Mary Magdalene came and brought with her an alabaster box filled with precious perfume. Entering the house, she cast herself on her knees, and began to wash the feet of Jesus with her tears, and to wipe them with the hair of her head; then, kissing them, she anointed them with the precious perfume she had brought.

2. When the Pharisee saw this, he began to doubt in Jesus, saying to himself: "Were this man a prophet, He would surely know this woman is a sinner."

Jesus, knowing his thoughts, spoke to him as follows: "A certain man had two debtors: one owed him five hundred pence; the other, fifty. As neither could pay him, he forgave them both. Which, do you think, loved him most?" The Pharisee said: "I suppose, he to whom he forgave most."

3. "You see this woman," said Jesus. "I entered your house, and you gave me no water for my feet; yet she has washed them with her tears, and wiped them with her hair. You did not anoint my head, but she has anointed my feet. I say to you, many sins are forgiven her, because she has loved much."

27.—The Messengers of John the Baptist.

1. Owing to the poverty and obscurity of His life, many thought Jesus was not the Son of God, and could not be the Messiah. John the Baptist, not that he doubted, but that he might afford Jesus an opportunity of publicly proclaiming His divinity, sent two of his disciples to ask Him if He were the Messiah or not.

2. Jesus, without saying yes or no, simply referred to the miracles He had wrought and the evils He had cured, and told the messengers to say to John: "The blind see, the deaf hear, the dead rise, and the poor have the Gospel preached to them." These things had been long before prophesied of the Messiah by Isaiah.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 26.—Give the history of Mary Magdalene and the anointing of Jesus.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 27.—For what did John send messengers? What answer did Jesus give John's messengers?

THE SECOND YEAR OF CHRIST'S PUBLIC MINISTRY.

28. — Jesus Cures a Man who had been Sick Thirty-eight Years.

1. In the second year of His public preaching, Jesus went up to Jerusalem to assist at the Paschal solemnities. There was at Jerusalem a pond, called Bethesda, having around it five porches. In these porches lay many sick, such as the blind, the lame, and the paralytic.

2. At certain times an angel came down into the pond and moved the waters, and he who first entered after the waters had been disturbed, was cured of whatever disease he might have.

3. Now there lay in one of the porches a man, who had been sick for thirty-eight years. Jesus came to him and asked him if he would like to be cured. The poor man answered he had little chance, for he had no one to put him in after the angel had troubled the waters. Jesus said to him: "Arise; take up thy bed and walk." The man rose, and, taking up his bed, walked.

4. The Jews seeing what Christ had done, began to murmur, because He had cured the sick man on the Sabbath. When Jesus met their objections by telling them that not only His Father worked, but that He also worked, they became exceedingly angry, for they saw by this He made Himself equal to God.

5. They then strove to kill Him, but He all the more declared Himself the Son of God, and that in Him, and through Him, were men to be saved. Then He appealed to the works He did, as the best testimony that His Father had sent Him.

29.—The Seven Parables of the Kingdom of God.

1. Jesus came again to Lake Genesareth, and, entering a ship, taught the multitude that stood on the shore.

2. The Parable of the Sower.—A man went out to sow seed. Some fell by the wayside, and the birds picked it up; some fell on stony ground, and, springing up, soon withered away, because it had no root; some fell among thorns, and was soon choked; but others fell upon good ground, and brought forth—some a hundred, some sixty, some thirty-fold.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 28.—Tell the history of the man who had been sick for thirty-eight years. How was he cured? What did the Jews complain of? What did they strive to do? What did Christ declare?

3. Jesus afterwards gave this explanation of the parable to His disciples: The seed is the word of God: that by the wayside are those who hear; but the devil comes and takes the word out of their hearts, lest, believing, they should be saved. The seed that fell upon the rock are those who, at first, joyfully receive the word, and for a while believe, but, having no roots, in time of temptation easily fall away.

4. That which fell among thorns are those who hear, but, going away, are choked with the cares and pleasures of life, and yield no fruit. But the seed that fell on good ground are those who, hearing the word with a good heart, keep it, and bring forth fruit in patience.

5. The Parable of the Cockle. — Jesus spoke another parable: A man sowed good seed in his field, and when he slept his enemy came and sowed cockle. When the blades sprang up the cockle appeared; but the master bade the servants let both grow until the harvest, when he would tell the reapers to gather the cockle into bundles and burn it, but to gather the wheat into his barn.

6. The following is the interpretation of this parable :

The Sower is the Son of God ; the field is the world ; the seed is the good ; the cockle is the bad ; the enemy that sowed the cockle is the devil ; the harvest is the end of the world ; and the reapers are the angels. As the cockle was gathered and burned, so shall the wicked be in the day of judgment.

7. The Parable of the Mustard-seed.—Jesus spoke another parable : The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard-seed : it is the least of all seeds ; but, when it grows up and becomes a tree, the birds can rest in its branches.

8. The Parable of the Leaven.—A woman took leaven and hid it in three measures of meal, until the whole was leavened : so is the kingdom of God.

9. The Parable of the Treasure.—The kingdom of heaven is like to a treasure hidden in a field : when a man finds it, he goes and sells all he has and buys that field.

10. The Parable of the Pearl.—The kingdom of heaven is again like to a merchant seeking pearls : he finds one of great price ; then he goes and sells all he has and buys it.

11. The Parable of the Good and Bad Fishes.—Again the kingdom of heaven is like a net cast into the sea : it gathers all kinds of fishes ; but when it is drawn out, men select the good, and cast away the bad : so shall it be at the end of the world—the angels shall separate the just from the unjust.

30.—The Tempest Calmed.

1. After Jesus had finished speaking to the people, He said to His Apostles : “ Let us pass over to the other side.” Before they started, a Scribe came to Him and proposed to follow Him ; but Jesus, knowing how selfish his heart was, simply answered : “ The foxes have holes, and the birds have nests, but I have not whereon to lay my head.” When the Scribe heard this, he went away.

2. Shortly after the ship left the land, a violent storm arose. The waves covered the ship, but Jesus slept. The storm increasing, the disciples came to Jesus and told Him they feared all would be lost. Then Jesus rose and, chiding them for their want of faith, calmed the winds and the sea. When the disciples saw this, a great fear came upon them.

3. The stormy sea is the world ; the ship is the Church, which rides safely amid the tempest, for Christ is with her.

31.—The Daughter of Jairus.

1. When the ship landed, a multitude of people came and, with great joy, welcomed Jesus. Among those who met him was a man named Jairus, a ruler of the synagogue, who begged Him to come and heal his daughter, who lay dangerously ill. Jesus went with him.

2. As Jesus was passing through the crowd, a woman who had been sick for twelve years, and had in vain sought relief from many physicians, came behind Him and touched His garment. She was immediately cured.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 30.—What is said of the Scribe? Tell the story of the tempest.

3. Whilst they were on the way, a servant came to Jairus and told him, his daughter was dead, and it was useless to trouble himself any further. But Jesus said to him: "Fear not; only believe."

4. When they came to the house where the young woman was, they found a great crowd weeping and lamenting. But Jesus, approaching, said: "Weep not; she is not dead." They laughed at Him, for they all knew too well she was dead.

5. Then Jesus took with Him Peter, and James, and John, and the parents of the girl, and went into the room where she lay. Taking her by the hand, He said: "Arise;" and immediately she rose and began to walk through the house.

32.—Jesus chooses His Apostles.

1. Every day, crowds of people came from far and near, to hear Jesus. He was moved with great compassion for them. Seeing them wandering about like sheep without a shepherd, He said to His disciples: "The harvest is great, but the laborers are few."

2. The following night was spent in prayer. In the morning, Jesus called His disciples, and from amongst them chose twelve, whom He called Apostles—that is, sent. Their names were Peter and Andrew, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, Thomas and Matthew, James, the less, and Thaddeus, Simon Zelotes and Judas Iscariot.

3. When Jesus had chosen them, He gave them power to heal the sick, to raise the dead, and to drive out devils. Then He sent them forth to preach, but forbade them to take any thing with them but their staff. They were thus taught to put their trust in God, and not to hope for success through human means.

4. He moreover told them they must suffer for His sake, nay, that they would be scourged and put to death. "But," said He, "the disciple is not above the Master ; and if they do these things to me, how much more to you ?"

5. But He consoled them by the promise that He would be with them, and speak through them ; and, that those who heard them, heard Him ; and that those who despised them, despised Him.

6. The Apostles went forth two by two, preaching, and driving out devils, and healing the sick. Some time after this, Jesus added seventy disciples, whose duties were to help the Apostles, and go before Christ as the Apostles had done.

7. The blessing which our Lord gave by His doctrines, was spread through His Apostles, as the blessing given to Abraham long before descended to the sons of Jacob. As Gideon with his little band vanquished his enemies, so did the Apostles with their staff, change the face of society and subdue the world to the yoke of Christ.

33.—John the Baptist Beheaded.

1. Herod, Tetrarch of Galilee, had married Herodias, his brother's wife. John the Baptist came to him, and told him it was not lawful for him to have his brother's wife. When Herod heard this, he became exceedingly angry, and cast John into prison, hoping thus to silence him.

2. Now it happened that Herod, on his birthday, gave a grand feast to the princes of Galilee. During the feast, the daughter of Herodias danced for Herod and his court. The king was much pleased, and promised to give the young woman whatever she would ask, even to the half of his kingdom. He confirmed this promise with an oath.

3. The damsel hastened to her mother, who advised her to ask for the head of John the Baptist, that thus they might be revenged on him for what he had said. The daughter returned and asked for the head of John.

4. When Herod heard this, he was very sad, but because of his oath, he sent and had John beheaded. The head was placed upon a dish and brought to the young woman, who carried it to her mother.

5. Like John the Baptist, the saintly and fearless prophet, Elias, had presented himself, on a similar occasion, before king Achab. Like Herod, Achab also hated the truth, and strove to put the man of God to death, but failed.

34.—The Miracle of the Loaves and Fishes.

1. About the time of the Pasch, the Apostles returned from their first mission. Coming to Jesus, they told Him what they had done and what they had taught. Jesus then took them with Him, and they crossed the sea of Galilee, and went into the desert. A great multitude followed them. When Jesus saw how many had come, He began to teach them and to heal their sick.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 33.—For what was John the Baptist cast into prison? How did he die?

2. About the evening, the Apostles proposed to send the multitude home, as they had nothing to give them to eat. Jesus asked what they had. The Apostles answered : "Five loaves and two fishes."

3. Then Jesus commanded the people to sit down on the grass, and having taken the loaves and the two fishes, blessed them and gave them to His Apostles, who distributed them amongst the people. There were about five thousand men; besides the women and children, and yet there was enough for all. When they were done, twelve baskets of fragments were gathered up.

4. When the people saw this stupendous miracle, they were filled with admiration, and wished to make Jesus their king. But He, knowing their design, hid Himself, and during the night passed with his disciples over to Capharnaum.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 34.—What is said of the return of the Apostles? Tell the history of the loaves and fishes. What effect had this miracle on the people?

35.—The Promise of the Blessed Sacrament.

1. The day after the miracle of the loaves and fishes, the people came to Jesus in the synagogue of Capernaum. When He saw how they came to Him, because they had eaten of the miraculous bread, He told them not to labor for perishable bread, but for that bread which never perished, and which He could give.

2. Then He told them that He was the living bread, and that this bread was His flesh. When the Jews heard this, they were scandalized, and asked: "How could He give them His flesh to eat." But Jesus only repeated His former assertion, in a stronger and more emphatic manner, and concluded with these clear and decided words: "Unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man, and drink His blood, you shall not have life in you. For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed."

3. Many of the disciples, when they heard these words, were very much troubled, and because they could not understand how Christ could give them His body to eat, and His blood to drink, went away, and walked no more with Him.

4. But Jesus continued to affirm this incomprehensible mystery all the more, and at last turned to Peter, and asked him if he would also go away. But Peter, who could understand the doctrine no better than the others, declared he would not, but would believe it; not that he understood it, but because Jesus Christ had said it, and "He had the words of eternal life."

5. As the manna fell from heaven, to support the Israelites in the desert, so is the Blessed Sacrament daily present upon our altars, to feed and nourish the soul in the battle of life.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 35. — What happened on the day after the miracle of the loaves and fishes? How did the Jews receive the words of Jesus? How did Jesus meet their objection? What did many do? How did Peter act? What is said of the manna and the Blessed Sacrament?

36.—The Woman of Chanaan.

1. Jesus went into the country of Tyre and Sidon, and a pagan woman of Chanaan came to Him, asking Him to cure her daughter, who was possessed by a devil. But Jesus made her no answer. The woman continued to urge her request, until the disciples thought of putting her away, but Jesus forbade them.

2. The woman coming near, adored Jesus, when He said to her, "It is not good to give the bread of the children to the dogs." But she answered: "The whelps sometimes eat the crumbs that fall from the tables of their masters." When Jesus heard this, He was much struck with her faith, and cured her daughter.

Jesus found faith among the pagans of Sidon, as, on a former occasion, Jonas had found it among the pagans of Ninive.

37.—The Primacy conferred on Peter. [A. D. 32.]

1. Jesus came to the city of Cesarea Philippi, and that He might try His Apostles, asked what the people generally thought of Him. The Apostles answered, there was great difference of opinion; some taking Him for Elias, some for Moses, and some thought He was a prophet. Then Jesus asked them what was their own opinion on the matter. Peter answered in the name of all: "Thou art Christ, the Son of the living God."

2. When Jesus heard this unqualified acknowledgment of his divinity, He said to Peter: "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-Jona. Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my Church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against her. I will give to thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth, shall be bound also in heaven ; and whatsoever thou shalt loose upon earth, shall be loosed also in heaven."

3. Peter was thus the first of the Apostles who made a public profession of the divinity of Jesus Christ, and, for his faith, Jesus made him the chief among the Apostles, and the future visible head of the Church. For eighteen hundred years, the Popes, who are the legitimate successors of St. Peter, have been placed at the head of the Christian world.

38.—The Transfiguration.

1. After six days, Jesus took Peter, and James, and John with Him up into a mountain. There He was transfigured before them. His face shone as the sun, and His garments became white as snow. Moses and Elias also appeared, and began to talk with Him.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 37.—What did Jesus do at Cesarea Philippi ? What was the opinion of the people about Him ? What did Peter say ? What power did Christ confer on Peter ? What is said of the Popes ?

2. When the Apostles saw the ravishing beauty of Christ's person, they proposed, in their joy, to build three tabernacles; one for Him, one for Moses, and one for Elias. Whilst they were speaking, a voice from heaven cried out: "This is my beloved Son, hear ye Him."

3. At these words, the Apostles fell flat on the ground, nor did they look up until Jesus came and bade them rise.

When they lifted up their eyes they saw no one but Jesus, who commanded them to tell the vision to no one till after He had risen from the dead.

4. Jesus, transfigured, appeared between the two greatest men of the Old Law—Moses, the law-giver, and Elias, the miracle-worker. In His glory, He infinitely surpassed both the one and the other, proving clearly that He was the center of majesty as well as the origin of power, both in the Jewish and Christian dispensation.

39.—Jesus the Friend of Children—Scandal.

1. One day, after teaching, Jesus sat down to rest, when the women brought their children to Him, that He might bless them. The Apostles, anxious to spare Him, strove to keep back the crowd; but Jesus said to them: "Suffer little children to come to me, for in their innocence they are like the angels in heaven." Then Jesus laid His hands upon the heads of the children, and blessed them.

2. On another occasion the Apostles asked Jesus who was the greatest in heaven. He called a little child, and, placing it in their midst, said, "That to become great in heaven, we must, on earth, become innocent and humble as children."

3. It was on this occasion Christ pronounced a woe upon those who scandalized the young, or led them into sin; and the reason He gave was, "their angels were ever before the face of God."

As Tobias was protected by an angel, so have we angels to guard us, though with the eyes of the body we can not see them.

40.—The Pardon of Injuries—The Unforgiving Servant.

1. One day, Peter asked our Savior how often he should forgive his brother. Jesus said: "Till seventy times seven;" by which is meant an indefinite number.

2. To confirm His words to Peter, Jesus related the following parable: A king wished to take an account of his affairs; so he called his servants. One came who owed ten thousand talents, and, being unable to pay, the master ordered him, and his wife, and his children, to be sold. The poor man, when he saw the misfortune that was come upon him, fell upon his knees and begged for time, promising to pay all. The master, taking pity on him, forgave the debt.

3. When this servant left the master, he met a fellow-servant who owed him a hundred pence. Seizing him by the throat, he demanded immediate payment. The servant begged for a little time. He would not give it, but cast him into prison.

4. When the other servants saw what was done, they told the master, who, calling the unforgiving servant to him, chid him for his harshness, and then cast him into prison until his own debt should be paid. Christ concluded with these memorable words: "So also shall my heavenly Father do unto you, if you forgive not every one his brother from your hearts."

41.—The Power of the Keys given to the Apostles.

1. At the time St. Peter made his glorious profession of faith in the divinity of Christ, he received, besides the primacy in the Church, a special power of binding and QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 40.—What is the lesson on forgiving injuries? What is said of the two servants? How did the master act? What conclusion did Christ draw?

loosing on earth. About the period we are writing, Jesus extended this same power to the other Apostles.

2. The words in which this power was conferred, were as follows: "Amen, I say to you, whatsoever you shall bind upon earth, shall be bound also in heaven; and, whatsoever you shall loose on earth, shall be loosed also in heaven." And in order that there might be no doubt as to the authority of the Apostles when they went forth to preach, Christ added: "He that hears you, hears me; and he that despises you, despises me."

42.—The Parable of the Good Samaritan.

1. Once, while Jesus was teaching, a lawyer came to Him, and asked what he must do to be saved. Jesus answered: "Love God with your whole heart, and love your neighbor as yourself." When the lawyer heard of his neighbor, he thought he would entrap our Savior, and asked: "Who is my neighbor?"

2. In answer, Jesus narrated the following parable: A man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho. On the way, he fell among robbers, who stripped him, and wounding him, left him half dead. Shortly afterwards, a priest came by the same way, and, though he saw the helpless condition of the wounded man, passed on. In like manner, a Levite also passed.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 41.—What power was granted the Apostles? What are the words in which Christ conferred this power?

3. But a Samaritan, passing, saw the wounded man, and coming, bound up his wounds, and placing him on his own ass, took him to the inn. The next day, he took two pence and gave to the host, bidding him take care of the wounded man, and promising to pay, on his return, whatever additional expense would be incurred.

4. When our Savior had finished, He asked the lawyer: "Who was neighbor to the man who fell among robbers?" The Doctor answered: "He that showed mercy." Then Jesus said: "Go and do in like manner."

43.—Mary and Martha.

1. After this, Jesus came to a town called Bethania. Here a woman, named Martha, received Him into her house. Martha gave herself much trouble, arranging and fixing the house, that she might show her respect for her guest; but her sister, Mary, went and sat down at the feet of Jesus, and listened to His words.

2. When Martha saw that Mary left all the care of the house to her, she came to Jesus and requested Him to speak to her sister, that she might help her. But Jesus told Martha not to trouble herself about many things, one thing was necessary; and, as Mary had chosen the better part, He would not disturb her.

44.—The Lord's Prayer.

1. One day, after Jesus had been praying in a retired spot, one of His disciples came to Him, and asked Him to teach them to pray, as John had taught his disciples. Jesus said: "When you pray, say: Our Father, Who art in heaven; hallowed be Thy name; Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and, forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. Amen."

2. Jesus said besides: "Come to me, all you that labor, and are heavy laden, and I will refresh you. My yoke is sweet, and my burden is light. Learn of me, because I am meek and humble of heart."

45.—The Lost Sheep and the Good Shepherd.

1. At the feast of Tabernacles, Jesus went up to Jerusalem, where He taught. Many of those who came to hear Him were publicans and sinners. When the Scribes and Pharisees saw this, they began to murmur. That He might the better illustrate His own character, and at the same time teach them a lesson, Jesus gave the following parable:

2. What man having a hundred sheep, and losing one, does not leave the ninety-nine and seek for that which was lost, until he find it? When he has found it, does he not call together his friends and neighbors, and say to them, rejoice with me, because I have found my sheep that was lost? As a man does with his lost sheep, so does God with the sinner that repents.

3. "I am the good shepherd," said Christ. "The good shepherd gives his life for his flock, but the hireling, when he sees the wolf, flies. I lay down my life for my sheep. I have other sheep that are not yet of this fold, them also I must bring. There shall be but one fold and one shepherd."

46.—The Prodigal Child.

1. After Jesus had given the above parable, that so beautifully explains what a good shepherd should be, He spoke another, to illustrate the forgiving character of His Father toward a repenting sinner.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 45.—What gave occasion for the parable of the good shepherd? Relate it. What does Christ say of Himself?

2. "A certain man," said He, "had two sons. The younger asked his father for his portion, and, having received his share, went into a far country. He was not long there, till he spent what his father had given him, and the companions of his folly abandoning him when they found he had no more to spend, he was reduced to extreme want.

3. "Seeing nothing but starvation staring him in the face, he went and hired himself to a farmer, who sent him to feed swine. When the young man saw the condition to which he was reduced, entering into himself, he rose up and returned to his father.

4. "The kind-hearted father was watching, and when he saw his poor prodigal son returning to him, hastened out to meet him, and, falling on his neck, kissed him, and welcomed him back to the home of his childhood. The son said: 'Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee. I am not worthy to be called thy son.'

5. "But the father ordered the servants to bring forth the best robe in the house, and put it on him, and to put a ring on his finger, and shoes on his feet. Then he commanded them to hasten and bring the fatted calf, that they might kill it and make merry.

6. "The eldest son was in the fields, and when he returned, and heard music and dancing, and learned the cause, he was very angry. Calling his father, he complained that he had made so much of his disobedient and dissipated brother, whilst he had never received any thing, not even a kid, with which to make merry with his friends. But his father said, it was but right to rejoice, for his brother, that was dead, had come to life, and he who had been lost was found."

7. In this parable, Jesus Christ taught the doctrine of penance. First, the prodigal child recognizes his sins, repents, and returns to his father. Secondly, he confesses, and is ready to make satisfaction for what he has done. In the same manner the sinner recognizes his sins, repents, and confesses them; then willingly accepts the penance imposed on him. And, lastly, the absolution of the priest reconciles him to God.

47.—The Rich Man and Lazarus.

1. Jesus, continuing to preach, spoke as follows: There was a certain rich man, who was clothed in purple and fine linen, and feasted sumptuously every day. There was also a certain beggar, named Lazarus, who lay at the rich man's gate, begging for the crumbs that fell from his table: moreover, the dogs licked his sores.

2. In due time the beggar died, and was carried to Abraham's bosom. The rich man also died, but was buried in hell. Here, lifting up his eyes, he saw Lazarus, and begged Abraham to send him to him, that he might dip his finger in water and cool his tongue. But Abraham reminded the rich man how it had been with him and Lazarus in life, and how just it was that he, who had feasted on good things, should now suffer, whilst he who had suffered should be rewarded.

3. "Besides," said Abraham, "there is between us a great lake, so that no one can pass from us to you, nor from you to us."

As a last appeal, the rich man begged Abraham to send Lazarus to his five brothers, that they might be kept out of hell; but Abraham refused, saying: "They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them."

48.—The Cure of the Man Born Blind.

1. Whilst Jesus was celebrating the feast of Tabernacles, He went out from the temple on the Sabbath-day. He met a man who had been blind from his birth. The disciples asked: "If it was because of any fault in the blind man himself, or in his parents, that he had been born blind." Jesus answered: "That the blindness was neither because of any fault in the man, nor in his parents, but simply to manifest the works of God."

2. Jesus spat on the ground and made clay, and spread the clay on the eyes of the blind man. Then He bade him go and wash in the pool of Siloe. The blind man went, washed, and returned, seeing.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 47.—What is said of the rich man? What is said of Lazarus? What did Abraham say? What last appeal did the rich man make? How was he answered?

3. When those who had formerly known him saw him, they were confounded, and took him to the Pharisees. They asked him how he had been cured. He told them. When they heard how Jesus had cured him on the Sabbath, some said, He was God, and some said, He was a sinner, whilst others said, "A sinner can not do such miracles;" and there was a division.

4. There were some also who would not believe the man had been blind; so they sent for his parents, who testified that he had been born blind, and that it was their son. When the blind man began to reason, and to show that none but God could restore sight to the blind, the Pharisees became very angry, and cast him out.

5. Some time after this, Jesus met him, and asked him if he believed in the Son of God. When, to his question, Jesus told him He was the Son of God, the man who had been blind fell on his knees and adored Jesus, saying: "Lord, I believe."

6. In this miracle we have a remarkable fulfillment of the words of the prophet Isaias concerning Christ, that in His time "the eyes of the blind should be opened." Such a miracle could only be done by God; hence, the anger and rage of unbelieving Pharisees when they could neither disprove nor gainsay the cure of the man who had been born blind.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 43.—What is said of the blind man? How was he cured? How did the Pharisees act? Who were called? What was done to the blind man? Why? What happened to him afterwards?

49.—The Ten Lepers.

1. After the feast of Tabernacles, Jesus passed through Samaria and Galilee. On the way, He met ten lepers. By the law of Moses, lepers were forbidden to live in the towns or cities, or to mingle among the people, and were required to live in the country, apart by themselves. When Jesus saw the ten lepers, He commanded them to go and show themselves to the priest. Whilst they were going, they were cleansed.

2. One of them, when he saw what had happened, returned, and cast himself at the feet of Jesus; and this man was a Samaritan. Jesus asked if the other nine had not also been cleansed, and how came it that only the stranger returned to give thanks. Then Jesus, to console the grateful leper, said: "Rise, thy faith hath made thee whole."

50.—The Publican and the Pharisee.

1. When Jesus saw how some trusted in their own works and despised others, He spoke the following parable: "Two men went up to the temple to pray; one was a Pharisee, the other a Publican. The Pharisee, standing, prayed thus : ‘O God, I thank Thee that I am not like the rest of men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers ; nor am I like this Publican. I fast twice a week, and I give tithes of all I possess.’

2. “But the Publican, standing afar off, would not so much as lift up his eyes, but struck his breast, saying : ‘O God, be merciful to me, a sinner.’

“I say to you, the Publican was justified, but the Pharisee was not ; because he that exalteth himself shall be humbled, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.”

51.—The Rich Young Man.

1. A rich young man came to Jesus and asked what he must do to be saved. Jesus bade him keep the commandments. But the young man, hesitating, asked : “What commandments ?” Jesus said : “Kill not, steal not, neither shalt thou bear false witness. Honor thy father and thy mother.” The young man, hearing this, answered he had kept all these from his youth.

2. Jesus then turned to him and said : “If you will be perfect, sell all you have and give it to the poor, and come and follow me.” But the young man went away sorrowful. When he had gone, Jesus turned to His disciples and remarked, how difficult it was for a rich man to part with his wealth, and very few of them would enter heaven.

52.—The Laborers in the Vineyard.

1. After Jesus had spoken to his disciples of the rewards that awaited the faithful servant, He gave the following parable: The kingdom of heaven is like to the master of a vineyard. In the morning he went out to hire laborers; and, having agreed to give them each a penny a day, sent them into his vineyard.

2. He went out at the third, and the sixth, and the ninth hours, and seeing men standing idle, sent them into his vineyard, telling them he would give them what was right. He did the same at the eleventh hour.

3. In the evening, the master called the laborers, and paid them each a penny. But, when those who had labored from the morning came, and received only a penny, they began to complain, because the others, who had not labored as much as they, had been made equal to them.

4. The master answered, they had agreed for a penny; he had paid them, and he did not see why they should complain because he was generous.

Then Jesus said: "So shall it be in heaven: the last shall be first, and the first last, for many are called, but few are chosen."

5. Two thousand years before the coming of Jesus Christ, the Jews were called to be the chosen people of God. They despised this call, and so comparatively but few of them have been chosen to have a part in the kingdom of Jesus Christ. When the Jews denied and rejected Jesus Christ, He turned to the Gentiles, who, in immense numbers, enrolled themselves under His banner, and thus they who were last have become first, and the Jews, who were first, have become last.

53.—The Resurrection of Lazarus.

1. Whilst Jesus was assisting at the feast of the dedication of the temple, He openly taught that He and the Father were one. When the Jews heard this, and saw that He thus made Himself equal to God, they became very angry, and determined to stone Him. But, hearing of their intentions, Jesus quietly left Jerusalem and went into the country about the Jordan. There He received a message from the two sisters, Mary and Martha, of Bethania, telling Him their brother Lazarus was very sick.

2. But He remained two days longer, remarking to His disciples that Lazarus was dead. When He came to Bethania, Martha met Him, and complained that He had been so slow. But Jesus bade her have courage, for her brother would again come to life.

3. Martha called Mary, who was at home weeping. She rose and hastened to meet Jesus, who was yet outside the town, and, casting herself at His feet, said : “ Lord, if you had been here, my brother had not died.”

4. When Jesus saw her weeping, and saw the other Jews who accompanied her also weeping, He asked where they had laid Lazarus. They brought Him to the sepulcher. He commanded them to take away the stone that lay over the door ; then He lifted up His eyes to heaven, and, praying, cried out: "Lazarus, come forth." Immediately Lazarus rose and came forth from the grave, bound in the napkins and grave-clothes in which he had been buried. Many of the Jews believed in Jesus, but others went and told the chief priests and Pharisees what had happened.

54.—The Jews Seek to Kill Jesus.

1. When the Pharisees and Scribes heard of the resurrection of Lazarus, and how the people were following Jesus, they said: "If we let Him alone, every body will believe in Him." They asked Caiaphas, who was high-priest that year, what he thought of the matter. But he answered: "It is expedient that one man die for the people, that the whole nation perish not." This he said by inspiration.

2. From that day they sought to put Jesus to death. For this reason, He walked no more openly among the Jews, but, going away, dwelt in the city of Ephrem. The Jews hated Jesus because His works proved His divinity; and Cain killed his brother because God loved Abel.

3. Six days after the resurrection of Lazarus, Jesus said to His Apostles: "We are about to go up to Jerusalem, and I shall be betrayed and condemned to death; then I shall be scourged, and at last crucified; but I shall rise again, on the third day." This remarkable prophecy was fulfilled to the letter in the passion and death of Christ.

55.—Zacheus, the Chief of the Publicans.

1. There lived in Jericho a man named Zacheus, the chief of the Publicans. He strove to see Jesus when He passed through the city, but, being a man of small stature, he could not, on account of the crowd. He then ran on and climbed up a sycamore-tree. When Jesus came to the tree, He lifted up His eyes and said to Zacheus: "Make haste and come down, for to-day I must abide in your house." Zacheus hastened, and with great joy, received Him into his house.

2. When the others saw this, they began to murmur, because Jesus had gone into the house of a publican, who, from his profession, was considered a sinner. Jesus said to Zacheus: "This day salvation is come into this house, for the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost."

56.—Mary Magdalene Anoints Jesus.

1. From Jericho, Jesus went to Bithania, where Simon the leper made a supper for Him. Lazarus was one of the guests, and Martha, his sister, helped to wait upon them. Now, while they were all sitting at supper, Mary Magdalene took a box of precious ointment, and, coming into the house, knelt down and anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped them with the hair of her head. The house was filled with the sweet odor of the ointment.

2. When Judas Iscariot saw this, he began to complain and to murmur at the waste. He asked why they had not sold the ointment and given the price to the poor; not that he cared for the poor, but because he carried the purse, and was a thief.

3. Jesus bade them let the woman alone, for she had done a good work in embalming His body for the tomb. He said also, that wheresoever His Gospel would be preached, the piety of Mary Magdalene would be proclaimed.

4. Like Judas, many nowadays cry "Prodigality" if they are asked to contribute for the beauty of the Church or the splendor of divine worship; they also say: "Let it be given to the poor." But Jesus says: "Do both: ornament the Church, and help the poor."

57.—Christ's Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem.

1. On the following day, Jesus came to Jerusalem, but, before entering, stopped at Mount Olivet, just outside the walls of the city. From there He sent His disciples to Bethpage, a little town close by, and bade them bring the ass which they would find tied by the way.

2. The disciples did as He commanded, and, bringing the ass, put their garments on it ; then they placed Jesus thereon, and led Him into Jerusalem. On the way great multitudes of the people met Him. Some spread their garments on the ground, some cut down branches from the palm-trees, and strewed them before Him, whilst all cried : “ Hosanna to the Son of David ! blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord ! ”

3. Many of the Pharisees were also in the crowd. When they heard the people shouting, and saw the honors that were paid to Jesus, they asked Him to rebuke His disciples, and to tell the people to hold their peace ; but He would not.

4. As Jesus drew near the city, looking upon it He wept ; then He cried out : “ O Jerusalem ! if you had known the things that are for your peace ; but now they are hidden from your eyes. The days shall come when your enemies shall compass you about, and shall beat you flat to the ground, and there shall not remain of you a stone upon a stone.”

5. When Jesus entered Jerusalem, He went directly to the temple, where, from every direction, the sick, the blind, and the paralytic were brought to Him, and He cured them all. At last the people became very much excited, and even the children caught up the general enthusiasm, and cried out: "Hosanna to the Son of David!"

6. When the Pharisees heard this, they became more and more enraged, and, coming to Him, asked if He heard what was said. Jesus answered: "Yes; but," said He, "have you never read what was written by the prophet: Out of the mouths of infants and sucklings thou hast perfected praise?"

7. Long before had Zacharias the prophet foretold the entrance of Christ into Jerusalem, when he said: "Rejoice, daughters of Sion, and shout, daughters of Jerusalem; behold, thy King will come to thee: He is poor, and riding upon an ass."

8. Jesus Christ entered Jerusalem on the very day the Jews were required by the law of Moses to procure the Paschal lamb. How significant His every act! The Paschal lamb was offered for the Jewish people; but Jesus, who is the true Paschal Lamb, was offered, not for a people, but for a world.

58.—The Parable of the Marriage Feast.

1. On the next day, while Jesus was teaching in the temple, He said: "The kingdom of heaven is like to a king who made a marriage feast for his son. He sent his servants to call those who had been invited, but they would not come. He sent a second time, but they not only refused, but, seizing his servants, put them to death.

2. "When the king heard this, he became very angry, and, sending his armies, destroyed the murderers, and burnt their city.

"That his marriage feast might not be without guests, the king sent his servants into the highways and invited all—the good as well as the bad—to come.

3. "The king, going into the banqueting hall, found a guest who had not on a wedding-garment. When asked why he had neglected to put on a wedding-garment, he was silent. Then the king ordered him to be bound hand and foot, and to be cast into exterior darkness."

4. In the East it was customary for kings to supply their guests with wedding-garments; hence, the crime of the unfortunate man, who, through carelessness, had neglected to put on the proper garment, even though provided for him.

59.—The Tribute to Cæsar.

1. When the Scribes and Pharisees heard the parable of the marriage feast, they knew Jesus meant them by the guests who had refused to come. In consequence, they were very angry, and began to plot how they might entrap Him in His words, that thereby they might have a pretext to condemn Him.

2. For this purpose they sent some of their own disciples, together with some of the friends of Herod, to Him. They began by flattering Him, and praising Him for His bold and fearless declaration of His opinions. When they thought they had deceived Him as to their intentions, they, with deep cunning, asked Him "whether it was lawful to give tribute to Cæsar, or not."

3. Jesus knew very well what their motives were, and the treacherous plot by which they hoped to entrap Him; for if He said "Yes," the Jews would hate Him as being an enemy to their country; and if He said "No," Herod would seize upon Him for resisting the government.

4. Jesus asked for a penny. When it was presented to Him, He asked "whose image was on it."

They said, "Cæsar's." Then said Jesus: "Render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and to God the things that are God's."

When they heard this, their malice was forced to yield in admiration to His wisdom. Going away, they dared ask Him no more questions.

60.—Christ Foretells the Destruction of Jerusalem and the End of the World.

1. After Jesus had finished speaking, He rose to leave the temple. As He was passing out, His disciples began to admire its magnificence and solidity; but Jesus told them not to trust too much to appearances; that that temple which they now so much admired, and of which the Jews were so proud, would, ere long, be destroyed; nor would there remain of it so much as a stone upon a stone.

2. When He came to Mount Olivet, that stands but a short distance from the city, He sat down and began to speak to His disciples of the destruction of Jerusalem and the end of the world. They asked Him when these things would take place.

3. In answer to the first question, He said: "When you shall see an army encompass Jerusalem about, know that her destruction is at hand. Then let those that are in Judea flee to the mountains, and those that are in Jerusalem hasten to depart, for the days of vengeance and tribulation are come: many shall fall by the sword, many shall be led away captives among the nations of the earth, and Jerusalem shall be destroyed."

4. To the second question, He said: "Be not deceived; My Gospel shall be preached in the whole world, and then shall the end come. There shall be tribulations such as have not been; false Christs shall arise, and false prophets shall come, doing wonders and showing signs, so as almost to deceive the elect. But the end is not yet."

5. Other signs shall appear: "The sun shall be darkened, the moon shall not give her light, the stars shall fall from heaven, the earth shall be moved, the sea shall roar, and men shall wither away for fear of the things that are to come. Then shall the sign of the Son of Man appear, and He Himself shall come in His majesty; the angels shall gather together the elect from the four winds. But no one knows either the day or the hour, but the Father alone."

6. Thirty-seven years after this remarkable prophecy concerning the destruction of Jerusalem, Titus, a Roman general, came with an army and laid siege to Jerusalem. The prophecy was fulfilled to the letter: the walls were beaten down, the city was taken, the temple burned, and the Jews were carried into captivity, never to return.

In its own time will the prophecy concerning the end of the world be also fulfilled.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 60.—What did Jesus say concerning the temple? Of what did Jesus speak when He came to Mount Olivet? When was Jerusalem to be destroyed? What did Jesus say about the end of the world? Who destroyed Jerusalem? When?

61.—The Parable of the Five Wise and the Five Foolish Virgins.

1. Jesus continued to speak to His disciples, saying : “ The kingdom of heaven is like to ten virgins who took their lamps and went forth to meet the bridegroom. Five were wise, and five were foolish. The foolish took no oil with them, but the wise took oil in vessels, together with their lamps.

2. “ Whilst the bridegroom tarried, they all slept. During the night, the bridegroom came, and they rose and went forth to meet him. But soon the foolish virgins found their lamps had gone out, and, while they went to buy oil, the bridegroom entered, and the doors were shut.

3. “ At length the foolish virgins came, but could not enter. When they cried out to open for them, the bridegroom answered : ‘ I know you not : watch, for you know not when the Son of Man shall come.’ ”

62.—The Parable of the Talents.

1. Again Jesus gave another parable : “The end of the world is like to a man who went into a far country. He called together his servants, and delivered to them his goods. To one he gave five talents ; to another, two ; and to another, one. Then he started on his journey.

2. “Now, he that had received the five talents went and traded with them till he gained other five talents. In like manner, he that had received the two gained other two ; but he that had received the one talent went away and buried his lord’s money.

3. “After a long time the lord returned ; and he that had received the five talents came and brought with him the other five. When the lord saw this, he said : ‘Well done, thou good and faithful servant ; because thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things ; enter thou into the joy of thy lord.’ In like manner the lord spoke to him that had gained the two talents.

4. “But he that had received the one talent came and said : ‘Lord, I knew thou wert a hard man, and, being afraid, I hid thy talent in the ground. Here is what is thine.’ The lord reproached him for his sloth, and, taking the talent from him, gave it to him who had the ten talents. Then he commanded the unprofitable servant to be bound hand and foot and cast into exterior darkness.”

63.—The Last Judgment.

1. Among the last of the public instructions Christ gave the people, was a discourse on the last judgment, and an exhortation to His disciples to prepare for it. The negligence of men, and the little influence that the mere love for God has to change the mind, rendered it necessary to add fear to the other motives for serving God.

2. Jesus began by a description of the commotions that would beforehand take place in the heavens and on the earth ; telling how the sun, and the moon, and the stars would change, and the earth tremble ; and how, after this, an angel would sound the last trumpet and call the dead to judgment. Then would come the Son of Man, surrounded by His angels, and seated on a cloud, while all the nations of the earth would be gathered before Him. .

3. When all mankind shall have been thus gathered before Him, Jesus Christ shall send out His angels to separate the good from the bad, placing the former on His right hand, and the latter on His left. Then shall Christ turn to the good, and say to them : “ Come, ye blessed of My Father, possess the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.”

4. But He shall turn to the wicked and, with an angry countenance, say : “ Depart from me, ye accursed, into everlasting fire, which was prepared for the devil and his angels.” And these shall go into everlasting punishment, but the just into life everlasting.

5. At His first coming, Jesus appeared in poverty and weakness, but, at His second, He shall appear as a judge, surrounded by His majesty, and backed by His power. The cross, now so much despised, will then be the sign of His glory.

THE PASSION AND DEATH OF JESUS CHRIST.

64.—The Paschal Lamb.

1. On the first day of the Azymes, the Jews were commanded by the law of Moses to sacrifice the Paschal lamb, QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 63.—Besides love, what else is needed to serve God ? Describe the last judgment. What shall be done to the good ? What to the bad ? What is the difference between the first and the last coming of Jesus Christ ?

and for eight days to eat unleavened bread. On that day, Jesus told Peter and John to go and prepare the Pasch for Him and His disciples.

2. They went into the city and, as Jesus had bidden them, prepared the Pasch. When the evening was come, Jesus sat down to table with His twelve Apostles, declaring how much and how long he had desired to eat that supper with them.

3. The Jewish Paschal lamb was a figure of Jesus Christ, the true Paschal Lamb: for this reason Christ was, by His own will, put to death on the cross, on the same day, and at the very hour, that, year by year, the Jewish Paschal lamb was offered in the temple.

65.—The Washing of Feet.

1. When they had all eaten, Jesus rose from the table and girded Himself with a towel. Then, pouring water into a basin, He began to wash the feet of His disciples, and to wipe them with the towel.

2. When He came to Peter, the brave Apostle declared, never should his Lord wash his feet ; but when Jesus told him it was necessary, if he would have share with Him, Peter yielded.

3. After Jesus had washed the feet of the Apostles, He again sat down and began to discourse to them on what He had done. "The servant," said He, "is not greater than the master ; and if I, who am Master, have washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another's feet."

4. When Jesus said the washing of feet was necessary, He wished to show how necessary baptism and penance were. By these, sins are washed away through the merits of Christ ; so was the washing of feet at the last supper a symbol of these sacraments.

66.—Christ Institutes the Blessed Sacrament.

1. After the washing of the Apostles' feet, came that sacred and solemn moment Christ had so long desired. He was about to enter on His passion, and must fulfill that promise He had before made, that "He would give His body to eat, and His blood to drink."

2. Therefore, while they were all sitting at the table, Jesus took of the bread that was before Him, and, holding it in His sacred hands, lifted up His eyes to heaven ; then He gave thanks, and, blessing the bread, gave it to His disciples, saying : "Take ye and eat ; THIS IS MY BODY, which is given for you." By these words Jesus changed the bread into His adorable body.

3. Then He took the chalice, in which was a part of the wine that had been used at the supper, and, giving thanks, blessed it, and gave it also to His disciples, saying : "Drink ye all of this, FOR THIS IS MY BLOOD of the new testament, which shall be shed for many for the remission of sins. Do this for a commemoration of Me."

4. By these words Jesus changed the wine into His blood ; and, by the words, “ Do this for a commemoration of Me,” He ordained the Apostles priests, and instituted for all time the august Sacrament of the altar.

Jesus is the Melchisedec of the New Law, who, as King and Priest, offered Himself under the appearances of bread and wine.

67.—Jesus Foretells the Treason of Judas and the Denial of Peter.

1. After the institution of the Blessed Sacrament, Jesus became depressed and very much troubled. He knew that Judas Iscariot was about to betray Him for the paltry sum of thirty pieces of silver.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 66.—Describe the institution of the Blessed Sacrament? What did Christ do? What did He say? What is Jesus in the New Law?

2. That the traitor might have no excuse, Jesus publicly declared "one of them was about to betray Him." Instantly there was a commotion among the Apostles, and each began to ask : "Is it I?"

3. John, whom Jesus loved most tenderly, was sitting by His side. Peter made a sign to him to ask Jesus of whom He spoke. John, leaning on the bosom of Jesus, did so. Jesus answered : "It is he to whom I shall reach bread dipped;" and, immediately dipping the bread, He handed it to Judas. As soon as Judas had eaten the morsel, Satan entered into him, and, going out, he consummated his treason.

4. When Judas was gone, Jesus said, in a very solemn manner : "Now is the Son of Man glorified, and God is glorified in Him; I will be with you only a little while." Peter, hearing this, asked "where He would go." Jesus answered : "Where I go, thou canst not follow now." Peter became very much excited, and, with great vehemence, asked "why he could not follow now, as he was ready to lay down his life for Him."

5. But Jesus, turning to him, said : "Amen, amen; I say to thee, this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny Me thrice."

Joseph was sold by his brothers, that he might save them in the time of famine; Jesus was sold by Judas, that He might redeem and save mankind.

68.—Christ's Last Discourse to His Apostles.

1. After Judas left the supper-room, Jesus, turning to the other Apostles, said : "I am about to leave you, but, before I go, I give you a new commandment : Love one another. Be not troubled; I will not entirely leave you; at present I go to prepare a place for you in My Father's house; I will come again and take you with Me.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 67.—After the institution of the Blessed Sacrament, what happened to Jesus? How did Jesus act toward Judas Iscariot? What did Judas do? What did Jesus say to Peter?

2. "I will also ask My Father to give you another Paraclete, who will teach you all things, and abide with you forever. I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one can come to the Father but through Me. I am the vine; My Father is the husbandman: he that abideth in Me, and I in him, shall bear much fruit. My peace I leave you; My peace I give you."

3. When Jesus had finished with these grave and affectionate words, He lifted up His eyes to heaven, and said: "Father, the hour is come; glorify Thy Son. I pray for Mine; sanctify them. I pray not for Mine only, but for those also who, through their word, shall believe in Me, that they may be one with Me, as You, Father, are in Me, and I in Thee."

69.—Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemani.

1. When Jesus had finished His prayer, He went with His disciples, to the garden of Gethsemani, near Mount Olivet. Having entered, He bade His disciples sit down and rest, while He went to pray. Taking with Him Peter, and James, and John, He went away a little distance. Oppressed with grief, He said: "My soul is sorrowful even unto death: stay here and watch."

2. Leaving the three Apostles, He went forward a little distance, and, falling flat on the ground, prayed thus: "O My Father! if it is possible, let this chalice pass from Me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." Then, rising, He came to the Apostles; but they were asleep. Jesus left them, and went again and prayed as He had done before. For the third time He prayed in the same manner, saying the same words.

3. When Jesus had finished His prayer, and for the third time had submitted Himself to the will of His Father, He began His agony. Oppressed with the load of sin that was placed upon Him, and overwhelmed with grief, His sweat became as drops of blood trickling on the ground. His Father sent an angel to comfort Him.

When His agony was over, Jesus rose, and coming to His disciples, said: "Arise; let us go; he that shall betray Me is at hand."

70.—Jesus Delivered up to His Enemies.

1. Whilst Jesus was still speaking to His Apostles, a great multitude of the priests and people came into the garden. Some carried swords in their hands; others carried clubs and torches. Judas Iscariot walked at their head. When Judas came to Jesus, he said: "Hail, Rabbi," and kissed Him.

2. Jesus advanced towards the multitude and asked them whom they sought. They said: "Jesus of Nazareth." He simply answered: "I am He;" when the multitude, overcome with fear, went back and fell to the ground. Then Jesus said : " You have come to seize Me as if I were a thief : whilst I was daily in the temple, you did not touch Me."

3. As soon as Jesus had said this, the soldiers advanced and seized Him. Peter, seeing what was done to his Master, drew his sword and cut off the ear of Malchus, the servant of the high-priest ; but Jesus bade him put back his sword into the scabbard, saying that, if He needed help, His Father would send Him more than twelve legions of angels.

4. Jesus touched the ear of Malchus and healed it ; then He delivered Himself into the hands of the soldiers, who bound Him. The disciples, seeing this, fled ; Peter and John alone following at a distance.

71.—Jesus before the High-priest.

1. The multitude led Jesus to the house of Annas, one of the priests. There He was asked concerning His doctrines and disciples. Jesus simply answered, He had taught openly ; His words and actions were well known. For this, one of the servants struck Him, asking how He dared to answer thus.

2. After much abuse, Annas sent Jesus to Caiphas the high-priest. Here were assembled the priests, and the Scribes, and a great multitude of the people. Christ was led into their midst ; false witnesses were brought in, and all manner of accusations were made against Him ; they were determined to put Him to death.

3. When the witnesses had been examined, Caiphas rose and asked Jesus if He had any thing to say ; but Jesus held His peace.

Again Caiphas rose, and adjured Him by the living

God to tell whether He was the Christ, the Son of God. Jesus answered:

“I am.”

4. The high-priest, hearing this, rent his garments, and declared there was no need of further evidence; all had heard the blasphemy, and, by their law, He, who made Himself God, deserved death. He then asked what they thought. They all cried out, “He is worthy of death.”

72.—Peter Denies Jesus.

1. Whilst Jesus was before the tribunal of the high-priest, Peter remained in the hall, among the soldiers, warming himself. One of the servants of the high-priest came to him and accused him of being not only a follower of Jesus, but of having been in the garden with Him. Peter declared he knew Him not; and the cock crew.

2. A short time after this, another servant, seeing Peter, said to those that were standing about: “This man was also with Jesus.” Peter again denied, and swore with an oath that he knew not Jesus.

3. About an hour after this, a friend of Malchus, whose ear Peter had cut off, also charged him with being a disciple of Jesus; but Peter began to swear he knew not the man. The cock crew the second time.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 71.—Where was Jesus led? What was Jesus asked? What was done to Him? What was done at the house of Caiphas?

4. At that moment Jesus was led through the hall. Turning, He looked at Peter, who remembered what Christ had said to him in the early part of the evening: "Before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny Me thrice." Peter went out and wept bitterly.

It is related in history that after his denial of Christ Peter always wept when he heard a cock crow, and so frequent were his tears that they made furrows in his cheeks.

5. Man is very weak : Peter saw His Master on Thabor, and yet denied Him in the judgment hall. Had he prayed in the garden, he would not have been so timid in trial : let us, therefore, watch and pray.

73.—The Despair of Judas.

1. When Judas saw that Jesus was condemned to death, he repented of what he had done. Going to the chief priests, he threw down the thirty pieces of silver, declaring he had betrayed innocent blood ; then he went out and hanged himself.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 72.—Tell how Peter denied Jesus. What is said of Peter's after life ?

2. The priests, taking the money, bought with it a potters-field, in which to bury strangers, for it was not lawful to put blood-money in the treasury of the temple. This field was called by the Jews Haceldama; that is, the field of blood.

74.—Jesus Insulted.

1. After Jesus was condemned by the great council, the soldiers took Him into a large hall, and there began to mock Him and to spit upon Him. Blindfolding Him, they buffeted Him, and then tauntingly asked who struck Him; yet, in the midst of their blasphemies, their jeers, and their scoffs, Jesus remained silent—a wonder to men and angels.

75.—Jesus before Pilate and Herod.

1. As soon as it was day, the great council of the Jews assembled, and again condemned Jesus to death. But, Judea being at that time a Roman province, the Jews were forbidden to inflict punishment of death on any one, until they had received the permission of the governor. They, therefore, dragged Jesus before Pontius Pilate, who was then governor of Judea.

2. When Jesus was brought before him, Pilate asked what was the accusation against Him. The multitude cried out: “He is a seditious man; He forbids the people to pay tribute to Cæsar, and, moreover, declares He is Christ, the King.”

3. Pilate asked Jesus if He were a king. He declared He was, but that His kingdom was not of this world. When Pilate heard this, he said to the people: “I find no fault in the man." But they only cried out the more: "He is a disturber of the peace, from Galilee even to Jerusalem."

4. Pilate, hearing of Galilee, asked if Jesus were a Galilean. Learning He was, Pilate sent Him to Herod, governor of Galilee, who was then in Jerusalem attending the Paschal feast. When Herod saw Jesus, he was very much pleased. He had heard a great deal about Him, and now hoped to see some miracle.

5. But, when questioned, Jesus remained silent. Herod, seeing that his idle curiosity would not be gratified, mocked our Savior, and, in derision, clothing Him in a white garment, sent Him back to Pilate. That same day Herod and Pilate were reconciled to each other, having before been enemies.

76.—Jesus and Barabbas.

1. During the whole of Christ's trial, Pilate strove to save Him, because he saw Jesus was innocent. But Pilate was a weak man, and feared to resist popular opinion. To add to his embarrassment, his wife had a dream which frightened her very much, and, while Pilate was sitting in the judgment hall, she sent him a message to have nothing to do with Jesus, because He was a just man.

2. There was a custom among the Jews that, on the feast of the Pasch, the governor should release any prisoner whom the people chose. Pilate, hoping to save Jesus, presented for their choice Jesus or Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a thief and an assassin.

3. The priests and the ancients persuaded the people to demand the release of Barabbas, and the death of Jesus; so, when Pilate again asked whom would he release, they

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 75.—What did the great council do? What could the Jews not do? Why? Before whom was Christ dragged? What accusations were made against Him? To whom did Pilate send Jesus? How did Herod treat Jesus?

cried out: "Barabbas;" and when he asked what he would do with Jesus, they cried out: "Crucify Him."

4. Barabbas is a picture of sin. Man disobeys, and, by his sin, drives the grace of God from his soul; thus, in a certain sense, killing the soul. Jesus came to free man from sin, and, by His sufferings, pay the ransom for all sin.

77.—Jesus is Scourged and Crowned with Thorns.

1. Pilate still hoped to save Jesus from death, and, at the same time, satisfy the people; he, therefore, ordered Jesus to be scourged. The soldiers led our blessed Savior out of the hall into a court-yard. There they stripped Him, and, tying Him to a pillar, scourged Him.

2. After this, mocking Him, they put a purple garment on Him, and, plaiting a crown of thorns, put it on His head. For a scepter, they put a reed in His hand, and, coming, bowed the knee before Him, saying: "Hail, King of the Jews." They also spat on Him, and, taking the reed, struck Him with it; thus driving the thorns deeper into His head.

78.—Jesus is Condemned to Death.

1. Pilate, seeing the pitiable condition to which Jesus was reduced, thought the sight of Him would appease the malice of the Jews. For this reason, he led the Son of God out on a high balcony, and, presenting Him in all His misery, said: "Behold the Man." But the barbarous, blood-thirsty people only cried out the more: "Crucify Him, crucify Him!"

2. Pilate still continued irresolute, and hesitated what to do. But when the leaders of the people came and said to him, if he released Jesus, he was no friend of Cæsar's, he seems to have made up his mind. Hoping to quiet the stings of his conscience, he took a basin of water and, going before the multitude, washed his hands, saying: "I am innocent of the blood of this just Man." But the people cried out: "His blood be upon us, and upon our children."

3. For eighteen hundred years has the blood of Christ been upon the Jews. Driven from Judea—without country, without home—strangers amongst strangers—hated, yet feared—have they wandered from nation to nation, bearing with them the visible signs of God's curse. Like Cain, marked with a mysterious sign, they shall continue to wander till the end of the world.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 77.—Tell how Christ was scourged. After scourging Him what was done?

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 78.—What did Pilate do with Jesus on the balcony? What did the people say? What argument did the leaders use to persuade Pilate to condemn Jesus? What is said of the blood of Jesus, and the Jews?

79.—The Journey to Calvary.

1. Pilate, seeing he could not prevail upon the people, at last passed sentence of death upon Jesus. Then the soldiers took Him, and, placing a heavy cross on His wounded shoulders, led Him forth to Calvary. This was the usual place for the execution of criminals.

2. As Jesus passed through the streets, His strength failed, and He fell several times. His executioners, seeing

He could not carry the cross any further, compelled Simon the Cyrene, whom they met on the way, to take it up and carry it to Calvary. Together with Jesus, two thieves were also led forth to be crucified.

3. Amongst the crowd that accompanied Jesus, were many women, weeping and lamenting. Turning to them, He strove to console them, and, in the kindest words, bade them weep not for Him, but for themselves, and for their children.

4. What a sublime example of patience Christ gave in

His passion ! Condemned unjustly, He nevertheless, without a murmur, takes His cross ; treated with the utmost cruelty and inhumanity, He complains not. So ought we to act when trials are sent to us, or men persecute us.

80.—Jesus is Nailed to the Cross.

1. When Jesus reached Calvary, the soldiers offered Him wine, mixed with gall. This draught helped to render the agony of crucifixion less keen, by deadening the feeling of sense. But Jesus refused to drink, being determined to suffer unshrinkingly all his Father had decreed.

2. He was then stripped of His garments and nailed to the cross. On each side of Jesus was crucified one of the thieves that had been led forth with Him. The soldiers divided His garments amongst them, but for His coat they cast lots.

3. This coat of our Savior was a figure of His Church. Wove from top to bottom without seam : so is the Church without division—one, and indivisible.

81.—Jesus on the Cross.

1. At length Jesus was raised up, and hung suspended by His wounds. How cruel were His torments, whilst His blood ran in streams to the ground ! But the Jews remained unmoved ; nay, they even mocked Him, and, in derision, cried out : “Vah ! You, who said You could destroy the temple of God, and in three days rebuild it, come down from the cross, if You be the Son of God.”

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 79.—Who passed sentence of death on Jesus ? What was placed on Christ's shoulders ? What happened on the way to Calvary ? Who carried the cross ? Who were in the crowd ? What did Jesus say to the women ?

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 80.—What was done to Jesus on Calvary ? Who were crucified with Jesus ? What was done with his garments ?

The only answer Jesus made was a prayer for their forgiveness: "Father," said He, "forgive them, for they know not what they do."

2. One of the thieves who was hanging at His side also began to blaspheme, and, chiding, bade Him, if He were the Christ, to save Himself and them. But the other thief remonstrated: "We," said he, "suffer justly, but this Man unjustly." Then he turned to Jesus and asked to be remembered by Him. Jesus said: "This day thou shalt be with Me in paradise."

3. In this history of the penitent thief we have one of the best examples of the power of prayer—one repentant word, and he is saved. In the desert, Moses set up a brazen serpent, upon which those who were bitten looked, and were cured; on Calvary, Jesus hung upon the cross, that those who look upon Him in faith and love may be cured of the wounds of the soul.

82.—Mary at the Foot of the Cross.

1. Whilst Jesus was hanging upon the cross, Mary, His mother, and John the Apostle, came and stood at its foot. When Jesus saw them, He said to His mother: "Woman, behold thy son!" then He said to John: "Behold thy mother!" and from that hour John took the Blessed Virgin under his care.

2. As formerly the heroic mother of the Machabees stood encouraging her seven sons to die bravely for their religion, so did Mary stand at the foot of the cross. Then, indeed, was Simeon's prophecy fulfilled; truly, a sword of sorrow pierced her heart. In John, every Christian was given as a child to Mary.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 81.—What is said of Jesus on the cross? How did the Jews act? How did Jesus answer them? What happened to one of the thieves? What example does the penitent thief give us? What is said of the brazen serpent and the cross?

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 82.—What is said of Mary and John at the foot of the cross?

83.—Jesus Dies upon the Cross.

1. About noon of the day on which Christ was crucified, the whole earth was covered with darkness. This continued for three hours. In the midst of this general gloom, and, as life was ebbing away, Jesus, seeing that God had withdrawn His consolations from Him, cried out: "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?"

2. After this, Jesus said: "I thirst." A soldier dipped a sponge in vinegar, and, putting it on a reed, gave Him to drink. When Jesus had tasted the vinegar, He said, "It is consummated," and, bowing down His head, died.

3. At the moment Christ died, nature shook to her centre; the earth trembled, the rocks were split, the graves were opened, and the dead arose; the vail of the temple was rent from the top to the bottom. When the centurion and the guard of soldiers that stood round the cross saw this, they cried out : “ Indeed, this was the Son of God.” The multitude returned to Jerusalem, striking their breasts, and wondering at what they had seen.

4. At length, man’s Redemption is accomplished ; Christ has triumphed. His extended arms show the extent of His love, and His wounds are the fountains from whence grace flows to pay the debt of sin. With Christ’s death, ended the law of Moses ; hence, the vail of the temple, which had heretofore separated the people from the sanctuary, was torn, as a sign that Christ had opened the way to heaven. The bloody sacrifices of Moses had passed away—the shadow was gone—and, in their stead, was substituted the only true and real sacrifice, Jesus Christ.

84.—Jesus is Laid in the Tomb.

1. Christ was crucified on the eve of the Sabbath. That the bodies of the criminals might not remain exposed to view during the Paschal solemnities, the soldiers broke the legs of the two thieves, that they might die the sooner. But when they came to Jesus, He was already dead, so they did not break His legs, but one of them opened His side with a spear. Immediately there ran forth blood and water.

2. Towards evening, Joseph of Arimathea, a member of the great Jewish council, but a secret believer in Christ, came to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Pilate having granted his prayer, Joseph and Nicodemus came and took the body from the cross. They then embalmed it with precious perfumes, and, wrapping it in white linen cloths, laid it in a sepulcher. This sepulcher was cut in a rock, and situated in a garden near Calvary.

3. The chief priests and Pharisees, though they had apparently conquered, were not at ease. They remembered well that Jesus had foretold His death, and how He would rise again on the third day. Fearing that, possibly,

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 83.—What happened at noon of the day Christ was crucified? What did Jesus say just before he died? What happened when Christ died?

the Apostles might steal the body and declare that He had risen, they came to Pilate and asked him to place his seal upon the tomb, and set a guard to watch it. He did so.

4. Eve, the mother of mankind, was taken from Adam's side; so the Church, our spiritual mother, came forth from the side of Christ. It was forbidden to break the bones of the Paschal lamb; neither were the bones of Jesus Christ, the true Paschal Lamb, broken. In all things, even the smallest, we see the fulfillment not only of the prophecies, but of the types and figures that foretold the life and death of Christ.

THE GLORIOUS LIFE OF JESUS CHRIST.

85.—The Resurrection of Jesus Christ.

1. The body of Jesus Christ was two days in the tomb. On the morning of the third, the guards were startled by an earthquake, that shook the ground, and the sudden appearance of an angel, that rolled back the stone from the mouth of the sepulcher. Their wonder knew no bounds when they saw Jesus coming forth from the tomb, His face shining as the sun. For the moment, in terror, they fell to the ground; then, rising, fled into Jerusalem.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 84.—What was done to the thieves? What did one of the soldiers do? What ran from Christ's side? Who asked for Christ's body? What was done with it? How was the tomb guarded? What is said of Eve and the Church?

2. Early in the morning of the third day, Mary Magdalene, and Mary, the mother of James and Salome, came to the tomb, that they might embalm the body of Jesus. On the way, they began to consider how they would roll back the stone that closed up the door of the sepulcher. No wonder, when they arrived and found, not only the stone rolled back, but the tomb empty, they were overcome with astonishment.

3. As soon as Mary Magdalene saw how matters stood, she hastened back and told the Apostles, but the other women remained. Stooping down, to look into the tomb, they saw an angel, who bade them fear not, for Jesus was risen, and had gone before them into Galilee, where they would see Him. The angel told them also to hasten to the Apostles, and more particularly to Peter, and tell them the news.

4. These pious women had hardly left the place, when Peter and John came. They had doubted Mary Magdalene's word, and came to see for themselves. John arrived first, but Peter entered first. Finding nothing but the linens in which the body had been wrapped, they hastened back to tell the others.

5. As He foretold, Jesus remained among the dead as long as Jonas had been in the whale's belly. Though dead, His sacred body was not corrupted, for long before had the psalmist declared: "Thy Holy One shall not see corruption."

Jesus was not raised from the dead—He rose by His own power; and, as His body rose glorious and transformed, so shall the bodies of the just rise. Since the resurrection of Christ, His tomb has remained, and ever will remain, an object of reverence and love to the Christian world.

86.—Jesus Appears to Mary Magdalene.

1. Scarce had Peter and John left the sepulcher, when Mary Magdalene arrived. Overwhelmed with sorrow at the loss of the body of her Master, she entered the sepulcher. Here she met an angel, who asked her why she wept. She answered: "They have taken away the body of my Lord, and I know not where they have laid it."

2. When she had said this, not knowing it was an angel to whom she spoke, she left the sepulcher. As she came out, she met Jesus, but did not know Him. Thinking He was the gardener, she asked Him where the body was. But Jesus simply said, "Mary," when she recognized Him, and threw herself at His feet.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 85.—How long was the body of Jesus in the tomb? What happened on the third day? Who came to the tomb? What did they find? What is said of Mary Magdalene? What of the other women? What did Peter and John do? What is said of Jesus and Jonas? What of the tomb of Christ?

3. Jesus then told her to hasten and tell the Apostles, for He was about to ascend to His Father. Having disappeared from her sight, Mary came to the disciples; but they would neither believe that she had seen the Lord, nor that He was risen.

87.—The Resurrection of Jesus is Announced to the Chief Priests.

1. When the guards fled from the sepulcher, they hastened to the city to tell what had happened. The chief priests having heard the startling news, assembled the rulers of the people to consider what steps they should take.

2. They saw that, if the news went among the people that Jesus was risen from the dead, all their schemes to discredit Him would be forever destroyed : so they called the guards before them, and promised to give them money if they would only agree to say: "The disciples of Jesus came, while they slept, and stole the body away." The soldiers took the money and did as they were required.

88.—Jesus Appears to Two Disciples while they were going to Emmaus.

1. Towards evening of the day Jesus rose from the dead, two of His disciples were going to Emmaus, a little village, about two leagues from Jerusalem. On the way they talked of what had happened during the past days.

2. Jesus came near them and began to speak to them, but they did not recognize Him. Remarking how sad they were, one of them, named Cleophas, asked Him if He were a stranger, or how came it that He had not heard what had happened at Jerusalem.

3. They then told Him of Jesus; how they had believed He was the Messiah, and what great hopes had been founded on Him; but, just as they thought His power about to be established, the chiefs of the Jews had seized upon Him and crucified Him; and this was, moreover, the third day since He had been laid in the tomb. They added also, strange rumors were afloat that He was again risen.

4. When they had finished, Jesus began with the prophecies of Moses, and, continuing through the prophets, explained to them the things that related to Himself, showing it was necessary for Christ to suffer as He had.

As they drew near the town, He pretended to go further; but they pressed Him to remain with them, as it was evening.

5. Yielding to their wishes, He sat down to table with them. He took bread, and blessed it, and gave it to them.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 87.—What did the chief priests do? What bargain did they make with the soldiers?

Their eyes were opened, and they knew Him ; but He immediately vanished from their sight.

6. After His resurrection, Jesus showed Himself no more to the Jews ; they had rejected Him and resisted all His efforts to convert them ; He appeared only to His disciples.

In like manner to-day He comes to those who, with a good heart, receive Him, but abandons those who despise his warnings and reject His graces.

89.—Jesus Appears to the Apostles.

1. After Jesus had disappeared, the two disciples rose and hastened back to Jerusalem. Here they found the eleven Apostles in a great state of excitement, for Peter had just come in, declaring he had seen the Lord. Then the two disciples told how they also had seen Him, and how they had known Him in the breaking of bread.

2. Whilst they were yet speaking, Jesus entered the room in which they were all assembled, the doors being shut. He said to them : “ Peace be to you.” And when the Apostles were doubting and troubled, fearing it was a spirit they saw, Jesus showed them His hands and His feet, and bade them touch Him, and convince themselves that it was not a spirit they saw. They still doubting, He took a piece of broiled fish, and a part of a honeycomb, and eat it before them.

90.—Jesus Institutes the Sacrament of Penance.

1. When at last the Apostles were convinced it was the Lord they saw, Jesus repeated His salutation of peace be to them. He added besides : “ As the Father hath sent Me, I also send you.” Then He breathed upon them, and said : “ Receive ye the Holy Ghost : whose sins you shall forgive, they are forgiven them ; and whose sins you shall retain, they are retained them."

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 89.—To whom else did Jesus appear ? How ? How did Jesus prove He was not a spirit ?

2. In these two commissions conferred upon the Apostles, we have the most unqualified proof of the divinity of the Catholic Church and the power of the Catholic priesthood. The Apostles were mortal, but the Church is immortal ; hence, these powers were conferred not only on the Apostles, but were, through them, to descend to their legitimate successors, the bishops and priests of the Catholic Church.

3. From the beginning, the bishops and priests have claimed the power to forgive sins ; but it is a power they can only exercise in the administration of the Sacrament of Penance.

91.—Jesus and St. Thomas.

1. Thomas, one of the Apostles, was absent when Jesus appeared to the others. But Thomas would not believe on their word, and even declared that, unless with his own eyes he saw the marks of the nails in the hands and feet of Jesus, and put his hand into the side of Jesus, he would not believe.

2. Eight days after this, the Apostles were assembled, and Thomas with them. Again Jesus entered, the doors being shut. Jesus then bade Thomas look at His wounds, and put his hand into His side.

3. When Thomas saw Jesus, he fell down on his knees and cried out : " My Lord, and my God." But Jesus said to him : " Because thou hast seen Me, Thomas, thou hast believed ; blessed are they that have not seen Me, and have believed."

92.—Peter is Appointed Chief Pastor.

1. In obedience to the command of Jesus, the Apostles left Jerusalem and went into Galilee. Here Jesus appeared to them at Lake Genesareth, and again their nets were filled with a miraculous draught of fishes.

2. After they had all dined, Jesus said to Peter: "Simon, lovest thou Me more than these?" And upon Peter declaring how much he did love Him, Jesus said: "Feed My lambs." This same question was repeated until the third time, when Jesus said: "Feed My sheep."

3. By the lambs and the sheep, are meant the faithful and the pastors of the Church. There is something remarkable in the manner in which Christ treats Peter: Christ enters Peter's ship; Peter is called the rock; Peter is commissioned to confirm the other Apostles; Christ prays for Peter; and, in all the lists of the Apostles, Peter is always named first.

This primacy continues in the Catholic Church, and is found in the Popes, who are the legitimate successors of Peter.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 92.—What happened at Lake Genesareth? What power was conferred on Peter? How did Christ treat Peter? In whom is the primacy found?

93.—The Promise of the Holy Ghost.

1. After this, Jesus appeared several times to His Apostles, instructing them, and directing them in their future labors. He spoke to them more in detail of the nature and destiny of His Church ; of her developments and establishment upon earth.

2. On the fortieth day after His resurrection, Jesus appeared, for the last time on earth, to His Apostles, who were then all assembled at Jerusalem. Amongst other things, He commanded them not to leave Jerusalem for a few days, but to remain till the Holy Ghost should come upon them ; after which they should go forth to bear testimony of Him—not only in Jerusalem and Judea, but even to the end of the earth.—This promise was fulfilled ten days after, when the Holy Ghost came, in the form of fiery tongues, and sat upon the Apostles.

94.—Christ's Last Commission to His Apostles—His Ascension.

1. After Jesus had finished speaking, He led His Apostles out to Mount Olivet. There He said to them : “All power is given to Me in heaven and in earth : go into the whole world and preach the Gospel to all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost : and behold, I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world.”

2. Jesus, having finished speaking, lifted up His hands and blessed His Apostles. Whilst in the very act of blessing them, He slowly rose from the earth and ascended into heaven, where He sits, and will forever sit, on the right hand of His Father.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 93.—On what did Christ more particularly instruct His Apostles ? What happened on the fortieth day ? What command did Christ give the Apostles ?

Lost in wonder, and overwhelmed with sorrow, the Apostles continued to gaze upon Him as He ascended, until a cloud coming, concealed Him from their sight.

3. While the Apostles were still looking up to heaven, two angels, clad in white robes, came and said to them : “ This Jesus, whom you have seen ascending into heaven, shall come again.”

The Apostles, hearing this, fell upon the ground and adored God ; then, rising, returned to Jerusalem to await the fulfillment of the promises made to them.

4. Elias was a figure of Christ. This prophet was carried up to heaven in a fiery chariot ; and, according to the prophecy of Malachias, He will come again on earth just before the last day.

Adam, by sin, drew man from God ; Christ, by His ascension, raised man's thoughts to heaven, and held out the hope of a blessed eternity.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 94.—What was the last commission Christ gave His Apostles ? From what Mount did Christ ascend ? Tell what happened to the Apostles. What is said of Elias and Adam ?

95.—An Observation.

1. All that has been here related of the life of our blessed Saviour—what He did, and what He said—is found in the four Gospels. But we must not conclude from this that Jesus did nothing nor said any thing besides.

2. It is a part of Catholic teaching that Christ said many things and did much that is not related in the sacred Scriptures; nay, we have it on the authority of St. John himself, in the last chapter of his Gospel, that Jesus did so many things besides what have been recorded, that he verily believed, if they were all written, the world could not contain the books in which they should be written.

PART SECOND.

THE HISTORY OF THE APOSTLES.

96. — A Preliminary Remark.

1. Jesus Christ came into the world that He might destroy the power of the devil and, in its place, establish the kingdom of God; hence, at His ascension, He left His Church small, it is true, but yet complete, that, like a grain of mustard-seed, it might grow until it had filled the whole world.

2. This growth and expansion of the Church was first begun in Judea, and afterwards extended to the whole world, under and by the Apostles themselves, whose history we are about to relate in the following chapters.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 95.—What is said in this chapter? What is a part of Catholic teaching?

QUESTION TO CHAPTER 96.—What is said of the rise and development of the Church?

97.—The Election of the Apostle Matthias.

1. After the ascension, the Apostles remained at Jerusalem, as they had been commanded. For ten days they continued in prayer, the Blessed Virgin and many of the disciples being with them. They occupied an upper room—called among Eastern nations, a Cenaculum. Here, in all, were assembled about a hundred and twenty persons.

2. It was during this time Peter rose and proposed that, as Judas Iscariot had proved false to his apostleship, another be chosen in his stead. The proposition was approved, and, having prayed to God, lots were cast, and Matthias, one of the disciples, chosen.

98.—The Descent of the Holy Ghost.

1. Ten days after the ascension of Jesus Christ, was celebrated the Jewish Pentecost. On this day, while the Apostles and disciples were still within the upper chamber, suddenly there was heard the sound, as if it were, of a great wind coming from heaven. At the same time there appeared cloven tongues of fire, that sat upon each one present.

2. In a moment all were filled with the Holy Ghost. No longer timid or fearful, the Apostles sallied forth to preach Christ, and Him crucified.

Jerusalem was filled with strangers who had come up from all parts of the world to celebrate the feast of Pentecost. Soon the news spread abroad, and, in a short time, an immense multitude assembled round the house in which the Apostles were. But what was their astonishment, when each one heard the Apostles speaking in his own tongue!

3. Amazed and confounded, they asked: "Are not these Galileans who speak? and how comes it that we every one hear our own tongue?" But others said: "They are full of new wine."

4. Then Peter rose, and, standing with the eleven, said: "Men of Júdeá, and all you that dwell in Jerusalem, know that these men are not drunk, but in them are fulfilled the words of the prophet Joel: 'And it shall come to pass and I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh.'

5. "Moreover, this also hear: Jesus of Nazareth, a man who, by the wonders and miracles He wrought in your midst, proved Himself sent by God, was crucified and put to death by wicked men; but now He is in heaven, seated at the right hand of God. It is He that has poured out His Spirit upon us, as you see; and it is certain that Jesus is the Savior and the Lord of heaven and earth."

6. When the multitude heard this, they were touched with compunction, and asked Peter what they would do.

But he answered : “ Do penance, and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ.”

On this occasion about three thousand were baptized. With them began that miraculous expansion of the Church that, increasing day by day, ended in the conversion of the world and the establishment of Christianity.

7. On the day of Pentecost the Holy Ghost enlightened the minds of the multitude, that they might understand the Apostles ; but at Babel God confounded the multitude, that, by the confusion of tongues, their pride might be humbled, and their vain project stopped.

8. The first Jewish Pentecost was celebrated at Mount Sinai, amid thunder and lightning. There God proclaimed the Old Law. On the first Christian Pentecost, the Holy Ghost came in the form of fiery tongues, that He might confirm and give testimony of the New Law.

The Jewish Pentecost was celebrated during the harvest feast ; on the first Christian Pentecost the Holy Ghost reaped a rich harvest of converts among the Jews.

99.—Peter Cures the Lame Man.

1. Shortly after Peter’s first sermon to the Jews, and the miraculous conversion of the three thousand, Peter and John went up to the temple to pray. A man, who had been lame from his birth, was every day carried by his friends and laid at one of the gates of the temple, that he might beg alms from those who entered.

2. When this man saw Peter and John entering, he begged an alms from them. Peter said to him : “ Gold or silver, I have none to give, but what I have I will give : in the name of Jesus Christ, rise and walk.”

On the spot, the man rose, and, leaping for joy, entered the temple praising God.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 98.—When was Pentecost celebrated ? What happened to the Apostles ? Who were in Jerusalem ? What caused astonishment ? What did Peter say ? What did the people do ? How many were converted at Peter’s first sermon ? What is said of the Jewish, and what of the Christian Pentecost ?

3. When the multitude saw this, they stood confounded and amazed. Peter, seeing their astonishment, said: "Why do you wonder at this? or why do you look at us as if by our power we had made this man to walk? Know, it is in the name and by the power of Jesus of Nazareth that this man walks."

This discourse, and the sight of the miracle that had been wrought, produced so great an impression on the multitude that five thousand people were converted and baptized.

100.—Peter and John before the Great Council.

1. Whilst Peter and John were yet speaking to the people, the priests and the officers commanding in the temple came to them. Enraged to find the Apostles openly teaching, they laid hands on them and cast them into prison.

2. On the following day the chief priests assembled in the council hall. Peter and John, being brought in, were asked by what power they had cured the lame man. Peter said "the lame man had been cured in the name and by the power of Jesus Christ, whom they had crucified, and who was now risen from the dead."

3. When the priests heard this, they put the Apostles out of the council hall. Consulting with themselves, they asked what should be done. "It was clear," said they, "a miracle had been wrought, and they could not deny it."

4. Having agreed among themselves, they recalled the Apostles, and forbade them either to speak or to teach any more in the name of Jesus. But Peter asked: "Is it just we should obey you rather than God? We must speak what we have seen and heard."

The judges contented themselves with merely threatening the two Apostles, and then dismissed them.

101.—The Lives of the First Christians.

1. Nothing could exceed the holiness of the lives of the first Christians. All had but one heart, and all were animated with the same spirit. The Apostles were unwearied in their labors, and the faithful were constant in the breaking of bread, and in the labor of prayer.

2. All their goods were in common. Those who had fields or houses sold them, and placed the price in the hands of the Apostles, who distributed to each according as he needed. Soon their unbounded charity to the poor, and their brotherly love for each other, began to produce their effects. Both Jew and Gentile was forced to respect them. Their numbers increased daily.

102.—Ananias and Saphira.

1. At this time there lived a man named Ananias, and his wife Saphira. They sold a field, but secretly kept back a part of the price. The balance, Ananias gave to the Apostles, pretending it was all he had received.

2. Peter said to him: "Ananias, why have you suffered Satan to tempt you to lie to the Holy Ghost? and why have you kept back a part of the price of the field? You have not lied to men, but to God."

On the spot, Ananias fell down dead at the feet of the Apostle.

3. Three hours after, Saphira came and, not knowing what had happened to her husband, repeated the same lie. She also fell dead. When these things were heard, fear and terror came upon all the faithful.

103.—The Apostles are Thrown into Prison.

1. The Apostles continued to work miracles. From the villages round about, the sick, and those possessed by unclean spirits, were brought to Jerusalem, and the Apostles cured them. Peter, above all the rest, was held in the highest esteem. So unlimited became his power, that his very shadow cured the sick as he passed through the streets.

2. By the authority of the Jewish priests, Peter and John were again seized and cast into prison; but, during the night, an angel opened the prison doors and bade them go forth to the temple and teach the people.

3. In the morning, when the officers went to bring the Apostles before the council, they found the doors of the prison indeed closed, and the guards at their post, but no prisoners. The council was confounded.

4. Shortly after, a man came, who told them Peter and John were in the temple teaching the people. An officer hastened and, with great violence, brought them before the council. The high-priest rose and reproached them for continuing to preach, notwithstanding the former prohibitions of the council. The Apostles said: "God must be obeyed." At the same time, Peter declared that Jesus, whom they had crucified, was the Christ, and that He was risen from the dead.

5. When the priests heard this, they gnashed their teeth, and, in their rage, began to consider how they might put them to death.

At this part of the proceedings, Gamaliel, a member of the great council, and also a doctor of the Law, rose and commanded the Apostles to be put out.

6. "Men of Israel," said he, "consider well what you are about to do. If this be the work of men, it will soon fall to nothing; but if it be the work of God, you can not destroy it." They despised this advice.

7. The Apostles were recalled, and, having been scourged, were forbidden again to speak in the name of Jesus. But they went forth from the council rejoicing that they were found worthy to suffer for their divine Master. Neither did they cease, either in the temple or in the houses, to preach Jesus Christ.

104.—Stephen the Deacon—The First Martyr.

1. As the number of the faithful increased, there arose murmurs on account of the manner in which the food was distributed. When the Apostles saw this, they directed the people to choose seven men, of good character, full of wisdom and the Holy Ghost, and they laid their hands upon them. These were the seven deacons spoken of in the Scriptures, among whom were Philip and Stephen. To them was intrusted the care of the temporalities of the Church, that the Apostles might give themselves entirely to prayer, and to the preaching of the word of God.

2. Stephen did great wonders and wrought many miracles ; few could resist the power of his eloquence.

The Jews accused him of having spoken against Moses and blasphemed against God ; then they seized him and led him before the great council. When he stood before the judges, those who looked at him thought they saw the face of an angel.

3. The high-priest rose and asked him if the charges that had been made against him were true. Stephen, standing before the council, answered by reviewing the history of the Jewish Church, and showing that it was but the forerunner of the Christian dispensation. He concluded with reproaching the Jews for their disbelief in having resisted the Holy Ghost, and for having crucified the Messiah.

4. When they heard this, they shook with rage, and gnashed their teeth against him. Their anger knew no bounds when Stephen, lifting up his eyes, cried out : “ I see the heavens opened, and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God.”

5. Hearing this, the multitude stopped their ears, and, rushing upon him, hurried him out of the city to stone him. The witnesses laid their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul—afterwards better known as the celebrated St. Paul. Whilst they were stoning him, Stephen exclaimed : “ Lord, lay this not to their charge.” Having said this, he slept in the Lord.

6. The Jews have a dreadful account to give to God : they persecuted the prophets, they crucified the Savior, they put to death the Apostles. But truth spreads, the more it is persecuted ; so that the saying, “ The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church,” has passed into an adage.

105.—Confirmation—The Baptism of the Ethiopian.

1. With Stephen’s death, began, at Jerusalem, a cruel persecution against the Church. Saul was one of the bitterest enemies of the Christians ; his anger knew no rest. With unsparing fury, men and women were dragged before the tribunals and cast into prison. Many fled from Jerusalem and spread themselves through Judea and Samaria.

2. Those who thus fled, passing from place to place, preached the word of God. Amongst the number was Philip the deacon, who, going to Samaria, preached the Gospel. He wrought miracles, and many were converted.

3. The Apostles at Jerusalem, hearing that Samaria had received the word of God, sent thither Peter and John. When they were come, praying, they laid their hands upon the converts, and as many as were baptized received the Holy Ghost.

4. In this visit of Peter and John at Samaria, there is the clearest evidence of the Apostolic institution of the sacrament of Confirmation. Philip could preach and baptize, but, being only a deacon, could not confirm. Apostles alone, and their successors, the bishops of the Church, can confirm.

5. Whilst Philip was at Samaria, an angel came to him and commanded him to go down by the road that led from Jerusalem to Gaza. Philip obeyed. On the way he met a distinguished Ethiopian eunuch, the treasurer of the queen of Ethiopia. He had been up to Jerusalem to attend at one of the feasts. At the moment Philip met him, he was sitting in his chariot, reading from the prophet Isaias.

6. Directed by the Holy Ghost, Philip drew near, and asked him if he understood what he read. But the eunuch answered: "How can I, unless some one show me?" Philip went up into the chariot and began to speak to him of Jesus and the Gospel.

7. Amongst other things, Philip spoke to him of Baptism. Meanwhile they came to a place where there was water, when the eunuch asked why he could not be baptized. Philip said, if he believed, there was no objection.

Upon the eunuch declaring he did believe in Jesus Christ, he was baptized.

The eunuch, full of joy, continued his journey, but the Spirit of God took Philip away.

106.—The Conversion of St. Paul.

1. After the martyrdom of St. Stephen, Saul became one of the most active persecutors of the Christians. Resolved on their ruin, he went to the high-priest and asked for letters to the synagogues at Damascus authorizing him to seize upon every man or woman, whom he would find either believing in Jesus, or teaching in His name.

2. Animated with this spirit, and armed with the authority of the Jewish priesthood, he started for Damascus. As he approached the place, suddenly a bright light shone round about him. Struck, as if by lightning, he fell to the ground, while, at the same time, a voice said to him : “Saul, Saul, why dost thou persecute me?” Saul asked, who spoke to him, when the voice said : “I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest.”

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 105.—After Stephen's death, what happened at Jerusalem? Who was a bitter enemy? Who preached at Samaria? How do you show that the Apostles administered Confirmation? Tell the history of Philip and the Eunuch.

3. Trembling and confounded, Saul asked what he should do. Jesus bade him rise and go into the city, when it would be told him what he must do. Saul rose, but discovered he was blind. His companions led him into Damascus, where he remained three days at the house of one Judas, neither eating nor drinking.

4. At this time there lived in Damascus a man named Ananias. The Lord commanded him to go to Saul and place his hands upon him. No sooner had Ananias touched Saul, than scales fell from his eyes, and he recovered his sight. Saul rose and was baptized. His name was changed to Paul.

5. With all the zeal of a new convert, Paul began to preach Jesus. All that heard him were astonished. The Jews became very angry, and, by every means in their power, strove to put him to death; but God protected him.

6. In the history of Saul we have the fulfillment of Jacob's prophecy to his son Benjamin, when he said: "Benjamin is a ravenous wolf: in the morning he shall eat the prey, and in the evening he shall divide the spoil."

Saul belonged to the tribe of Benjamin. In his youth, the morning of life, he persecuted the Church; afterwards, in the evening of life, he gathered together both Jew and Gentile, and offered them as a precious gift at the feet of Christ.

107. — Peter Visits the Different Churches in Judea—Cornelius is Baptized.

1. When the persecution had somewhat ceased, Peter visited the several churches in Judea, preaching to the people, and confirming them in their faith.

At Lydda, Peter cured a man, named Eneas, who, for eight years, had been confined to his bed by the palsy. At Joppe he raised to life the charitable Tabitha. By the fame of these miracles many were converted, and the influence of Christianity extended.

2. While Peter was still at Joppe, there lived at Cesarea a man named Cornelius. One day, whilst Cornelius was at prayer, an angel appeared to him, and bade him send to Joppe for a man named Peter, who would tell him what to do. Cornelius sent at once.

3. About the time the messengers drew near to Joppe, Peter was praying; he also had a vision:

The heavens appeared to him to open, and, as it were, a great sheet was let down, in which were all manner of four-footed beasts, and creeping things, and birds ; a voice said to him : “ Arise, kill, and eat.”

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 106.—What is said of Saul? What happened to him on the road to Damascus? Who baptized Saul? How did Saul act after his baptism? What prophecy is fulfilled in Saul?

4. Now it was not allowed the Jews to eat all manner of beasts ; so Peter answered he could not, as he had never eaten any thing unclean. But the voice said to him, “ Call not that common that God has purified.” This was done three times, when the vision disappeared.

5. While Peter was reflecting on the meaning of the vision, the Spirit of God said to him : “ Three men seek you ; rise and go with them.”

On the next day, Peter went with the messengers. When Cornelius related the vision he had had, Peter understood his own. By it, Peter understood that hereafter there was to be no distinction between Jew and Gentile in the Christian Church, and that Christ had died for all mankind.

6. Then Peter began to speak of Jesus : how He had been crucified, and how He had risen again from the dead, and that, through Him, was man to be saved. While Peter was still speaking, the Holy Ghost came upon the Gentiles who were present, and, to the astonishment of the Apostle, they began to speak in divers tongues. When Peter saw this, he commanded them to be baptized. These were the first Gentiles received into the Church.

7. From this time, the Apostles turned their attention to the Gentile as well as the Jew. Paul became especially the Apostle of the Gentile. At Antioch the converts were first called Christians—that is, followers of Christ.

8. Jesus died for all ; and as Joseph, during the seven years famine, fed not only the Egyptian, but also the Israelite and the stranger, so must the Jew and the Gentile share in the merits of Jesus Christ. The Jews formed but a small part of mankind, and, at best, never were very docile ; hence, the Christian Church, from the beginning, was formed principally from the Gentiles.

108.—Peter Cast into Prison.

[A. D. 44.]

1. After the conversion of Cornelius, Peter returned to Jerusalem.

About the year 44, Herod Agrippa, the king, again raised a persecution against the Christians. He beheaded James, the brother of John, and cast Peter into prison. But the Church prayed for her venerated head.

2. The night before he was to have been led forth to punishment, Peter lay, bound with chains, between two soldiers, while guards walked before the door.

On a sudden, an angel stood before him, and a heavenly light filled the prison. The angel touched Peter, and bade him rise and put on his sandals and follow him. Peter obeyed, not knowing whether or not it was a vision he saw. They passed the first and second guard, and came to an iron gate that, of itself, opened to them. Having passed out into the city, the angel disappeared.

3. Peter, coming to himself, saw that God had sent an angel to deliver him from the power of Herod. Then he went to the house of Mark, where many of the faithful were assembled in prayer. Rapping, a young woman, name Rode, or Rose, came to open the door.

4. When she recognized Peter's voice, filled with joy, she ran back to tell those who were within that Peter was at the door. They would not believe her; but, as Peter continued to rap, they at length opened the door, and, to their amazement, Peter walked in. When he told them how he had been delivered out of prison, they all began to praise God.

5. In the morning there was great consternation among the soldiers. No one could tell how Peter had escaped, or where he had gone. Herod questioned the soldiers, and then punished them severely.

6. Shortly after this, Herod was receiving ambassadors from Cesarea. The people began to applaud him, and, flattering him, cried out : “ You speak as a god, not as a man.”

Herod took the glory to himself. On the spot an angel struck him with a loathsome disease, and, in a few days, he died amid the most horrid torments—a fit example of the power of God and the pride of man.

109.—St. Paul's First Apostolic Journey.

[A. D. 45.]

1. After his miraculous conversion, St. Paul was received with much joy among the Apostles. For some time he continued to teach at Antioch ; but, after a while, directed by the Holy Ghost, he and Barnabas were sent to preach the Gospel to the Gentiles.

2. Wherever he went, Paul first preached to the Jews ; and only when they refused to hear him did he turn to the Gentiles. Many of these latter were converted, while the former, rejecting the grace thus offered them, were left without excuse.

3. Long before, had the prophet Isaias spoken of St. Paul and his labors, when he declared that “ God would choose of the elect and send them to the people of the sea : He would send them into Africa and Lydia, into Italy and Greece, and the islands afar off, that they might announce His glory to the Gentiles, and all flesh should adore."

4. When St. Paul and Barnabas left Antioch, they directed their steps to the island of Cyprus. On their arrival, Sergius, the Roman proconsul, sent for them, that he might hear the word of God. But there was at the proconsul's house a Jewish magician, named Elymas, who strove to turn Sergius from the faith.

5. St. Paul, seeing the malice of Elymas, and also inspired by the Holy Ghost, turning to him, said: "Because you have tried to pervert the ways of God, you shall be blind for a time." Immediately he was struck blind. When the proconsul saw this, he believed, and was baptized.

6. From Cyprus, Paul and Barnabas sailed for Asia Minor. Arriving at Antioch, in Pisidia, they preached to both Jew and Gentile. Many were converted. Here the Jews became very much excited, and, coming together, contradicted Paul; but he, turning to them, said: "It behooved us to preach to you first; now you have rejected the word of God, and we turn to the Gentile."

7. The Jews continued to harass and persecute Paul and Barnabas, until, wearied, they shook the dust from their feet and left the place. They passed from city to city, preaching and establishing churches.

8. At Lystra, a city of Lyconia, Paul cured a man who had been lame from his birth. When the people saw this, they thought Paul and Barnabas were gods, and wished to offer sacrifice to them; but Paul forbade them. Many believed.

9. Soon after this, certain Jews came to Lystra from the cities where Paul had already been preaching. They succeeded in exciting an insurrection against him, and the multitude, rising up, stoned him, and, dragging him out of the city, left him for dead. Paul, however, recovered, and returned into the city, where he remained for some time.

10. After preaching the Gospel at Derbe, Paul and Barnabas returned to Antioch, passing through the places where they had already preached. Everywhere they exhorted the faithful to persevere, and in every church they appointed bishops, having first prayed and imposed hands upon them.

110.—The Council of Jerusalem. [A. D. 50.]

1. During the apostolic time, several subjects of dispute arose. Amongst these, was, at Antioch, the subject of circumcision—some of the Jewish converts insisting on it, while Paul and Barnabas resisted it. To avoid all possibility of error, it was agreed to refer the whole matter to the Apostles at Jerusalem. For this purpose, Paul and Barnabas were sent thither.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 109.—What is said of Paul after his conversion? To whom did he first preach? What was done at Cyprus? What happened to Elymas? From Cyprus, where did Paul and Barnabas go? How did the Jews act? What was done at Lystra? What was done to Paul? Who were appointed in the churches?

2. When they arrived, the Apostles and the ancients assembled, under the presidency of Peter, to deliberate on the subject. After the matter had been well discussed, Peter rose and said: "As God had made no difference between the Jew or the Gentile, giving the Holy Ghost to the one as well as to the other, there should be no difference within the Church; nor should the law of circumcision be imposed on any one."

3. Under this teaching, it was decided that the ancient ceremonial laws of Moses had lost their effect, and, for the future, should not be imposed upon the Christians.

The council wrote to the faithful at Antioch, saying: "It hath seemed good to the Holy Ghost, and to us, not to lay this burden upon you."

4. When the bishops of the Catholic Church, who are the legitimate successors of the Apostles, assemble under the presidency of the Pope, who is the true successor of Peter, we have a general council similar to that held at Jerusalem under the Apostles. Its decisions are infallible, for they are the decisions of God's Church, which, according to the teachings of Jesus Christ, is, in an invisible manner, guided and preserved from error by and through the Holy Ghost.

111.—The Second Voyage of St. Paul.

1. Some time after this, St. Paul started on a second missionary journey. He passed through Syria, and again went into Asia Minor, preaching everywhere, visiting the old, and establishing new churches.

At Troas he had a vision, in which he was called to Macedonia. Immediately he set sail, accompanied by Silas, Luke, and Timothy. They passed over from Asia, and arrived safely at Philippi, the capital of Macedonia.

QUESTIONS TO CHAPTER 110.—On what was there dispute? What was done on the matter? What did Peter say? What conclusion did the council come to? What is said of the Catholic Church?

2. Here the Apostle stayed with a merchant, named Lydia, one of the new converts. There was also in the city a girl possessed by a divining spirit. She brought much gain to her masters. Paul, taking her, drove out the evil spirit.

3. When her masters saw their hopes of gain gone, they became very much displeased, and, seizing Paul and Silas, cast them into prison, having first beaten them with rods. About the middle of the night, while Paul and Silas were praying, suddenly there came a great earthquake and shook the jail to its foundations. All the doors were opened, and the bonds of the prisoners were loosened.

4. When the jailer awoke and found the doors of the prison open, he took his sword and was about to kill himself, thinking the prisoners had escaped. But Paul cried out they were there. The jailer, trembling, entered with a light, and falling down at the feet of Paul, asked what he must do to be saved. Paul bade him believe in the Lord Jesus ; and, having instructed him, that same night baptized him and all his family.

5. In the morning the magistrates, hearing that Paul and Silas were Roman citizens, sent to beg their pardon for having scourged them, for it was unlawful to scourge a Roman citizen. They then set them at liberty.

6. Paul established a small church at Philippi; thence he passed to Thessalonica, and, afterwards, to Berea and several other cities, establishing churches and preaching the Word. At last he came to Athens, the capital of Greece.

7. Seeing how the city was given up to idolatry, his zeal was roused, and he began to preach in the market-place. He was taken before the Areopagus, where the philosophers and leading men of the city were assembled, and was asked to state the nature of the doctrines he taught.

8. Paul rose and addressed the vast multitude, saying: "Athenians, in passing through your city, I found an altar, on which was written: 'TO THE UNKNOWN GOD:' what you here worship without knowing it, I preach." He then gave a long and detailed account of the nature of God and the character of the Christian religion, concluding with the resurrection of the dead.

9. When they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked, but others said they would hear him again. A few joined him; amongst whom was one named Dionysius, a member of the Areopagus.

10. From Athens Paul went to Corinth. He first preached to the Jews; but they contradicting, and refusing to listen to him, he said to them: "Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean."

He then preached to the Corinthians, and soon had the satisfaction of seeing many converted. After a year and a half spent at Corinth, Paul passed over to Asia, and, returning by Ephesus, came to Antioch.

11. The Church grew with astonishing rapidity; her influence was felt everywhere. The little cloud, no bigger than a man's hand, had begun to grow, and now covered nearly the face of the heavens. The earth was about to receive the genial rain. Christ came to call the Jews, but they threw away their vocation with the same indifference that Esau had sold his birthright for a mess of pottage.

112.—St. Paul's Third Voyage.

1. Soon after his return from his second voyage, St. Paul started on a third missionary tour. Again he passed through Asia Minor, and finally came to Ephesus, at that time the capital of the Roman possessions in Asia. Here he baptized twelve men who formerly had received the baptism of John, and, laying hands upon them, they received the Holy Ghost.

2. For two years Paul remained at Ephesus. Through his teaching, most of the inhabitants of that part of Asia learned the doctrines of Christianity. Paul wrought many miracles, and his power became so great, that the simple touch of the handkerchiefs that had touched his body was sufficient to cure the sick. Fear came upon those who saw these things, and many came, confessing their sins.

3. While St. Paul was at Ephesus, there arose a violent persecution against him. There was in the place a grand temple, dedicated to the goddess Diana. The silversmiths made small miniature temples, which they sold at considerable gain. When, by the conversion of the inhabitants, they saw their trade gone, headed by one Demetrius, they rose up against Paul, and only with much difficulty could the magistrates save him from their hands.

4. When the tumult had subsided, Paul, having exhorted the disciples to persevere, passed over to Macedonia, and afterwards to Greece. From thence he returned to Asia, and came to Troas, where he stayed a week. On Sunday, the faithful assembled in a large hall to celebrate the divine mysteries. While St. Paul was preaching, a young man, who had been sleeping, fell from one of the windows, and was killed. Paul raised him to life.

5. From Troas, Paul went to the islands of Lesbos and Chios, and thence to Samos and Miletus. At this latter place, he sent for the chief men of the church at Ephesus, and spoke to them words of affectionate adieu: "I go," said he, "to Jerusalem, but I know not what shall befall me. Only this I know: that the Holy Ghost has warned me that chains and afflictions await me. But I fear not these things, only that I fulfill my mission. I know you shall see my face no more; therefore take heed to yourselves, and to the flock over which the Holy Ghost has placed you.

6. "After my departure there shall rise up men speaking perverse things. Watch, therefore, remembering that, for three years, I ceased not, night nor day, to admonish every one of you. And now I commend you to God, who is able to give you an inheritance amongst His saints."

7. When he had said this, he knelt down and prayed with them. All began to weep, and, falling upon his neck, kissed him. They grieved particularly because he had said they would see him no more. Leading him to the ship, they bade him an affectionate farewell.

113.—The Imprisonment and Death [A. D. 67 of St. Paul.

1. The conversion of St. Paul had, from the beginning, been a sore blow to the Jews. His zeal for Christianity, and his great success in making converts, only increased their hatred ; hence, on his return to Jerusalem, they excited so great a tumult against him that, in order to save him from violence, it became necessary for the Roman governor to cast him into prison, and finally to send him to Felix, the governor of Cesarea.

2. Paul remained two years a prisoner at Cesarea, when he appealed to the emperor at Rome. On the voyage the ship was wrecked at the Island of Malta, and Paul was saved only by a miracle.

3. After two years of easy captivity spent at Rome Paul was set at liberty. Again he visited the scenes of his former labors, preaching anew the word of God, and confirming the converts in their faith.

About the year 67, St. Paul again returned to Rome. Shortly after, Nero, the emperor, raised a cruel persecution against the Christians ; St. Paul was seized upon and cast into prison, and, a few days after, beheaded.

114.—The other Apostles.

1. While St. Paul was preaching in Asia and Europe, the other Apostles were not idle. Everywhere they preached the Gospel and established churches, appointing bishops to guide the faithful and transmit the doctrines they had received. Some went to Persia, others to Arabia, while some went even to the distant India. By the end of the first century, there was no country then known that had not heard of Christ.

2. During this time, some of the Apostles, and two of their disciples, under the inspiration of the Holy Ghost, wrote short histories of our Savior's life. St. Paul and some of the other Apostles also wrote letters, or, as they are better known, "Epistles," of instruction, either to churches they had themselves established, or to others that asked them for advice. By degrees, these writings were gathered together, and became known under the general name of the New Testament.

3. After preaching at Jerusalem, for a while St. Peter chose Antioch as the center of his apostolic labors. At a later period he established his see at Rome, where to-day his successors reside, and from whence they rule the Church of God. At the same place, and on the same day that St. Paul was beheaded, St. Peter was crucified with his head down. All the other Apostles, John excepted, also shed their blood in proof of their faith in Jesus Christ.

4. After our Savior's death, St. John took the Blessed Virgin to himself, and, by his tender love, partly recompensed for the loss of her divine Son. After her death, John was seized upon and cast into a caldron of boiling oil. Saved by a miracle, he was banished to the island of Patmos, where he wrote his prophetic Revelations. After his release, he dwelt in Ephesus. Here he wrote his Gospel, and for many years preached but one sermon: "My children, love one another."

About the year 100, he died—alone of all the Apostles—a natural death.

5. Under the Old Law, Jerusalem was the center of the Jewish religion; under the Christian dispensation, Rome is the center of Catholicity, and the Pope is the head of the Christian Church.

115.—Conclusion.

1. In this short and exceedingly condensed history, it will be seen how God, for four thousand years, strove to prepare mankind for the coming of Jesus Christ. at one time by revelations made directly by himself ; at another, by the prophets, whom, from time to time, He sent to enlighten the world.

2. When Jesus Christ did come, He showed how the revelations made concerning Him, were verified in Himself, and also proved His divinity by His miracles. He then preached and established His Church, choosing His Apostles to be witnesses both of His words and His works. In time, He died, rose again, and, ascending into heaven, the work of Redemption was accomplished.

3. The first Apostles, whom Christ chose to announce His doctrines to the world, have also passed away, but the work of Jesus Christ, the Holy Catholic Church, remains, and will remain to the end.

4. She is founded upon truth ; her voice is the voice of truth ; hence, she is as imperishable as truth itself. The cement that binds together the parts of this grand old edifice is none other than the blood of Jesus Christ ; also the blood of His Apostles and martyrs, who have so generously and freely sacrificed their lives in proof of the doctrines they so fearlessly preached, and which were once delivered to them by their divine Master, Jesus Christ.

5. Let the storms of human passion rage as they may against this Church ; let the violence of human power spend itself for her ruin ; let the poison of heresy and the malice of blasphemy conspire against her, yet this Church shall never be shaken nor destroyed.

6. Let us then rejoice that we belong to the Catholic Church ; let us only remain faithful to the end ; let us keep the commandments, and, enlightened, purified, and strengthened by the graces which the Church alone can give, we need have no fear ; one day we must, we infallibly will, pass from God's kingdom upon earth to God's kingdom in heaven, where, with the angels, we will for endless ages rejoice in an ocean of bliss ; where, in the heavenly Jerusalem, with the saints of the Old, as well as with the saints of the New Law, we shall forever bless and adore the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

CHURCH HISTORY.

FIRST PERIOD.

FROM THE BIRTH OF CHRIST TO THE FALL OF ROME.

1.—The Beginning of the Church.

1. Four thousand years before the coming of Christ, Adam was created. With the birth of Christ begins the Christian era. Under the reign of Augustus, Emperor of Rome, Christ was born, and at the age of thirty years began to preach in Jerusalem and Judea.

2. At the end of three years He was seized upon and put to death, but after three days, rose again, and for forty days appeared to His Apostles and other devout men and women. He then ascended into heaven, and in ten days after, the Holy Ghost came upon the Apostles and they began to preach the gospel.

3. When it was noised abroad through Jerusalem that the Holy Ghost had visibly appeared upon the Apostles, great multitudes came together, when Peter, rising up, began to preach. The multitude were amazed, for each one heard him and the other Apostles speaking in his own tongue: Jews and Gentiles, Medes and Persians, and citizens from Egypt and Arabia. At this first sermon three thousand were converted, and at the second five thousand.

4. To the gift of tongues was also added the gift of miracles. The sick were cured, the lame walked, and the Church grew apace. In a short time Jerusalem was in great commotion. The Apostles spread themselves everywhere, passing from town to village, and from country to country.

5. At first Peter confined himself to preaching to the Jews, passing through Judea and Samaria, then into Asia Minor, where for eight years he resided at Antioch. After this he passed over to Rome, where he fixed his See, and for twenty-five years, as Bishop of Rome, governed the whole Church. The Popes being the successors of Peter are also called Bishops of Rome, where, with but short interruptions, they have always resided.

2.—The Apostles.

1. At first the other Apostles preached in Jerusalem and in the villages throughout Judea, but soon they also passed to other lands, visiting Arabia and Persia. Everywhere great numbers were converted; churches established; priests and bishops ordained; miracles and the gift of tongues proving the divinity of their mission.

2. The Greater and Lesser James confined themselves to Jerusalem, the latter becoming the bishop thereof. Bartholomew went to Persia, Thomas to India; Philip preached in Phrygia, Andrew in Achaia, whilst Matthew spent himself for the Parthians and Ethiopians. Jude died in Armenia, Simon in Persia, and Matthias, who was chosen to fill the place of Judas, was beheaded at Colchis.

3. For a time John preached in Judea and Samaria, but at length went also to Rome, where he was seized upon and banished to Patmos, an island in the Egean Sea. Here he was favored with the revelations which he has recorded in the Apocalypse. After the death of Domitian he was released and went to Ephesus, where he wrote his Gospel and for many years preached charity to his people. He died at the age of ninety-one years, the last of the Apostles and the only one who died a natural death.

4. At first St. Paul was a fiery persecutor of the Church, assisting and consenting to the stoning of St. Stephen, the first martyr. Not content with persecuting the Christians at Jerusalem, he obtained letters from the High Priest and went to Damascus, there to persecute the Church. On the way, Jesus appeared to him. Falling from his horse, he was lifted up blind and led into the city, where he was baptized by Ananias and at once became a most zealous Apostle.

ST. PETER AND ST. PAUL IN PRISON.

5. After he had preached at Damascus, St. Paul went to Galicia and Greece, stopping at Athens and Corinth. From thence he passed into Asia Minor and Judea, and going up to Jerusalem, he met Peter and other Apostles, with whom he conferred on matters concerning the future of the Church.

6. Whilst preaching in Judea he was frequently cast into prison, scourged, and his life threatened. After many years he was sent a prisoner to Rome, where he met St. Peter, who had long dwelt there. For two years he was allowed the freedom of the city, preaching openly and converting many.

7. During the persecution of Nero, he was seized upon, and with St. Peter, cast into prison, where he remained for nearly nine months. While there, he converted the jailer and a number of the prisoners. At the prayer of

CRUCIFIXION OF ST. PETER.

Peter a fountain of water burst forth in the floor of the prison, and they were baptized.

8. In the year 67 they were both condemned to death and on the 29th of June St. Paul was beheaded on the Ostian way, just outside the walls of Rome; while St. Peter was crucified on Mount Janiculum within the walls. Both places are yet shown and constantly visited by pious pilgrims. The bodies of these two great saints are buried in Rome, the one in St.

Peter's church, the other in the church of St. Paul.

3.—The Spread of Christianity.

1. The conversion of the world to Christianity is the most wonderful event in history. Conquerors, such as Alexander and Cæsar, have subdued nations; after centuries of toil and sacrifice Greece and Rome grew into power, but nothing in history is like to the work of the Apostles.

2. Here were twelve uneducated men, without money or influence, from a nation despised, preaching a doctrine hated, yet in the face of every opposition, nay even death, they converted the world. To Jews and Gentiles, Medes and Persians, Greeks and Romans, Arabians and Ethiopians, even to the far distant India was the Gospel preached ere the death of Saints Peter and Paul in the year 67, just thirty-four years after the death of Christ.

3. Not only had the Gospel been thus preached to the whole world, and the Church organized, congregations formed, bishops and priests ordained, but the whole of the Scriptures were written with the exception of the Gospel of St. John, which was written later on in the year 94.

4. The New Testament is divided into Gospels and Epistles, Acts and Revelations. The Gospels were written by Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John; the Epistles by Peter and Paul, James and Jude; the Acts by St. Luke, and the Revelations by St. John. These, with the Old Testament, form the Bible—a sacred code of laws to guide and instruct mankind.

5. The fervor of the first Christians was as remarkable as was their conversion. They had but one heart and one soul. They held their goods in common, each giving what he had for the good of all. Prayer and the breaking of bread was their constant occupation; humility and chastity the virtues that distinguished them; and so kind to each other were they that the Pagans in wonder used to cry out, “See, how they love one another.”

6. Not only did the Apostles preach the Gospel and establish the Church, but under the inspiration of the Holy Ghost they determined the forms for the administration of the Sacraments and the celebration of the Mass. Their work was not of man but of God; hence, must last forever. As Christ is unchangeable, so are His doctrines unchangeable. Man may change, but God and His works change not.

4.—The Persecutions of the Church.—Jews.

1. With the spread of Christianity rose enmities and hatreds amongst both Jews and Gentiles. As the Jews had persecuted Christ, so they also persecuted His Apostles, and were the first to rise up against Christianity. They scourged Saints Peter and John; stoned St. Stephen; cast St. James headlong from the roof of the temple and beat out his brains with a fuller's mallet.

2. They also seized upon the Christians wherever they were found, scourged them and threw them into prison; others they banished, some they put to death. The Christians, seeing this, fled, thus spreading the doctrines of Christ and adding to the fold by the virtues they practiced. Wherever the Jews were in power, there the followers of Christ suffered.

3. Elsewhere the other Apostles were equally maltreated. St. Bartholomew was skinned alive; St. Matthew died in Parthia, Andrew in Achia; St. Philip was martyred in Phrygia, Thomas in India; St. Jude gave up his life in Armenia, and Simon shed his blood for the conversion of Persia. While at Rome, St. John was cast into a caldron of boiling oil, but by a miracle came forth unhurt. Every one of the Apostles, St. John alone excepted, as before mentioned, died by violence, giving their lives for their faith.

4. For a time God permitted these persecutions, but in time their punishment came; first on the Jews, then upon the Romans. In the year 69 the Jews revolted against Rome, when Titus, the Roman general, collected an army and besieged Jerusalem, surrounding the city with vast fortifications.

5. Soon famine, then pestilence set in. The city was torn by factions from within, while the Romans battered down the walls from without. Neither young nor old were spared; Jerusalem was doomed. The prophecy of Christ was about to be fulfilled. Forewarned, the Christians had fled. Within one year, more than one million Jews died from pestilence, or were killed by the Romans. The city was taken, the Temple burned, the people sold into slavery, and thus dispersed over the world as we now find them, without country or king. Truly the blood of Christ is upon them.

5.—Roman Persecutions.

1. During the first three hundred years of the Christian era there were ten general persecutions raised against the Church by the Roman emperors, besides many local persecutions by governors and city magistrates. The first general persecution was raised by Nero (66). He had burned the city of Rome, and seeing the anger of the people, accused the Christians, who in the moment of passion were seized upon, cast into prison or put to death.

2. Many were exposed to wild beasts, others thrown into the Tiber. Some were beheaded; some were crucified; others rolled up in pitch, and at night burned to light up the public gardens. Old men and tender women, even boys and girls gave up their lives for Christ.

3. Nine other emperors proclaimed persecutions throughout the empire. Amongst these the persecutions under Domitian (93), Severus (202), Maximin (235), and Diocletian (303), were the most severe. During these three hundred years Rome looked more like a slaughter-house than a place where men might dwell. From every province of the empire Christians were dragged to Rome to be torn to pieces in the amphitheatre, or burned at the stake for the amusement of the people. This was the age of martyrs.

4. During this period the catacombs were dug, and in them the Christians hid, buried their dead and held their religious services. In them are found to-day the bodies of the martyrs, with the symbols of faith on their tombs—pictures, altars, chalices, inscriptions, teaching every article of Catholic faith, showing beyond a doubt the identity of the Catholic religion of to-day with the religion of Christians in the first ages of the Church.

MARTYRDOM OF ST. IGNATIUS.

5. During these persecutions, Sts. Ignatius and Polycarp were put to death, and Felicitas and Perpetua torn by wild beasts ; St. Agnes beheaded ; St. Lawrence roasted on a gridiron, and St. Cecilia condemned to be suffocated in the bath. All that human cruelty could devise was tried ; but the Christians remained firm, adding daily to their numbers by the virtues of their lives and the constancy of their faith. So wide spread and so deeply rooted did Christianity become, that in the year 320 Constantine the Great declared himself a Christian, and persecutions ceased. Christ had triumphed, the world was converted.

6.—Heresies.

1. With the spread of Christianity rose heresy. In the time of the Apostles the Jewish converts sought to unite the ceremonial law of Moses with the new law of Christ. Against this St. Paul preached. At the Council of Jerusalem (51), St. Peter presiding, it was resolved not to impose the observance of the Mosaic law upon the Christian Church.

2. After this came Simon Magus, who, seeing the Apostles working miracles, offered them money if they would give him like power; failing, he rose up against the Church, and going to Rome, published that, like Christ, he would ascend into heaven. On the appointed day, in the presence of a great multitude, by the power of the devil, he rose in the air; but, at the prayer of Peter, he fell, and was killed. After him came the Ebionites and Cerinthians, who are spoken of by St. John, and against whom he wrote his Gospel, to prove the divinity of Christ which they denied.

3. In the second and third centuries rose the Gnostics, who taught that the world was eternal; then the Manicheans, who held that there were two eternal principles, one good, the other bad; also the Sabellians, who denied that there are three persons in God. Against these the principal Christian writers were Ireneus and Tertullian, Cyprian and Origen.

4. In the year 319 Arius, a priest of Constantinople, attacked the divinity of Christ, teaching that the Son was not equal to the Father. At the Council of Nice (325) he was condemned, and refusing to retract, was banished. Ten years after (336), returning to Constantinople, he attempted to force himself into the Church, but the hand of God came upon him and he died, his blood gushing out of his mouth and his bowels bursting forth.

5. In the year 430 Nestorius, Bishop of Constantinople, began to preach that the Blessed Virgin was not the Mother of God, but only the Mother of Christ, contrary to the true faith that teaches there is but one person in Christ, and that consequently the Blessed Virgin is the Mother of God. Nestorius was condemned at the Council of Ephesus (431), then banished. He died in 439, HIS TONGUE ROTTING IN HIS MOUTH.

7.—Heresies. Concluded.

1. In combating the errors of Nestorius, Eutyches, a monk of Constantinople, fell into another error. Nestorius had taught there were two persons in Christ; Eutyches taught there was but one nature in Christ, while the true doctrine is that there are two natures in Christ, one human, the other divine. This heresy was condemned, first at the Council of Chalcedon (451), and again at the Council of Constantinople, held in the year 553.

ST. AUGUSTINE, BISHOP OF HIPPO.

2. After Eutyches came Pelagius (417), who taught many grave errors on the subjects of Grace and Original Sin. Against this latter heresy God raised up the great St. Augustine, Bishop of Hippo, in Africa, whose writings remain a monument for all ages. Around him are clustered the names of Saints Athanasius, who wrote against Arius, and Jerome, Basil, and Gregory, which are a tower of strength in the cause of Christianity.

3. The above heresies, together with the later heresy against the Holy Ghost, in which it was taught that the Holy Ghost did not proceed from the Father and the Son, but from the Father only, constitute the great heresies of the Church down to the time of the Protestant Reformation, when Luther and Calvin revived the old Pelagian heresies on Grace and Justification and added several of their own.

4. This heresy on the Holy Ghost is held by the present schismatic Greek Church, now spread through Russia and Turkey. The Nestorian and Eutychian heresies still survive in some parts of Asia and Persia.

8.—Fall of the Roman Empire.

1. With the conversion of Constantine, Rome seemed for a short time to have received a new lease of life, but this was not to be. Rome had sinned too deeply. For three hundred years she had persecuted the Church ; the blood of the martyrs was on her head ; she must fall. The decree had long before gone forth, and by the mouth of his prophets God had foretold what he would do. Pagan Rome must fall and Christian Rome take her place.

2. Conquest had made Rome rich, and with wealth had come corruption and weakness. Society was divided into two classes, master and slave. Owing to war and conquest the latter was far more numerous than the former. Besides, the exactions of Rome had made the provinces very discontent. Everywhere there were murmurings and signs of the coming storm. The people were oppressed, the slaves ready for revolt; the provinces growing in power; there was but needed a spark to fire the volcano on which Rome rested. The occasion came towards the latter part of the fourth century.

3. In the year 361 Julian, surnamed the Apostate, mounted the throne of the Cæsars. At first he pretended to be a Christian, but in a short time, threw off the mask, and attempted to restore the Pagan religion. This seems to have been the last drop; the cup was full; God's patience was exhausted; the time was come, and God sent forth His hosts to destroy this proud and sinful Mistress that for twelve hundred years had ruled the world.

4. To falsify the words of Christ, "that the Temple of Jerusalem should be destroyed," Julian undertook to rebuild it. He called together the Jews and began to clear away the ruins. When the last stone of the original foundation had been removed, and the workmen were about to begin the foundations for the new temple, balls of fire burst forth from the earth, so that the work had to be abandoned. Thus the very prophecy, "that not a stone should be left upon a stone of that grand building," which he had attempted to falsify, was by him literally fulfilled.

5. In a war with the Persians Julian was killed, crying out, "O Nazarean, thou hast conquered." He had attempted to war against God, but, as ever must be, failed.

9.—Rome Destroyed.

1. In the beginning of the fifth century, vast hordes of barbarians began to descend from the north of Europe, and to sweep over the fairest provinces of the Roman Empire. Wherever they came they left ruin and desolation behind.

2. First came the Visigoths, in the year 410, led by the warlike Alaric. He swept through France, invaded Italy, and took Rome, giving up the city to pillage and killing many of the inhabitants.

3. In the year 453 Attila, King of the Huns, swept through Europe, desolating France, and crossing over to Italy, appeared before Rome. At the prayer of St. Leo, then Pope, the city was spared, and Attila withdrew his army. Three years after (456), Genseric, King of the Vandals, took Rome and pillaged it. Still later the Goths, under Totila, again took Rome and pillaged it.

4. After ravaging Italy, the Vandals crossed over to Africa, and seizing upon Carthage, made it their capital. The Visigoths settled principally in the south of France and Spain, while the Goths spread over some of the fairest portions of Europe.

5. The Saxons invaded Britain, while the Franks overran the greater part of France, ultimately giving their name to the country. Such was the condition of things when Odoacer, King of the Heruli, in the year 476, took Rome, and making himself master of the country, proclaimed himself King of Italy. With him ended the Roman Empire that for twelve hundred years had been a power and a terror to the nations of the earth, and for much of the time had ruled the world.

6. While Rome was virtuous, she was strong; but when luxury and pride crept in she grew weak, and by her corruptions fell with none to mourn her. Had she retained her virtue, had she not yielded to the corruptions of wealth, had she received Christ and not imbrued her hands in the blood of His Saints, she had not fallen as she did a scoff and a by-word to the nations of the earth. Like proud Babylon she rose up against God and trusted in her own strength. For a time, man may turn his back upon God, but in the end God will assert His power.

10.—Christian Apologists.

1. Coeval with the rise of Christianity rose a contest with Paganism. In the light of Christian truth the shallowness and falsehood of Pagan philosophy was easily seen. The worship of false gods was wide-spread and deeply rooted, while the knowledge of the true God was known only to the Jews, a race despised and of little power or influence. Everywhere irreligion prevailed.

2. Because the Christians could not, and would not accept these gods, and so refused to worship them, they were declared enemies to the state and offenders against the religion of the gods. They were accused of sacrilege; of adoring an ass's head; of atheism and immorality; of disloyalty to the secular powers and a divided allegiance; and, lastly, of eating a child at their religious feasts.

3. To combat these errors and false accusations—so similar to those of our own times—God raised up men of great learning, who not only refuted these errors and the heresies that rose among Christians themselves, but triumphantly vindicated the truth of Christianity, proving that Christ was the Messiah, and his religion but the fulfillment of the prophecies made by Moses and the prophets.

4. The most distinguished of these early writers—or as they are called, Apologists, Fathers, Doctors—were Justin, martyr, Clement of Alexandria and Origen among the Greeks ; Tertullian and Cyprian among the Latins.

5. Justin (167) wrote two Apologies, or rather defenses of Christianity, one to the Emperor Antoninus Pius, the second to Marcus Aurelius. For this latter he was put to death, and so won his martyr's crown.

6. Origen, the most illustrious of Clement's scholars, wrote (253) a triumphant vindication of Christianity in refutation of the false charges made against it by Celsus, a most learned and subtle Greek philosopher, while Tertullian (204), a priest of Carthage, wrote not only a complete refutation of the charges made by the Pagans against Christianity, but proved most triumphantly in his immortal work, De Principiis, the divinity and perpetuity of the Catholic Church.

7. The writings of these men will ever remain as monuments of Christian faith, and full and complete refutations of the falsehoods and weaknesses of Pagan philosophy. They fully cover the controversy between Paganism and Christianity, and are the store-house from which all future writers on Paganism have drawn.

11.—The Doctors and Fathers of the Church.

1. Besides the Apologists, who devoted themselves to the defense of Christianity, its divinity and perfection, and the refutation of Paganism, God also raised up, in the subsequent ages of the Church, men of great learning and deep thought to refute the heresies that from time to time arose to disturb Christian society.

2. The most distinguished among these Doctors and Fathers of the Church were Athanasius and Chrysostom, Basil and Gregory Nazianzen in the East; Jerome, Ambrose, and Augustine in the West.

ST. ATHANASIUS BANISHED FROM ALEXANDRIA.

3. Athanasius distinguished himself at the Council of Nice (325) by his brilliant refutation of Arianism, while Basil (360) and Gregory labored for the general defense of the Church. St. Chrysostom, Bishop of Constantinople (398), called the golden-mouthed, is considered the most eloquent of all the Christian orators, a worthy rival of Cicero and Demosthenes.

4. Jerome (420) immortalized himself by his translation of the Bible from the original Hebrew and Greek, giving us what is now known as the Vulgate, a work that will ever remain as a monument of erudition and correctness. Ambrose (385), Bishop of Milan, besides his able refutation of heresy and his general defense of religion, distinguished himself by his heroic rebuke of the Emperor Theodosius for the wanton massacre of the inhabitants of Thessalonica. He is also renowned, as being the means in God's hands used, for the conversion of St. Augustine.

5. St. Augustine was born in the year 354, and in the early part of his life embraced the errors of the Manichæans, much to the sorrow of his saintly mother, Monica. In 385 he was converted by the preaching of St. Ambrose, and in 396 became Bishop of Hippo, Africa. St. Augustine is pre-eminently noted for his refutation of the heresies of Donatus (411) and Pelagius (416).

6. Of all the great men known to Christianity, no two have so impressed themselves upon the Church as St. Augustine and St. Thomas Aquinas, the latter born in the kingdom of Naples, Italy, 1227. The former dealt with the entire body of revealed truth—God, the Holy Trinity; man, the powers of body and soul; grace, free will, and our future destiny; the latter, with society and government. St. Augustine sought to explain the dogmas of revelation, and to refute heresy, while St. Thomas laid down the principles on which society is built, and the binding influence of religion upon king and people. Between them, the whole body of Christian dogma has been explained, and every form of heresy, so far known, refuted. Nothing escaped them. The most profound truths, equally with the most minute details, are to be found in their works.

7. Besides the above, the Church has ever had men of great learning and ability, distinguished in every branch of knowledge. In more modern times the names of Albertus Magnus (1254), Francis de Sales (1654), Bossuet (1704), and St. Liguori (1787), will easily be recalled, together with a host of others, distinguished in theology and philosophy, science and literature. No institution has done so much for the development of the human intellect as the Catholic Church; nor can, for to her alone has God given the great commission “go teach all nations.”

SECOND PERIOD.

FROM THE FALL OF ROME TO THE PROTESTANT REFORMA-TION.

12.—The Conversion of the Barbarians.

1. From the death of Christ to the fall of the Roman Empire Christianity had made great progress, both in Asia, Africa, and Europe. At the conversion of Constantine (312) the population of the empire appears to have been about 120,000,000, of whom 30,000,000 were Christians, leaving, as will be seen, the Pagans largely in the ascendant.

2. When the barbarians came from the North and swept over Europe like an avalanche, destroying all before them, civilization seemed doomed, and would certainly have been destroyed but for the Church. But God had prepared a means of salvation, and the Church set herself to the conversion of Europe. Up to the fall of Rome, Christianity had been confined in Europe and Africa principally to the shores of the Mediterranean. There were flourishing churches all along the north of Africa; at Carthage, at Hippo, and in Egypt; in Europe the faith was wide-spread, in Greece, in Sicily, in Italy, and in the south of France and Spain. Elsewhere in Europe Christianity was little known when Rome fell.

3. The Vandals, who settled in the north of Africa, were tainted with the Arian heresy, and long persecuted the Church there, as did the Visigoths in Spain. The Saxons destroyed almost every vestige of Christianity in Britain. From the same cause religion suffered everywhere throughout Italy and France.

4. As early as the year 241, the Franks, a German tribe, invaded France, and by degrees, seized upon the greater part of the country. Clovis, their king, married Clotilda, a Christian, and a woman of great piety. She often spoke to her husband of the Christian religion, to which he became most kindly disposed. In a battle with the Germans (496), Clovis vowed that if the God of Clotilda would give him the victory he would become a Christian. God gave him the victory, and Clovis, with more than

THE BAPTISM OF CLOVIS.

3000 of his army, were baptized by St. Remigius, Bishop of Rheims, being the first Christian king of Europe. With Clovis the conversion of the whole French nation soon followed, and to the end of the last century, France remained one of the most faithful of the Catholic countries.

5. Shortly after the conversion of the Franks, the Suevi (562), the Visigoths (587), and (593) the Lombards of northern Italy were converted to the true faith, but the great event of this period was the conversion of Ireland and England.

13.—The Conversion of Ireland and Scotland.

1. As early as the third century Christianity was somewhat known in Ireland. So much so was this that, when Palladius, in the year 431, came to preach Christ, he found many Christian communities already existing. But to St. Patrick is due the credit of having converted the island.

ST. PATRICK.

2. St. Patrick was born in North Britain, in the year 387, and in youth was for seven years held a slave in Ireland. Escaping, he was called, in a vision, to preach the gospel, and going to Rome to consult the Pope, was commissioned by Celestine to return to Ireland, where he landed A. D. 432.

3. He at once struck boldly into the country, and at Tara met the king and Druid priests, with whom he had many conferences. With the permission of the king he began to preach. Soon converts were multiplied ; churches and monasteries built ; bishops consecrated, and priests ordained. So rapid and complete was the conversion of Ireland, that when St. Patrick died (492), the island was Christian—the only example of a whole nation converted to the faith without a single martyr.

4. In the beginning of the Christian era, Scotland was peopled by two tribes known as the Picts and the Scots. The former dwelt in the south, the latter in the north of the island.

5. As early as 412, St. Ninian, a native of Britain, preached to the Picts, of whom many were converted. One hundred and fifty years after (563), St. Columba, an Irish missionary, accompanied with twelve companions, landed at Iona, an island on the coast of Scotland. There he founded a monastery and began to preach to the Scots on the mainland. Converts were rapidly made ; missionaries multiplied, and churches established among both Picts and Scots, so that at the death of St. Columba (597) the inhabitants of Scotland were almost entirely Christian.

6. Since her conversion, Ireland has remained faithful to the Church, but at the Reformation, Scotland fell away from the faith and became Protestant.

14.—Conversion of England and Germany.

1. At what precise period Christianity was first preached in Britain is not positively known, but it seems quite certain that at the end of the second century, Lucius, a British prince, was converted, and at his petition Pope Eleutherius sent two priests, Fugatius and Damianus, who converted many. During the persecution of Diocletian (305) quite a number were put to death, among whom St. Alban is honored as the first English martyr.

2. In the second century the Saxons were a small German tribe, but by the fourth century had grown to be a powerful people. In their piratical expeditions they often invaded

Britain, and when Rome withdrew her legions, the British invited the Saxons to help them repel the attacks of the Picts and Scots. For their reward the Saxons drove out the inhabitants and divided the country into seven kingdoms, at the same time almost entirely destroying Christianity in the island.

3. In the year 597, Pope Gregory the Great sent Augustine, with a band of forty missionaries, to preach the ST. BONIFACE.

Gospel in Britain. They were kindly received, and Ethelbert, King of Kent, with many of his people, were baptized. From Kent the Gospel spread rapidly through the other kingdoms. To meet the growing wants of the new church, Augustine went to France, and at Arles was consecrated bishop. Returning to England he fixed his See at Canterbury. By the end of the seventh century the whole island was Christian.

4. With the Roman armies the Christian religion had been carried into Germany, but there was no general conversion of the nation till St. Boniface, an Anglo-Saxon, began the work in earnest. For twenty-five years he traveled over Germany and Bavaria. He found the country covered with idols ; he left it Christian. In the year 755 he was put to death, a martyr of zeal.

5. In the ninth century the Danes and the Swedes were converted, and after them the Hungarians and Russians. In the year 912 the Normans received the faith and settled in France, and at the end of this century (1000), the Poles, with their saintly king, Stephen, bowed before the Cross.

6. The struggle had been long and the resistance great, but in the end Christ had conquered. The Jews had tried persecution and failed ; Rome had for three hundred years warred against the Church, and failed ; the barbarians had resisted, but in time were subdued ; heresy and schism had striven to rend the seamless garment of Christ, and failed. God alone is great ; God alone is eternal, and as He, so is His Church—spotless and eternal.

15.—Religious Orders—East.

1. From the beginning of the Church, the most fervent and earnest devoted themselves to prayer and meditation, giving their goods to the poor and themselves to works of charity and penance. In the community of goods, and the consecrated virgins spoken of in the New Testament, is found the first germs of monastic life ; but not till the middle of the third century was there anything like organized communities of Religious or any fixed Rule for their government. Up to that time each had been a rule to himself, living in his own family, or where convenience best suited.

2. In the year 251, St. Anthony was born in Egypt, of rich and virtuous parents. Hearing one day in the Church the words : “ If thou wilt be perfect, go, sell all thou hast and give to the poor ;” he took them literally. Selling all he had, he retired to the wilderness and gave himself up to prayer and fasting.

3. His food was bread, his drink water ; his bed a mat, or the bare earth ; his clothing a shirt of hair and a cloak of skin. After many years thus spent in the deserts of Thebais, God gave him the gift of miracles. This drew to him many followers, whom he formed into communities, and for whom he drew up rules, including the vows of poverty, chastity, and obedience.

4. These monks, as they were called, spent their time in fasting and prayer and labor. Their food was bread and water, of which they eat but once a day, and that not till the evening ; their bed a mat, and their abode a little cell, or a cave in the rocks.

5. Soon these communities spread not only through Egypt and Palestine, but also through Syria and Greece, and the whole East.

6. St. Anthony died (356) at the advanced age of one hundred and five years, leaving after him the beginning of an Institution that has been one of the glories of the Church, and the most powerful of means for the sanctification of souls and the promulgation of the Gospel. The monks of the East, but more particularly of the West, have been the great missionaries, the great writers and scholars of the world. There is nothing they have not touched, and nothing they have not beautified, be it history, or science, or philosophy, or theology.

16.—Religious Orders—West.

1. After the death of St. Anthony, the work he had begun was carried on by St. Paul at Thebes, and Pachomius (340) by the Nile ; St. Hilarion, a disciple of St. Jerome, carried the monastic rule into Palestine, while St. Basil the Great, by his learning and wisdom, gave strength and knowledge to the Order. St. Augustine, in Africa (396), organized communities of women, for whom he wrote rules, yet used as the basis of the Rules for most of all the female religious communities since his time.

2. Though much had been done, as above shown, yet much had yet to be done ere monasticism would attain its power and perfection. This came in the West with St. Benedict, who was born in Italy, A. D. 480.

3. At the age of fourteen he left Rome, where he was at school, and went secretly to Subiaco, where for three years he dwelt unknown to the world. From thence he was made abbot of a monastery at Vicovaro, but the monks becoming dissatisfied with his strictness, he left and went to Monte Cassino (529), where he established a monastery that in time became the most celebrated house of learning and religion the world has ever seen.

4. Besides prayer and penance, and the usual vows of poverty, chastity, and obedience, St. Benedict added labor—intellectual and manual. Under the hand of the Benedictines, deserts, marshes, and mountains became gardens; their monasteries became homes of learning; in them history was written, science cultivated, and religion and civilization found their great defenders. It is usual to decry the monks, but the fact must ever remain that, through them, whatever of classic lore or ancient or mediæval history we have, has been preserved.

5. During the middle ages, the Benedictine, the Franciscan, and the Dominican Orders were the great religious power of Europe. To the Benedictines is due whatever of ancient civilization we have, and in the Franciscans and Dominicans we have the great preachers and theologians.

17.—Religious Orders. Concluded.

1. In the beginning monks were only laymen, and not till well on in the Middle Ages were priests admitted amongst them. In the twelfth century the Albigenses and Waldenses rose in the south of France to disturb society with their errors. To counteract their teachings, and try to convert them, St. Dominic, a Spanish priest (1215), established the Religious Order known as the Dominicans, or Friar Preachers. To preaching they united great learning. The most distinguished among them is St. Thomas Aquinas.

DEATH OF ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI.

2. Cotemporary with St. Dominic was St. Francis of Assisi. He too established an Order (1223) whose end was also preaching. To learning he added extreme poverty in dress and food. St. Dominic seeing the great success of the Franciscan Order, added poverty to his rule. Hence, both Orders are known as Mendicant Orders, the members of both being required by their Rule to make begging a part of their religious life. The Benedictines, Dominicans, and Franciscans were the three great Orders of the Mediæval Church. Other Orders arose, but they were but branches; such as the Cistercians by St. Bernard (1113), and the Carthusians (1101) under St. Bruno, who sought merely to revive the fervor of the Benedictine Rule, or to add greater rigor to its austerities.

3. At the Reformation St. Ignatius (1540) established the Society commonly known as the Jesuits. Their object is teaching and preaching. By their great learning, both as writers and preachers, they have greatly helped to resist and refute the errors of Protestantism. They are noted as teachers, having colleges and schools everywhere. They and the Franciscans have been the great missionaries of the Church in latter times—the Jesuits in North America, the Franciscans in Mexico and South America, and both have won immortal glory among the Pagans of Asia and Africa.

18.—Mohammedanism.

1. Mohammed was born at Mecca, in Arabia, A. D. 569. In youth he engaged in commerce, but at the age of forty began to preach religion, giving himself out as a prophet. He promised his followers wealth and power in this world, and a paradise of sensual pleasures in the next. He also taught the doctrine of fatalism.

2. Aided, it is said, by an apostate monk, Mohammed composed a book, known as the Koran, filled with fables and maxims drawn from the Old and New Testament. He held Christ was a Prophet, and that there was but one God. He forbade the use of pork or wine to his followers, but permitted polygamy.

3. In the year 622 Mohammed fled to Medina, where he began a war on all who would not believe in him. In 630, at the head of an army, he returned to Mecca, took it, and at once began a career of conquest seldom equalled by the most renowned.

4. At his death (632), all Arabia had accepted Mohammed, and within twenty years after, his successors had subdued Syria and Palestine, Egypt and Persia (651). From Asia they swept along the Mediterranean, subduing Northern Africa (707) and so completely destroying Christianity that scarce a vestige remains. From thence they passed over to Spain (711) and seized upon the greater part of the country.

5. The Christians that were spared, fled to the mountains. For seven hundred years war between the Mohammedans and Christians of Spain was carried on, and only ended (1492) when, under Ferdinand and Isabella, the Moorish city of Granada was taken, and the Moors finally driven out or converted.

6. In 732 a countless host of Mohammedans, or, as they were also called, Saracens, invaded the south of France, carrying destruction and ruin everywhere. Wherever they had come, so far, their power had been irresistible. Europe seemed destined to fall before them, as Asia and Africa had already done. But at this moment, God raised up Charles Martel, King of France, who, with his army, met the Saracens near Poitiers, where a great battle was fought. The Saracens were defeated, and it is said three hundred thousand of them were left dead upon the field. Christendom was saved, and the further progress of the Mohammedans was forever arrested in Europe.

19.—Temporal Power of the Popes.

1. From the time of Constantine (330), the Roman emperors had gradually concentrated their power in the East, leaving Rome and the West much to itself. During the invasions of the barbarians, the people began to look to the Popes for protection, so that from the necessities of the times the Popes became, to a great extent, the civil as well as the ecclesiastical rulers of Rome. This was finally and formally settled in 755 by the act of Pepin, King of France, and later, in 774, by Charlemagne.

2. In 755, while Stephen II. filled the pontifical chair, the Lombards under their king, Astolphus, invaded the Roman territory and laid waste the surrounding country. Having in vain appealed to the Eastern Emperor for assistance, the Pope turned to Pepin, son of Charles Martel, who crossed the Alps, drove back the Lombards, and by a solemn act gave to the Pope and his successors forever the territory of Rome and Ravenna, together with Bologna and Ferrara, and a considerable portion of the territory stretching along the Adriatic.

3. Twenty years later (774), when the Lombards a third time attacked Rome, Charlemagne crossed into Italy, and defeating them, confirmed the grant given to Pope Stephen, adding new territory to the original gift. From that time to 1870 the Popes have governed Rome and the states above named. In 1870, Victor Emanuel, King of Sardinia, invaded the states of the Church, took Rome, and has since held it, keeping the Pope a prisoner in the Vatican.

4. Though these temporal possessions are not essential to the existence of the Church to-day any more than during the first three centuries, yet they are of immense benefit. The necessities of religion require that the Pope be independent of kings and princes, that he be free from the intrigues of courts and politicians, and that he be free to communicate with the bishops of the world. This he cannot do if dependent on any government for his liberty, nor can he act freely and independently with governments if he is subject to any particular government. This is well seen in the present condition of Rome, where infidels are robbing the Church and destroying religion.

20.—The Crusades.

1. After overrunning Syria and Palestine, the Mohammedans took Jerusalem (638). The Emperor Heraclius removed the true Cross, but the city was pillaged and the Christians subjected to great hardships.

2. During the reign of Charlemagne the western empire assumed much of its ancient glory and power. The Mohammedans were kept in check, and the Christians in the East were to some extent protected against cruelties and persecutions. But after his death (814) persecution was renewed, and continued to the end of the eleventh century, when the first Crusade began.

3. During the eleventh century religious zeal ran very high, and many visited the Holy Land as pious pilgrims. On these pilgrimages they were subjected to great indignities, the Mohammedans robbing them, and often putting them to death or reducing them to slavery.

PREACHING THE CRUSADES.

4. The recital of these indignities and persecutions greatly excited the Christians of Europe. Popes Sylvester II. and Gregory VII. appealed to the Christian princes of Europe to protect the Christians in the East, and to free Jerusalem from the power of the Mussulman.

5. In the year 1094 Peter, surnamed the Hermit, visited the Holy Land, and on his return spoke to Pope Urban II. of the distress of the Christians in the East. The Pope called a council at Clermont, at which it was resolved to recover Jerusalem.

6. Amid great enthusiasm large armies were raised. Cries of "God wills it" were everywhere heard. The march was begun, and soon Constantinople was reached. Nice was taken; Antioch fell into the hands of the Crusaders, and in a short time the most of Palestine was in possession of the Christians.

7. When the Crusaders first saw Jerusalem from a neighboring hill, they fell on their knees and kissed the ground, then rising and shouting "God wills it," rushed to the attack. For five weeks the Mussulman held the walls, but on Friday, July 15, 1099, at three o'clock in the afternoon, the city was taken by assault, and the Tomb of Christ was in the hands of the Crusaders.

8. Eight days after, Godfrey of Bouillon was elected king, but when offered a golden crown, refused to wear it, saying, "that it was not fit that he should wear a crown of gold where the King of kings had worn a crown of thorns."

9. By the battle of Ascalon, fought on the 12th of August of the same year, the whole of Palestine fell into the hands of the Crusaders. Jerusalem remained in possession of the Christians for eighty-eight years, when it was again taken by the Saracens (1187), and with a short interval of eleven years, from 1228 to 1239, it has ever since been under the dominion of the Turks.

21.—The Crusades. Concluded.

1. In 1144 the Saracens attacked the Christians of Palestine; Edessa was taken and the inhabitants put to the sword. When the news reached Europe Louis VII., King of France, and Conrad III., Emperor of Germany, raised two large armies and marched for the Holy Land. They failed; and after an ineffectual attempt to reduce Damascus, returned with but a remnant of their armies.

2. After the fall of Jerusalem in 1187, the Emperor of Germany, Frederick Barbarossa, and Philip, King of France, with Richard, Cœur-de-Lion, King of England, raised each an army, and in 1189 marched for Jerusalem.

Frederick died on the journey. After a siege of twenty-three months Acre was taken, when Philip returned, leaving Richard to continue the war. In 1192 Richard concluded a treaty with the Turks, by which the Christians were at liberty to visit Jerusalem and Palestine without molestation. With his return ended this third and best equipped of all the Crusades.

3. A fourth (1203) and a fifth (1228) Crusade were undertaken for the defense of Palestine. In the former, Constantinople was taken, and for fifty-six years was held by Baldwin, Count of Flanders, and his successors ; by the latter Jerusalem was ceded to Frederick II., Emperor of Germany, but no substantial benefits remained to the Christians by either expedition.

4. In 1244 the Turks burst into Syria, and overrunning Palestine, again took Jerusalem and pillaged it. To repel these barbarians St. Louis, King of France, headed the sixth Crusade, but was defeated and taken prisoner (1250). On the payment of a large ransom he was set at liberty, and with other prisoners, returned to France. Twenty years after (1270) Louis undertook still another Crusade, but his fleet was driven by adverse winds to the coast of Africa, where he landed his troops near the site of ancient Carthage. A virulent plague breaking out, his army was swept away, and he himself fell a victim. With him died the last effort to recover Jerusalem, which ever since has remained in the hands of the infidel—a sad thought for the Christian mind.

5. Though the Crusades had failed to free the Holy Land from the power of the infidel, and had cost Europe immense loss of both men and treasure, yet they were not without benefit. By them commerce had been enlarged, knowledge increased, and the refinement of the East brought to the West. The fine arts, a wider knowledge of geography and mathematics, and the institution of chivalry, were some of the advantages derived by the Crusades, to which must be added the stop they put to Mohammedan conquest.

22.—Science and Literature during the Middle Ages.

1. In the fall of the Roman Empire, and the invasion of Europe by the Barbarians, literature received a rude shock, and for a time science and letters seemed doomed, but God had provided a savior in the monks, with whom some of the princes and rulers co-operated.

2. Owing to the disturbed state of society occasioned by the constant wars of the Barbarians and the devastations consequent thereon, little for a time could be done for the cultivation of letters. The wonder is not that so little was done, but that under the circumstances so much was done.

3. With the reorganization of the empire under Pepin, King of France (741), and its final consolidation under his son Charlemagne (800), literature began to revive. Charlemagne was a great patron of letters. Under his reign, notwithstanding his continual wars, he established schools, and gathered together the learned from his whole empire.

4. He invited from England, Alcuin (804), a distinguished scholar and pupil of the venerable Bede, under whose direction academies were established, and the sons of the more wealthy flocked to his lectures; Alcuin spoke Latin, Greek, and Hebrew, was master of philosophy, theology, history, and mathematics. Under his teaching the schools of France soon became celebrated, and scholars from all Europe came to learn wisdom at his lips. The impulse thus given to letters by Charlemagne was continued by his successors.

5. Alfred the Great, King of England (870), after defeating the Danes and driving them out of the country, also turned his attention to the education of his people. For this purpose he in turn invited from France men of learning, founded schools and encouraged letters, so that under his reign science and learning made great progress.

6. Otho, Emperor of Germany (973), was also a great patron of education; he established schools and patronized the learned. His example revived and infused new life into the schools of France and England. During this period the schools of Ireland were also very celebrated; so much so, that as many as twenty-five thousand scholars are said to have attended at one time the schools of Armagh.

7. In the year 529 the celebrated monastery of Monte Casino, in Italy, was founded by St. Benedict, and by the end of the 12th century the monasteries of Cluny in France, Bec in Normandy, and the schools of Oxford and Canterbury in England, had grown into great repute. Pope Sylvester II (1003) and Gregory VII (1013) were also great patrons of learning, besides being defenders of the faith, while Lanfranc and St. Anselm, in England, had rendered illustrious the See of Canterbury, and by their learning adorned the age in which they lived.

23.—The Monks and Literature.

1. It is popular with modern historians to decry the monks and accuse them of laziness and ignorance. Because forsooth steamboats, telegraphs, and railroads were unknown to the Middle Ages, then the men of the past were ignorant, and the Church sought to keep the world in darkness. This is not correct either in fact or in reason.

2. The truth is, there was much more learning among the masses, and scholars far more profound during the Middle Ages than has been generally admitted. The usual mode of reasoning is, to compare the past with the present, and if the present has what the past had not, then to conclude that the past was buried in darkness, and that ignorance reigned supreme. The unfairness of this reasoning is easily seen.

3. To reason justly we must consider the condition of the past—the disruption of society by the fall of Rome; the devastation of Europe by the Barbarians; and the necessary reorganization of society and the formation of new governments. To these must be added the ignorance and number of the slaves; the rudeness of the Barbarians, and the continual wars, consequent on the rude and uncivilized state of society.

4. To overcome the above, schools and colleges had to be established, manners softened, the Barbarian civilized, and slavery abolished. Yet all this was done during the Middle Ages; and though learning was not as diffused among the people then as now, yet there were scholars not only as profound as any of to-day, but they found audiences fully as able to understand and appreciate them as any we find in modern times.

5. At first the monks were but cultivators of the soil; but as the monasteries grew in size and wealth they opened hospitals, then schools, where rich and poor were free to attend. In these schools were taught Grammar and Rhetoric, Arithmetic and Logic, Greek and Roman Classics, Aristotle and Euclid.

6. The best fitted among the monks were selected; some to teach, some to copy, some to write on history or sacred Scripture. Others devoted themselves to science, or architecture, or the fine arts.

7. The churches and monasteries that time, fire, and the Reformation have spared, show the state of perfection to which architecture was carried, as also carving and painting. To these must be added music, and the discoveries and inventions of the Middle Ages, showing not only a high degree of intelligence, but causing wonder to the honest-minded that so much could have been done in the midst of so much that was adverse.

8. The writings of Bede (730), Alcuin (804), Scotus Erigena (885), Gerbert (1003), Anselm (1106), Bernard (1150), Bonaventure (1270), St. Thomas (1272), Dante (1309), Petrarch (1370), show not only men of profound minds, but men of most extensive learning. By their fruits let the past be judged, and by them it will be seen that the Middle Ages were neither so dark, nor Catholics so ignorant, as so-called history pretends to tell.

24.—Discoveries and Inventions of Catholics.

1. A common mode of reasoning is to assume the past is not equal to the present, or vice versa, as it best suits our vanity. So men of modern times very often assume that an improvement is a discovery. That the present age has improved on the past is not to be doubted, but that much that is really original has been either invented or discovered in the present age may be very honestly doubted. It is also commonly assumed that Catholics have done nothing for either science or arts. This is a grave mistake, as will be seen by the following list of discoveries and inventions, all by Catholics, and many of them before the Protestant Reformation.

2. Architecture, music, sculpture, painting, glass-staining, and such like, have been always taken as criterions of the civilization of which they were the outcome. The architecture of Rome, and Greece, and Babylon, and

Egypt, are taken to-day as signs of the advanced state of civilization in those countries, when they built to the wonder of the world. So we can point to the great cathedrals of Europe, such as Cologne, Spiers, Milan, Canterbury, and Winchester, that to-day are the wonder and admiration of all, as monuments of the high cultivation of the Middle Ages, when they were built.

3. Besides this may be mentioned the cultivation and manufactory of silk introduced into Europe by two monks in the year 551, the invention of water-mills (555), window-glass for churches and dwellings (601), bells for churches (605), organs (673), paper, made of cotton (706), made of linen (1270). The Gregorian Chant, by Pope Gregory the Great (600), to which was added the gamut, or scale in music, that so aids in its study; also clocks with balance and wheels (1089), glass-staining, with the art of imprinting figures upon it (1199), gun-powder (1214), watches (1306), and the mariner's compass (1310).

4. To these inventions of the Middle Ages must be added the inventions and discoveries made by Catholics before and since the Reformation. Amongst these are printing (1400), the discovery of America and its partial colonization in the 11th century, and its after discovery in 1492 by Columbus, also the doubling of the Cape of Good Hope in 1497.

5. In 1542 the Solar System was discovered by Copernicus, and in 1543 steamboat navigation was demonstrated in Spain by Blasco de Garay. The rotundity of the earth was taught by Virgilius (764), afterwards by Dante (1320) in his immortal Inferno, and in 1610 its motion was demonstrated by Galileo, as also the Satellites of Jupiter discovered. In 1582 the Calendar now used was corrected by Pope Gregory.

6. In 1597 the thermometer was invented by Galileo; the telescope and microscope in 1609, and the barometer in 1643. In 1630 the art of enamelling on ivory was invented, and in 1791 galvanism was discovered. The weaving of satin and broadcloth were discoveries of the Middle Ages (1189).

7. Nearly all the present governments of Europe were formed during the Middle Ages, with their languages and laws. When we add to all this the abolition of slavery in Europe, the civilization of the Barbarians, the softening of manners, the elevation of woman, the Magna Charta, trial by jury, the habeas corpus, the Common Law, and the sanctity of home, all the direct results of the teachings of the Catholic Church during the Middle Ages, it will be seen that not only the Church has been no obstacle to progress, either in science or art, but that to Catholics is due the discovery of nearly all the valuable inventions we have. Carefully examined it will be seen, that with the exception of the steam-engine and the railroad, little that is really new has been discovered other than by Catholics. It is true, valuable improvements have been made, but discoveries and inventions of things entirely new are few and far between.

THIRD PERIOD.

FROM THE REFORMATION TO THE PRESENT TIME.

25.—Causes of the Reformation.

1. Two causes largely contributed to the success of the Reformation, one the decline of morals, the other the spread of the heresies of Wycliffe and Huss. The great wealth of the monasteries had certainly brought laxity among their members, while the universal acceptance of Catholicity had deadened zeal for its maintenance. The discovery of printing about the time of Luther rendered possible the rapid spread of heresy, to which must be added the long contests between the Church and the secular powers, which had greatly weakened authority.

2. In the years 1356, John Wycliffe, a fellow of Oxford University, England, began to preach against the monks. Four years after (1360), he attacked the whole ecclesiastical order, teaching that the Pope was not the head of the Church, nor were bishops superior to priests; that priests and civil magistrates lost their authority when they fell into mortal sin, ending all by the denial of Transubstantiation.

3. These doctrines readily found followers, who, under the name of Lollards, created great disturbance, assuming the right to preach when and where they pleased. In 1380 Wycliffe translated the Bible into English, and four years after (1384), died, having been condemned by the Pope and several Councils in England. His doctrines were finally condemned at the Council of Constance (1415), as was also John Huss, who had begun to preach them in Bohemiã.

4. In 1402 Jerome of Prague returned from Oxford, where he had been studying, and began to preach the doctrines of Wycliffe. He was seconded by John Huss of the same place, who not only taught the condemned doctrines of Wycliffe, but went farther—denying the authority of the Pope, attacking the clergy, the doctrines of the Church on indulgences, the Blessed Virgin, the Saints, and communion under one kind.

5. His doctrines spread rapidly through Bohemia. In 1414 the Council of Constance was held, before which he appeared, was condemned and burned at the stake (1415). The next year, his followers rose in great force, overran Bohemia and were not finally subdued till 1436, but by this time his doctrines were widespread. The tares had been sown, and in 1517 brought forth their fruit in the heresy of Luther, when he began to preach against indulgences, and maintain the heresies taught by Wycliffe and Huss.

6. It cannot be denied that the laxity of morals greatly contributed to the spread of these heresies, while the wealth of the Church afforded a specious pretext to attack the clergy. Besides, as will be readily seen, the doctrines of Wycliffe and Huss appealed to the worst passions, exciting directly to rebellion against authority. The same was in worse degree under Luther, his doctrines exciting not only to rebellion against authority, but appealing to the worst form of intellectual pride.

26.—Luther.

1. November 10, 1483, Martin Luther, the first and chief of the Protestant Reformers, was born in Thuringia, Germany. In 1505 he became a monk of the Order of St. Augustine, and shortly after was appointed professor in the University of Wittenberg.

2. In 1517 Pope Leo X. published a Jubilee, and directed that the alms to be given should be sent to Rome to help complete the great Cathedral of St. Peter, then being built. Tetzel, Superior of the Dominicans, was appointed to preach this Jubilee throughout Germany, which greatly displeased Luther, because of the slight, as he supposed, that had thus been thrown upon the Augustinians by not inviting them to preach the Jubilee.

3. At first Luther attacked only the Dominicans, but in a short time he also attacked the doctrine of indulgences itself, publishing October 31, 1517, his famous declaration of principles, in which were embodied the germs of the Protestant Reformation. In 1520 his doctrines were condemned by the Pope and he himself excommunicated.

4. In 1522 Luther translated the Bible into German, and with it proclaimed the doctrine of "an open Bible and free interpretation," as a fundamental doctrine. He also denied the supremacy of the Pope, the authority of the Church, the celibacy of the clergy, the efficacy of the sacraments, the doctrine of purgatory, and the teachings of the Church on justification and original sin.

5. He forbade his followers to honor the Saints or to obey the commandments of the Church, rejecting all the sacraments except Baptism and the Lord's Supper. He also taught that faith without good works would save, contrary to the Catholic doctrine, which teaches that men are saved by faith with good works.

6. With the exception of "the Bible alone as the Rule of faith," Luther and Calvin but repeated the heresies of Huss and Wycliffe, and the earlier heresiarchs. Calvin adopted the heresies of Pelagius on grace and original sin, while Luther with his "open Bible and free interpretation" paved the way to the multiplicity of sects, and the vagaries of opinion into which Protestantism has divided. In 1525 Luther married Catharine de Bora, a nun whom he had persuaded to leave her convent, and in 1546 he died, with Protestantism torn into pieces by the contending sects.

7. The doctrines of Luther spread rapidly throughout Saxony, the north of Germany, and Prussia. From thence they passed into Denmark, Sweden, and Norway, encouraged by princes and kings, and everywhere accompanied with bloodshed and disorder. Calvinism was adopted in parts of France and Switzerland, and under the teaching of Knox became the religion of Scotland.

8. In 1545 the Council of Trent was convened, and after seventeen years of careful examination, condemned the heresies of Luther and Calvin, at the same time affirming the true doctrine on the sacraments, grace, original sin, justification, and free will. The Canon of Scripture was more precisely determined, and many wise laws published. For over three hundred years no new Council was held till 1869, when the Council of the Vatican assembled, but in 1870 was forced to adjourn in consequence of the seizure of Rome by Victor Emanuel, King of Italy.

27.—Calvin and Knox.

1. John Calvin was born 1509 at Noyon, France, and died at Geneva, 1564. At first he studied for the priesthood and received Minor Orders, but afterwards studied law. In 1532 he adopted the doctrines of Luther, and in 1535 published his celebrated "Institutions," in which he embodied the heresies of Pelagius on grace and predestination, teaching that all men were predestined by the fore will of God to heaven or hell; thus destroying free will and making God the author of sin.

2. In 1536 he went to Geneva, from whence, two years after, he was banished because of his great rigor and vehemence. In 1541 he returned, and from that to his death (1564) ruled Geneva with a rod of iron. In 1553 he burned Servetus, because he taught doctrines on the Trinity objectionable to Calvin, thus denying to others the freedom he claimed for himself.

3. Calvin forbade all exterior religion, forbidding religious ceremonies, denying the Mass, the Real Presence, the invocation of Saints, the supremacy of the Pope, and the sacramental character of bishops and priests.

4. Calvin was a man of strong character, great rigor, and deep, resolute will. He is by many deemed the soul and real author of the Reformation, and wherever his doctrines have been accepted they have produced a deep and lasting effect.

5. John Knox, author of the Reformation in Scotland, was born 1505; was ordained priest, but in 1547 began to preach against the Pope and the Mass. He was a man violent of temper and rude in manners. In 1554 he adopted the doctrines of Calvin, and succeeded in having them so universally adopted in Scotland that Catholicity was almost entirely rejected by the Scotch. He died in 1572, revered by the Scotch, but known in history as the "ruffian of the Reformation."

28.—The Protestant Reformation in England.

1. In the beginning, Henry VIII., King of England, was strongly opposed to the doctrines of Luther, writing a book against him, for which he was called by the Pope, "Defender of the Faith," a title still retained by the kings and queens of England.

2. In 1509 he married Catharine of Aragon, but twenty-four years after, conceived an unlawful passion for Anne Boleyn, waiting-maid to the queen. Because the Pope refused to divorce him from his lawful wife, Catharine, he declared himself head of the Church in England, forced parliament to divorce him (1533), then publicly married Anne Boleyn, to whom he had been already privately married some months before.

3. Three years after (1536), he had her beheaded, and next day married Jane Seymour, who the year following died, when he again married. Within six months this marriage was also annulled, and he married Catharine Howard, who next year was beheaded, when he married again. He was preparing to have this, his sixth wife, divorced, when he himself died, despised and detested by all. Such was the man who began the Reformation in England.

4. After the death of Henry VIII. (1547), the Reformation was continued by Edward VI. (1547–1553) and Elizabeth (1558–1603), under whose reigns Catholicity was almost entirely destroyed, and Protestantism so firmly established that up to within the last fifty years there were but few Catholics in England. Latterly, however, the Church has again begun to grow in England, there being at present (1881) three English Cardinals, besides bishops, priests, and religious.

5. When Henry VIII. separated from the Church, he began a most violent persecution, seizing upon the monasteries, driving out the religious, and dividing their lands among his partisans. Prison, fines, confiscation, torture, death, was the doom of all who refused to acknowledge him as head of the Church. He beheaded Fisher, Bishop of Rochester, and Thomas More, Chancellor, two of the most distinguished men of England, because they would not sanction his divorce, or acknowledge his supremacy in spirituals.

6. To the schism of Henry, Edward and Elizabeth added heresy, suppressing the Mass, destroying images, pillaging and profaning churches, changing dogma and ceremonies, the whole nation basely accepting at the beck of its rulers. From the death of Elizabeth (1603) to the present day, the "English Church," as it is now called, has been but the slave of the state, the kings and queens of England being its head.

7. To make converts, Catholicity has ever appealed to reason; Protestantism, like Mohammedanism, to force and violence. In England and Scotland Protestantism was forced upon the people by fines, imprisonment, and death; in Germany and Prussia, Sweden and Denmark, and Norway the same. In America the Puritans acted in like manner.

8. Protestantism began with "an open Bible and Free Interpretation," and has ended in division and disbelief. By the above principle every one becomes judge of what he will, or will not believe. Hence, amongst Protestants there are almost as many religions as there are individuals, the churches divided and torn into pieces, ending in infidelity and Mormonism. On the other hand, Catholicity remains ever the same, because Catholicity is truth, and truth changes not.

29.—The Church in Asia and America.

1. While on the one hand the Church was being so sadly despoiled in Europe by the violence of Protestantism, she was on the other consoled by the heroism of her martyrs, and the wonderful conversions to her fold in India and Japan, and amid the forests of America.

2. In 1540 the Society of Jesus was organized by Ignatius of Loyola, a Spanish soldier. From the beginning, this Society has been distinguished for its learning and zeal. In 1541 Francis Xavier, one of its first members, was sent to Goa, a Portuguese settlement in India, where for six years he preached throughout India and Malabar, counting his converts by millions.

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER.

3. In 1549 he passed over to Japan, and preached with such success, that within fifty years there were over three million Christians gathered to the Church. In 1552 Xavier passed from Japan to China, but God was satisfied with what he had done, and he died on the coast, at the early age of forty-six years.

4. While St. Francis Xavier was thus adding to the Church in the East, his brother Jesuits in Paraguay, South America, were converting the rude savages to the Faith, teaching them a knowledge of God and forming them to habits of civilized life (1556).

5. In 1608 the French founded Quebec, Canada, where they not only planted the cross as a sign of their own faith, but established a missionary home, from whence the Jesuits sent forth a band of heroes to explore the country and convert the Indians.

6. There is no more beautiful page in the history of the Church than that of the Jesuits in North America. From Quebec they penetrated into New York, where Jogues gave his life for the conversion of the Mohawks, while Brebeuf and Lallamant died at the stake for their Huron converts. Up the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers, along Lakes Huron and Michigan, through forests and amid the wild tribes of the West, Marquette sought the Mississippi—preaching the Gospel everywhere—the first of Europeans to look upon its waters. The works of the Jesuits in North America have disappeared with the destruction of the Indians, but they were not the less real, nor their success the less true because to-day so little remains to tell of former struggles and triumphs.

30.—Religious Wars in Europe.

1. With the acceptance of the doctrine of Luther, “that all men were free in religion,” there soon rose a desire to be also free in secular affairs.

2. In Germany the Lutherans took up arms, pillaged and burned churches, destroyed monasteries, and massacred priests and religious. After great loss of life Charles V. subdued them, and in 1555, by the peace of Augsburg, accorded them the free exercise of their religion; but in 1619 they again rose in rebellion. By the assistance of the Danes and Swedes, and the Protestants of France, they, for thirty years, carried on war, which was finally ended in 1648 by the treaty of Westphalia.

3. During this time the Calvinists of France, under the name of Huguenots, began to disturb the peace. In 1561 they took up arms, pillaged and destroyed churches, murdered priests and nuns, and attacked and burned a number of towns and villages.

4. On the eve of St. Bartholomew (1572) they were in turn attacked, and large numbers of them killed in Paris and elsewhere throughout France. By the Edict of Nantes (1598) they were granted full liberty of conscience and exceptional civil concessions, but abusing their privileges, the Edict was revoked (1685), when many of them fled to England and emigrated to America, settling mostly in the Carolinas and Georgia.

5. Under the long reign of Elizabeth, who for forty years ruled England with a rod of iron, division amongst the Protestants was kept down, but at her death the necessary results came.

6. By the free interpretation of the Scriptures there rose a sect, calling themselves Independents, who held that the reign of kings was incompatible with the reign of Christ; that priests and religious ceremonies, and symbols, must be abolished; and kings and nobles cease. Under the name of "Levellers" they gained control of the army, and defeating the king, Charles I, he was tried, condemned, and beheaded (1649).

7. Under the name of Covenanters, the Calvinists of Scotland began a war against all who differed with them in religion. They abolished "popery and prelacy," and under pain of fines and penalties, required all to sign the Covenant, which they drew up. They are known also as Presbyterians and Puritans. In 1643 they formed an alliance with the Independents of England, and co-operated in the defeat and death of the king.

8. Under the teachings of Zwingli, one of the leaders of the Reformation, the Swiss rose in rebellion, to be followed by the Netherlands and Holland. In Prussia, Sweden, Denmark, and Norway, Protestantism was forced upon the people at the point of the sword. The same was done in England and Scotland. Everything that tyranny could invent has been tried, to make Ireland Protestant, but has ever failed; the Irish, amid poverty and persecution, remaining steadfast in the faith.

31.—Results of the Teachings of the Reformation.

1. "An open Bible and free interpretation," proclaimed by the Reformers, destroys the authority of the Church and practically makes reason the rule of faith. Acting upon this, the Socinians, called also Unitarians, began (1562) to deny the mystery of the Trinity, and to reject all doctrines they could not understand.

2. These were followed in turn by the Deists, who attacked revelation and the whole supernatural order; then by the infidels, who denied the immortality of the soul, the existence of God, and the difference between good and evil.

3. From Holland and England these doctrines passed into France, where they received additional force from the false and exaggerated teachings of the Jansenists (1640). Rousseau (1749) and Voltaire (1760) took them up, and under the guise of philosophy, assailed the whole system of Christianity. In a short time France and Europe were in a blaze.

4. The Jesuits were everywhere attacked, and in 1773 suppressed by a decree of Pope Clement XIV. In 1790 the French Revolution broke out, and for a time the world stood aghast at the horrors that were committed under the name of liberty.

5. The property of the Church was confiscated; marriage declared a purely civil contract; reason deified in the person of a wicked woman; and the country ran with the blood of priests and nobles. In 1793 Louis XVI. was beheaded, and in 1798 the Sovereign Pontiff, Pius VI., was seized upon, by order of the French Directory, and rudely dragged through Italy into France, where he died the next year (1799), worn out by the fatigues and hardships to which he had been subjected.

6. In the midst of these horrors Napoleon Bonaparte appeared upon the scene, and by the brilliancy of his genius and the success of the French arms, became Emperor of France, and in 1804 was solemnly crowned in Notre Dame, Paris, by Pope Pius VII. Five years after, by order of Napoleon, the States of the Church were seized upon and Pius VII. dragged into France, where for five years he was held a prisoner. In 1815 the French were defeated at Waterloo, and Napoleon banished to the Island of St. Helena, where he died in the year 1821.

32.—General Conclusion.

1. Though much has been necessarily omitted in this short history of the Church, yet enough has been given to show how strangely the world has warred against God and religion.

2. The Jews rejected Christ and persecuted His Apostles, to be themselves in turn persecuted and scattered over the world without home or country. Rome persecuted the Church, and in the vain hope of destroying Christianity, deluged the empire in the blood of the martyrs.

3. Heresy rose, and by division strove to destroy the unity of faith, beginning with the denial of the divinity of Jesus Christ, and ending in the deification of human reason, and the right of men to determine for themselves what they shall or shall not believe.

4. Heretofore the controversy between the Church and the world has been on matters of faith. In the Protestant world faith is rapidly passing away, to be replaced by indifference or positive hostility to religion. The sects have lost their power, are divided and torn among themselves, their only bond of unity being a common hostility to Catholicity.

5. The Protestant world seems to have lost confidence in revelation to save the world, and are falling back upon education, hoping that men will be saved by a knowledge of science without religion, forgetting, seemingly, that man is a spiritual being and needs religion to purify and guide, and keep his unruly passions subject to reason.

6. Within the Church there is much to console and much to afflict. The indifferentism of the world is largely affecting the faith of Catholics; numbers are becoming cold or adopting the loose doctrines of the day. The teachings on civil freedom now so prevalent, are exciting to a religious freedom that must end in disbelief.

7. Germany has attempted to revive religious persecution only to unite Catholics, and stir up their faith. The Infidels of France have begun a war upon the Church, expelling the religious and secularizing education. The Italian government has seized upon Rome and the States of the Church; the Pope is a prisoner in the Vatican (1881), yet amid all this there is much to encourage.

8. At no time in the Church's history have the bishops been so united with the Sovereign Pontiff or among themselves. Priests and people are filled with zeal. In England, Scotland, and America, the Church is growing with wonderful rapidity, and in Asia and Africa thousands are being added to the fold. Persecution but purifies and unites; Christ is with his Church, always fair and ever true. Heaven and earth shall pass away, but Christ and His Church abide forever.

A CHURCH

For the Use of Catholics

By

REV. RICHARD BROWN, S. J.

With 67 Illustrations. 12mo, cloth.

This book presents the leading events of Church History in ten vivid pictures, calculated to make a lasting impression upon the young student. A Retrospect according to Apostolic Tradition complements the book.

This book, in my judgment, is well adapted for the use of the young student, calculated to impress upon youthful minds a knowledge of the leading points of Ecclesiastical History.

✠ JAMES GIBBONS, Archbishop of Baltimore

✠ THOMAS L. GRAY, Bishop of New York

The perusal of your History is sufficient to convince any honest man that the Catholic Church is a Divine institution, and the only one which fulfills and verifies the words of Christ, "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

✠ E. O'CONNELL, Bishop of New York

I find it an excellent work of its kind, presenting the history of the Church in a clear, concise, and yet comprehensive manner.

✠ JOHN WALSH, Bishop of New York

✠ T. MULLEN, Bishop of New York

✠ S. V. RYAN, Bishop of New York

This highly instructive and interesting work I consider very valuable.

✠ FRANCIS MORA, Bishop of Monterey and San Francisco

It is short, but contains all the essentials, and is as instructive as it is edifying.

The reading of this book makes a Catholic feel proud of his Church, which, in time of persecution and peace, is faithful to the will of God.

✠ F. JANSSEN, Bishop of New York

This book is almost free from technical language, so as to enable the pupil to become familiarly acquainted with the various phenomena of nature, the leading characteristics and general laws of the vegetable, of the animal, vegetable, and mineral kingdoms, and the principal truths of the arts and sciences, such as are every day coming under notice. A vast quantity of information is admirably condensed and really useful knowledge is conveyed in a pleasing and easy manner.
